In a Queer Time and Place J. Jack Halberstam, Judith Halberstam, 2005 The first full length study of transgender representations in art fiction film video and music In her first book since the critically acclaimed Female Masculinity Judith Halberstam examines the significance of the transgender body in a provocative collection of essays on queer time and space She presents a series of case studies focused on the meanings of masculinity in its dominant and alternative forms especially female and trans masculinities as they exist within subcultures and are appropriated within mainstream culture In a Queer Time and Place opens with a probing analysis of the life and death of Brandon Teena a young transgender man who was brutally murdered in small town Nebraska After looking at mainstream representations of the transgender body as exhibited in the media frenzy surrounding this highly visible case and the Oscar winning film based on Brandon's story Boys Don't Cry Halberstam turns her attention to the cultural and artistic production of queers themselves She examines the transgender gaze as rendered in small art house films like By Hook or By Crook as well as figurations of ambiguous embodiment in the art of Del LaGrace Volcano Jenny Saville Eva Hesse Shirin Neshat and others She then exposes the influence of lesbian drag king cultures upon hetero male comic films such as Austin Powers and The Full Monty and finally points to dyke subcultures as one site for the development of queer counterpublics and queer temporalities Considering the sudden visibility of the transgender body in the early twenty first century against the backdrop of changing conceptions of space and time In a Queer Time and Place is the first full length study of transgender representations in art fiction film video and music This pioneering book offers both a jumping off point for future analysis of transgenderism and an important new way to understand cultural constructions of time and place

Disappearing Men Carole Jones, 2009 Disappearing Men examines the complex and rebellious representations of gender in the work of several writers of devolutionary Scottish fiction in the period 1979 to 1999 The study focuses on the context of a crisis in masculinity accompanying the rapidly changing male role in the period concluding that men often disappear from sight in this writing highlighting issues of male insecurity and female disorientation in a new gender landscape Hence the novels examined here by authors James Kelman Jancie Galloway Jackie Kay A L Kennedy and Alan Warner strongly challenge the stereotype of the Scottish hardman and his dominance in 20th century Scottish fiction Disappearing Men dissects this challenge by giving major consideration to the relationship between the innovative literary forms often found in this writing and the concepts of selfhood they give rise to The possibilities inherent in these texts of reimagining gender identity and relations make them important contemporary documents of our struggles with realising selfhood and relations with others A sustained and intimate analysis this monograph will be of crucial interest to those concerned with issues of gender and representation in our rapidly changing era

Multi-ethnic Britain 2000+ Lars

Eckstein, 2008 Multi Ethnic Britain 2000 provides an encompassing survey of artistic responses to the changes in the British cultural climate in the early years of the 21st century. It traces topical reactions to new forms of racism and religious fundamentalism to legal as well as illegal immigration and to the threat of global terror yet it also highlights new forms of intercultural communication and convivial exchange. Framed by contributions from novelists Patrick Neate and Rajeev Balasubramanyam Multi Ethnic Britain 2000 showcases how artistic representations in literature, film, music and the visual arts reflect and respond to social and political discourses and how they contribute to our understanding of the current trans-cultural situation in Britain. The contributions in this volume cover a wide range of writers such as Graham Swift, Ian McEwan, Zadie Smith, Jackie Kay, Nadeem Aslam, Gautam Malkani, Nirpal Dhaliwal and Monica Ali, films ranging from Gurinder Chadha's Bend Sin Like Beckham and Bride and Prejudice to Michael Winterbottom's In This World and Alfonso Cuarón's Children of Men, paintings and photography by innovative black and Asian British artists and dubstep music. Out, 1999-03 Out is a fashion style, celebrity and opinion magazine for the modern gay man. Erzählstimmen verstehen Angela Walz, 2005

Interculturalism Beatriz Penas, Beatriz Penas Ibáñez, María Carmen López Sáenz, 2006 This volume explores the relation between identity and diversity as the essential condition of interculturalism and the sometimes positive, sometimes negative role that identity and diversity play within intercultural dialogue in an increasingly globalised world. An international conference in Madrid, October 2003, brought together scholars from four continents and allowed them to share their knowledge and learn about the issues of identity and diversity. Philological and philosophical reflections. The present volume contains a selection of the conference papers. The contributors explore the dynamics of identity as a process open to differences. Although identity and difference are not exclusively discursive, it is discourse and natural language that incorporate them. Making Sense Ralf Hertel, 2005 Fiction is fascinating. All it provides us with is black letters on white pages yet while we read we do not have the impression that we are merely perceiving abstract characters. Instead we see the protagonists before our inner eye and hear their voices. Descriptions of sumptuous meals make our mouths water, we feel physically repelled by depictions of violence or are aroused by the erotic details of sexual conquests. We submerge ourselves in the fictional world that no longer stays on the paper but comes to life in our imagination. Reading turns into an out-of-the-body experience or rather an in-another-body experience for we perceive the portrayed world not only through the protagonist's eyes but also through his ears, nose, tongue and skin. In other words we move through the literary text as if through a virtual reality. How does literature achieve this trick? How does it turn mere letters into vividly experienced worlds? This study argues that techniques of sensuous writing contribute decisively to bringing the text to life in the reader's imagination. In detailed interpretations of British novels of the 1980s and 1990s by writers such as John Berger, John Banville, Salman Rushdie, Jeanette Winterson or J. M. Coetzee it uncovers literary strategies for turning the sensuous experience into words and for conveying it to the reader, demonstrating how we make sense in and of literature. Both readers interested in the contemporary novel and in the sensuousness of the reading experience will profit from this innovative study that not only analyses the interest of contemporary authors in the senses but also pin points literary entry points for the sensuous force of reading European Peripheries in the Postcolonial Literary Imagination Janine Hauthal, Anna-Leena

Toivanen, 2024-10-18 This book explores the meanings of European peripheries in postcolonial literary imagination While colonial discourses have constructed Europe as the centre the continent is internally divided into centres and peripheries Approaching the question of European peripherality in a variety of geographical and linguistic contexts and across national and diasporic literary traditions of postcolonial writing the contributions in this volume attest to the entangled and relational character of the centre periphery nexus Acknowledging the unbalanced power structures between centres and peripheries the volume sets out to challenge conventional ideas about peripheries and places European peripheral loci at the centre of postcolonial literary inquiry The chapters in the volume draw on diverse theoretical and conceptual frameworks in order to address among others the link between peripherality and provincialism the relations between intra European and colonial peripheries and the progressive potential of European peripheries as postcolonial spaces The chapters in this book were originally published in the Journal of Postcolonial Writing Posting the Male Daniel Lea, Berthold Schoene-Harwood, 2003

The essays collected in Posting the Male examine representations of masculinity in post war and contemporary British literature focussing on the works of writers as diverse as John Osborne Joe Orton James Kelman Ian Rankin Carol Ann Duffy Alan Hollinghurst Ian McEwan Graham Swift and Jackie Kay The collection seeks to capture the current historical moment of crisis at which masculinity loses its universal transparency and becomes visible as a performative gender construct Rather than denoting just one fixed polarised point on a hierarchised axis of strictly segregated gender binaries masculinity is revealed to oscillate within a virtually limitless spectrum of gender identities characterised not by purity and self containment but by difference and alterity As the contributors demonstrate rather than a gender in crisis millennial manhood is a gender in transition Patriarchal strategies of man making are gradually being replaced by less exclusionary patterns of self identification inspired by feminism Men have begun to recognise themselves as gendered beings and as a result masculinity has been set in motion Re/Presenting Gender and Love Dikmen Yakalı Çamoğlu, 2019-01-04 This volume was first published by Inter Disciplinary Press in 2015 This volume presents interdisciplinary explorations aiming to understand the interaction and interconnection between the concepts of love and gender Throughout the chapters the reader can pursue various representations of gender and love and explore how their meanings are produced in different periods and geographies These representations produce embodied individuals and shared meanings in which gender and love mutually construct each other As you will see in the following chapters what we set out to understand most of the time was not individual relationships but the relations of power Thus these essays show how gender and love are represented in various discourses produced in knowledge in philosophy psychology literature and popular culture and regulated by the discursive practices and disciplinary techniques of different societies

Identity and Belonging in Jackie Kay's Trumpet and Kinship Across the Black Atlantic Gigi Adair, 2019

This book combines insights from postcolonial queer and diaspora studies to consider the meanings of kinship in contemporary black Atlantic fiction. Diasporic displacement generates new understandings and new narratives of kinship. An analysis of kinship is thus essential to understanding diasporic modernity at the turn of the twenty first century. Indiscretions, 2015-06-29 In the West once apparently progressive causes such as sexual equality and lesbian and gay emancipation are increasingly redeployed in order to discipline and ostracize immigrant underclass subjects primarily Muslims. Gender and sexuality on the one hand and race culture and or ethnicity on the other are more and more forced into separate mutually exclusive realms. That development cannot but bear on the establishment of queer and postcolonial studies as separate academic specializations among whom relations usually are as cordial as they are indifferent. This volume inquires into the possibilities and limitations of a parceling out of objects alternative to the common scheme crude but often apposite in which Western sexual subjectivity is analyzed and criticized by queer theory while postcolonial studies takes care of non Western racial subjectivity. Sex race always already distinguished yet never quite apart. Roderick A Ferguson has described liberal pluralism as an ideology of discreteness in that it disavows race gender and sexuality's mutually formative role in political social and economic relations. It is in that spirit that this volume advocates the discreet hence judicious and circumspect reconsideration of the in discrete realities of race and sex. Contributors: Jeffrey Geiger, Merrill Cole, Jonathan Mitchell and Michael O'Rourke, Jaap Kooijman, Beth Kramer, Maaïke Bleeker, Rebecca Fine, Romanow Anik, Imre Lindsey, Green Simms, Nishant Shahani, Ryan D Fong and Murat Aydemir. Cities on the Margin, on the Margin of Cities Philippe Laplace, Eric Tabuteau, 2003

Rethinking Race and Identity in Contemporary British Fiction Sara Upstone, 2016-10-04 This book takes a post racial approach to the representation of race in contemporary British fiction re imagining studies of race and British literature away from concerns with specific racial groups towards a more sophisticated analysis of the contribution of a broad post racial British writing. Examining the work of writers from a wide range of diverse racial backgrounds the book illustrates how contemporary British fiction rather than merely reflecting social norms is making a radical contribution towards the possible future of a positively multi ethnic and post racial Britain. This is developed by a strategic use of the realist form which becomes a utopian device as it provides readers with a reality beyond current circumstances yet one which is rooted within an identifiable world. Speaking to the specific contexts of British cultural politics and directly connecting with contemporary debates surrounding race and identity in Britain the author engages with a wide range of both mainstream and neglected authors including Ian McEwan, Zadie Smith, Julian Barnes, John Lanchester, Alan Hollinghurst, Martin Amis, Jon McGregor, Andrea Levy, Bernardine Evaristo, Hanif Kureishi, Kazuo Ishiguro, Hari Kunzru, Nadeem Aslam, Meera Syal, Jackie Kay, Maggie Gee and Neil Gaiman. This cutting edge volume explores how contemporary fiction is at the centre of re thinking how we engage with the question of race in twenty first century Britain Write in Tune: Contemporary Music in Fiction Erich Hertz, Jeffrey Roessner, 2014-05-22 Contemporary popular music provides the soundtrack for a host of recent novels but little critical attention has been paid to the intersection of these important art forms Write in Tune addresses this gap by offering the first full length study of the relationship between recent music and fiction With essays from an array of international scholars the collection focuses on how writers weave rock punk and jazz into their narratives both to develop characters and themes and to investigate various fan and celebrity cultures surrounding contemporary music Write in Tune covers major writers from America and England including Don DeLillo Jonathan Franzen Zadie Smith and Jim Crace But it also explores how popular music culture is reflected in postcolonial Latino and Australian fiction Ultimately the book brings critical awareness to the power of music in shaping contemporary culture and offers new perspectives on central issues of gender race and national identity Sapphistries Leila J Rupp, 2009-10-28 A lyrical and meticulously researched mapping of the ways in which diverse societies have shaped female same sex sexuality across time and geography From the ancient poet Sappho to tomboys in contemporary Indonesia women throughout history and around the globe have desired loved and had sex with other women In beautiful prose Sapphistries tells their stories capturing the multitude of ways that diverse societies have shaped female same sex sexuality across time and place Leila J Rupp reveals how from the time of the very earliest societies the possibility of love between women has been known even when it is feared ignored or denied We hear women in the sex segregated spaces of convents and harems whispering words of love We see women beginning to find each other on the streets of London and Amsterdam in the aristocratic circles of Paris in the factories of Shanghai We find women's desire and love for women meeting the light of day as Japanese schoolgirls fall in love and lesbian bars and clubs spread from 1920s Berlin to 1950s Buffalo And we encounter a world of difference in the twenty first century as transnational concepts and lesbian identities meet local understandings of how two women might love each other Giving voice to words from the mouths and pens of women and from men's prohibitions reports literature art imaginings pornography and court cases Rupp also creatively employs fiction to imagine possibilities when there is no historical evidence Sapphistries combines lyrical narrative with meticulous historical research providing an eminently readable and uniquely sweeping story of desire love and sex between women around the globe from the beginning of time to the present The Cambridge Companion to Gay and Lesbian Writing Hugh Stevens, 2010-11-25 In the last two decades lesbian and gay studies have transformed literary studies and developed into a vital and influential area for students and scholars This Companion introduces readers to the range of debates that inform studies of works by lesbian and gay writers and of literary representations of same sex desire and queer identities Each chapter introduces key concepts in the field in an accessible way and uses several important literary texts to illustrate how these concepts can illuminate our readings of them Authors discussed range from Henry James E M Forster and Gertrude Stein to Sarah Waters and Carol Ann Duffy The contributors showcase the wide variety of approaches and
