Canadian Cultural Exchange / Échanges culturels au Canada Norman Cheadle, Lucien

Pelletier, 2011-04-07 The essays in Canadian Cultural Exchange changes culturels au Canada provide a nuanced view of Canadian transcultural experience Rather than considering Canada as a bicultural dichotomy of colonizer colonized this book examines a field of many cultures and the creative interactions among them This study discusses from various perspectives Canadian cultural space as being in process of continual translation of both the other and oneself Les articles réunis dans Canadian Cultural Exchange changes culturels au Canada donnent de l'expérience transculturelle canadienne une image nuancée Plutôt que dans les termes d'une dichotomie biculturelle entre colonisateur et colonisé le Canada y est vu comme champ où plusieurs cultures interagissent de manière créative Cette étude présente sous de multiples aspects le processus continu de traduction d'autrui et de soi-même auquel l'espace culturel canadien sert de théâtre New York and Toronto Novels after Postmodernism Caroline Rosenthal, 2011 Cities are material and symbolic spaces through which nations define their cultural identities The great cities that have arisen on the North American continent have stimulated the imaginations of the United States and Canada in very different ways This first comparative study of North American urban fiction starts out by delineating the sociohistorical and literary contexts in which cities grew into diverging symbolic spaces in American and Canadian culture After an overview of recent developments in the cultural conception of urban space the book takes New York and Toronto fiction as exemplary for exploring representations of the urban after postmodernism It analyzes four twenty-first century novels two set in New York Siri Hustvedt's What I Loved and Paule Marshall's The Fisher King and two set in Toronto Carol Shields's Unless and Dionne Brand's What We All Long For While these texts continue to echo the specific traditions of nation building and canon formation in the United States and Canada they also share certain features All of them investigate the affective crossroads of the city while returning to a more realistic mode of representation Caroline Rosenthal is Professor of American Literature at the Friedrich Schiller University in Jena Germany ThirdWay, 2002-09 Monthly current affairs magazine from a Christian perspective with a focus on politics society economics and culture

Rider of the Clouds Diane Sims, 2007-11 Representing Minorities Soumia Boutkhil, Larbi Touaf, 2009-01-14 The papers in this volume include not only the traditional view of what constitutes a minority but also any individual or group recalcitrant and reluctant not to say resistant to the generalized lobotomy operated by the rampant uniformisation of cultures around the world For in the ruins of the end of history and its context of violence and Manichean politics any opposition to the general consensus could be dismissed as anti-historical and atavistic The objective of the book is precisely to counter such rhetoric and underscore the necessity of cultural diversity and the right to difference This book contains what can amount to a critical response to the current context of confusion surrounding the postmodern condition that arguably dominates most societies It stresses the issue of ethics not only in world politics but also in literature and criticism which are the main focus here In fact the interest in minority issues is in itself an ethical concern that contributes to give substance to the idea that postmodernity opens the gates for the long suppressed identities and sensibilities to emerge and demand recognition This volume intends therefore to contribute to the recent ethical turn that seems to take place in scholarship worldwide Operated mainly by what is referred to as postcolonial studies this shift turned literary criticism and cultural studies into the site where a sense of literature can be envisioned that is not at all universalist or reflecting the hegemonic temptations of the new world order It seeks to present a patchwork of minor literatures in the sense that besides the major literatures languages there are myriads of minor voices that express dissimilarity oftentimes under the umbrella of those major languages and literatures themselves Margaret Atwood Fiona Tolan,2007 This book examines the novels of Margaret Atwood in conjunction with the development of second wave feminism and attempts to demonstrate the existence of a dynamic relationship between her fiction and feminist theory introd The Staircase Letters Arthur Motyer,2010-08-13 Full of the magic of everyday life in the shadow of death chickens must be cooked for dinner parties and grandson s questions about God must be answered The Staircase Letters is a moving and profound story of friendship and facing the end of life When Elma Gerwin found out in 2001 at the age of 61 that she had cancer she reached out to two coasts and to two old friends One was Arthur Motyer novelist and teacher and Elma s university professor from forty years before and the other was acclaimed novelist Carol Shields who was facing her own battle with cancer Years later Arthur is the only survivor Still contemplating how Elma s and Carol s correspondence affected him he has gracefully brought the letters together and interspersed them with literary references and poetry As both women s illnesses progress they compare notes on the ups and downs of living with cancer the joy when Elma is told one area is cancer free followed quickly by the terrible news that the cancer has spread the delight in having family near while the thought of saying goodbye seems impossible The advice they give each other from how to approach treatments to how to get to sleep at night is heartfelt warm and often leavened with humour As Carol and Elma contemplate what happiness is and how one makes a good death 74 year old Arthur feeling inadequate in the face of such fundamental questions discovers that he is exactly where he should be In The Staircase Letters the reader catches a rare and touching glimpse of the lives of three extraordinary people two facing death and one left behind Inspiring Women Gail Youngberg,Mona Holmlund,Saskatoon Women's Calendar Collective,2003 The history of women in Canada is one of starting out struggling to feed and clothe their families and ending up writing the great Canadian novel Inspiring Women charts women s course from subsistence to cultural production Literary Celebrity in Canada Lorraine York,2017-05-08 In recent years Canadian authors have enjoyed tremendous international success writing novels that become Oscar nominated films or achieve coveted success as selections for the Oprah Winfrey bookclub Literary Celebrity in Canada is the first extended study of the dynamics of celebrity in the field of Canadian literature Building on the argument that celebrity is a phenomenon firmly embraced by mainstream culture Lorraine York examines it in relation to various tensions and conflicts within the literary community and beyond Using as examples three contemporary literary celebrities Margaret Atwood Michael Ondaatje and Carol Shields and four earlier popular writers Pauline Johnson Stephen

Leacock Mazo de la Roche and L M Montgomery York demonstrates that individual authors respond differently to fame in ways that can be contradictory and complex She casts doubt on the notion of a specifically Canadian response to fame Depending on the public interpretation of a particular writer s life and work different tensions arise in negotiating literary celebrity Privacy versus publicity swift success versus laborious apprenticeship national versus international association or ownership of the celebrity no single version of celebrity applies to all Citizenship however is a remarkably consistent site of tension for stars literary or otherwise Like citizenship celebrity marks an uneasy space wherein the single special individual and the group demographic both meet and separate Literary Celebrity in Canada explores that space drawing on current theories of celebrity and questioning their tendency to view fame as an empty phenomenon This study is an innovative attempt to understand the psychology of literary stardom and will influence future research on contemporary literature and popular culture

Culture Wars in British Literature Tracy J. Prince, 2012-09-21 The past century s culture wars that Britain has been consumed by but that few North Americans seem aware of have resulted in revised notions of Britishness and British literature Yet literary anthologies remain anchored to an archaic Anglo English interpretation of British literature Conflicts have been played out over specific national vs British identity some residents prefer to describe themselves as being from Scotland England Wales or Northern Ireland instead of Britain in debates over immigration race ethnicity class and gender and in arguments over British literature These debates are strikingly detailed in such chapters as The Difficulty Defining Black British British Jewish Writers and Xenophobia and the Booker Prize Connections are also drawn between civil rights movements in the U S and UK This generalist cultural study is a lively read and a fascinating glimpse into Britain s changing identity as reflected in 20th and 21st century British literature

Prizing Literature Gillian Roberts, 2011-01-01 When Canadian authors win prestigious literary prizes from the Governor General s Literary Award to the Man Booker Prize they are celebrated not only for their achievements but also for contributing to this country s cultural capital Discussions about culture national identity and citizenship are particularly complicated when the honorees are immigrants like Michael Ondaatje Carol Shields or Rohinton Mistry Then there is the case of Yann Martel who is identified both as Canadian and as rootlessly cosmopolitan How have these writers identities been recalibrated in order to claim them as representative Canadians Prizing Literature is the first extended study of contemporary award winning Canadian literature and the ways in which we celebrate its authors Gillian Roberts uses theories of hospitality to examine how prize winning authors are variously received and honoured depending on their citizenship and the extent to which they represent Canadianness Prizing Literature sheds light on popular and media understandings of what it means to be part of a multicultural nation Marking Short Lives Ewan R. Kelly, Ewan Kelly, 2007 This book explores theologically the practice of hospital chaplains seeking to meet the spiritual needs of parents bereaved by baby death in utero The lived experience of bereaved parents gathered through a series of in depth interviews informs such an exploration Parents describe the trauma of late miscarriage and stillbirth as still being shrouded by silence myth and misunderstanding in contemporary society Up to date theoretical understandings of grief are also re examined in light of parents stories of living with baby death This book offers suggestions as to how the actual spiritual needs of parents may be met and their grief sensitively facilitated through the sharing of rituals co constructed by parents and chaplain which seek to have theological integrity yet be relevant in our postmodern age In our prevalent culture of caring where increasingly ongoing professional and personal development are regarded as normative recommendations are made which may aid reflection on current or shape future practice for chaplains pastors students and various healthcare professionals The Literary Review ,2004
