Combat Death in Contemporary American Culture Agnieszka Soltysik Monnet, 2020-12-16 Combat Death in Contemporary American Culture Popular Cultural Conceptions of War since World War II explores how war has been portrayed in the United States since World War II with a particular focus on an emotionally charged but rarely scrutinized topic combat death Agnieszka Soltysik Monnet argues that most stories about war use three main building blocks melodrama adventure and horror Monnet examines how melodrama and adventure have helped make war seem acceptable to the American public by portraying combat death as a meaningful sacrifice and by making military killing look necessary and often even pleasurable Horror no longer serves its traditional purpose of making the bloody realities of war repulsive but has instead been repurposed in recent years to intensify the positivity of melodrama and adventure Thus this book offers a fascinating diagnosis of how war stories perform ideological and emotional work and why they have such a powerful grip on the American imagination

Spain and Australia The contributions prove the need for transnationalism as an eye opening perspective on the war film genre by underscoring nationally specific social political and aesthetic differences alongside important correspondences between cultural productions across nations Transnational film and the US wars in Iraq and Afghanistan will be a key resource for scholars and researchers of film studies media and cultural studies film history war studies literary criticism and sociology It was originally published as a special issue of Journal of War Culture Studies

Through the Crosshairs Roger Stahl, 2018-06-21 Now that it has become so commonplace we rarely blink an eye at camera footage framed by the crosshairs of a sniper's gun or from the perspective of a descending smart bomb But how did this weaponized gaze become the norm for depicting war and how has it influenced public perceptions Through the Crosshairs traces the genealogy of this weapon's eye view across a wide range of genres including news reports military public relations images action movies video games and social media posts As he tracks how gun camera footage has spilled from the battlefield onto the screens of everyday civilian life Roger Stahl exposes how this raw video is carefully curated and edited to promote identification with military weaponry rather than with the targeted victims He reveals how the weaponized gaze is not only a powerful propagandistic frame but also a prime site of struggle over the representation of state violence

Monstrous Fantasies Leila K. Norako, 2024-08-15 Monstrous Fantasies asks why medieval romances reimagining the crusades ending in a Christian victory circulated in England with such abundance after the 1291 Muslim reconquest of Acre the last of the Latin crusader states in the Holy Land and what these texts reveal about the cultural anxieties of late medieval England Leila K Norako highlights the impact that the Ottoman victory and subsequent massacre of Christian prisoners at the battle of Nicopolis in 1396 had on intensifying the popularity of what she calls recovery romance These two episodes inspired a sense of urgency over the fate of the Holy Land and of Latin Christendom itself resulting in the proliferation of romances in which crusading English kings like Richard I and anachronistic legends like King Arthur not only reconquered Jerusalem but committed genocidal violence against the Muslims These romances which as Norako argues also influenced Geoffrey Chaucer's Canterbury Tales conjure fantasies of an ascendant global Christendom by rehearsing acts of conquest and cultural annihilation that were impossible to realize in the late Middle Ages Emphasizing the tension in these texts between nostalgia and anticipation that fuels their narrative momentum Monstrous Fantasies also explores how the cultural desires for European and Christian hegemony that recovery romances versified were revived in the wake of the so called wars on terror in the twenty first century in such films as Kingdom of Heaven and American Sniper
