American Sniper Kid Drill Scene:

The Enemy in Contemporary Film Martin Löschnigg, Marzena Sokołowska-Paryż, 2018-08-21 Culture and conflict inevitably go hand in hand. The very idea of culture is marked by the notion of difference and by the creative fraught interaction between conflicting concepts and values. The same can be said of all key ideas in the study of culture such as identity and diversity, memory and trauma, the translation of cultures and globalization, dislocation and emplacement, mediation and exclusion. This series publishes theoretically informed original scholarship from the fields of literary and cultural studies as well as media, visual and film studies. It fosters an interdisciplinary dialogue on the multiple ways in which conflict supports and constrains the production of meaning, on how conflict is represented, how it relates to the past and projects the present, and how it frames scholarship within the humanities. Journeys into Terror Cynthia J. Miller, A. Bowdoin Van Riper, 2023-05-23 Since ancient times explorers and adventurers have captured popular imagination with their frightening narratives of travels gone wrong. Usually these stories heavily feature the exotic or unknown and can transform any journey into a nightmare. Stories of such horrific happenings have a long and rich history that stretches from folktales to contemporary media narratives. This work presents eighteen essays that explore the ways in which these texts reflect and shape our fear and fascination surrounding travel, posing new questions about the geographies of evil and how our notions of terrible places and their inhabitants change over time. The volume's five thematic sections offer new insights into how power, privilege, uncanny landscapes, misbegotten quests, hellish commutes, and deadly vacations can turn our travels into terror.

Monstrous Fantasies Leila K. Norako, 2024-08-15 Monstrous Fantasies asks why medieval romances reimagining the crusades, ending in a Christian victory, circulated in England with such abundance after the 1291 Muslim reconquest of Acre, the last of the Latin crusader states in the Holy Land, and what these texts reveal about the cultural anxieties of late medieval England. Leila K. Norako highlights the impact that the Ottoman victory and subsequent massacre of Christian prisoners at the battle of Nicopolis in 1396 had on intensifying the popularity of what she calls recovery romance. These two episodes inspired a sense of urgency over the fate of the Holy Land and of Latin Christendom itself, resulting in the proliferation of romances in which crusading English kings like Richard I and anachronistic legends like King Arthur not only reconquered Jerusalem but committed genocidal violence against the Muslims. These romances, which as Norako argues also influenced Geoffrey Chaucer's Canterbury Tales, conjure fantasies of an ascendant global Christendom by rehearsing acts of conquest and cultural annihilation that were impossible to realize in the late Middle Ages. Emphasizing the tension in these texts between nostalgia and anticipation that fuels their narrative momentum, Monstrous Fantasies also explores how the cultural desires for European and Christian hegemony that recovery romances versified were revived in the wake of the so-called wars on terror in the twenty-first century in such films as Kingdom of Heaven and American Sniper.

The Encyclopedia of Racism in American Films Salvador Jiménez Murguía, 2018-04-12 Winner RUSA 2019 Outstanding Reference Source Winner and named a Library Journal Best Reference Book of the Year 2018. From D. W. Griffith's Birth of a Nation in 1915 to the recent Get Out, audiences and critics alike have responded to racism in motion pictures for more than a century. Whether subtle or blatant, racially biased images and narratives erase minorities, perpetuate stereotypes, and keep alive practices of discrimination and marginalization. Even in the 21st century, the American film industry is not color blind, evidenced by films such as Babel (2006), A Better Life (2011), 12 Years a Slave (2013). The Encyclopedia of Racism in American Film documents one facet of racism in the film industry wherein historically underrepresented peoples are misrepresented through a lack of roles for actors of color, stereotyping, negative associations, and an absence of rich, nuanced characters. Offering insights and analysis from over seventy scholars, critics, and activists, the volume highlights issues such as Hollywood's diversity crisis, White Savior films, Magic Negro tropes, the disconnect between screen images and lived realities of African Americans, Latinos, Native Americans, and Asians. A companion to the ever-growing field of race studies, this volume opens up a critical dialogue on an always timely issue. The Encyclopedia of Racism in American Film will appeal to scholars of cinema, race, and ethnicity studies, and cultural history.

Negotiations with the Sniper Martin L. Buxbaum, 2010-02. Mason Allyon Dwennon is mad, both angry with the world and strapped in a rubber room while wearing a Napoleon hat. Diagnosed as a manic depressive schizophrenic, Mason exists as a self-exiled pariah skirting the fringes of humanity as the sole member of his Square Peg Society. Divorced, alone, bitter, depressed, haunted by voices and visions, and on the verge of suicide, Mason experiences a major psychotic episode and is hospitalized. There, he is finally diagnosed as having dissociative identity disorder and found to have at least eight different and distinct personalities. Negotiations with the Sniper is a first-person account of Mason's ordeal. The story details a three-year free association session with his imaginary psychiatrist, a wise-cracking life-size plastic Barbie head who speaks with a thick German accent and refers to himself as Dr. Carl. As the story progresses, each of Mason's eight personalities reveals him or herself in their own voices as they search for the elusive something responsible for all of his suffering. To compound his problems, Mason continuously floats in and out of fugue states and has to reconcile missing periods of time. All too frequently, his habits are less than well-behaved during his mental lapses. In Mason's own words:

Many s the time I ve had to stand before a screaming slavered red faced employer manager shop foreman neighbor police officer parent sibling spouse in law teacher first sergeant nun etc and bear the tirade meant for one of my compadres while unable to offer any reasonable excuse for my actions Despite the sinister allusion to a concealed killer the title actually refers to the cruel thoughtless and oftentimes well intentioned actions of those persons most influential in young Mason s life responsible for triggering his psychotic responses Through the Crosshairs Roger Stahl,2018-06-21 Now that it has become so commonplace we rarely blink an eye at camera footage framed by the crosshairs of a sniper s gun or from the perspective of a descending smart bomb But how did this weaponized gaze become the norm for depicting war and how has it influenced public perceptions Through the Crosshairs traces the genealogy of this weapon s eye view across a wide range of genres including news reports military public relations images action movies video games and social media posts As he tracks how gun camera footage has spilled from the battlefield onto the screens of everyday civilian life Roger Stahl exposes how this raw video is carefully curated and edited to promote identification with military weaponry rather than with the targeted victims He reveals how the weaponized gaze is not only a powerful propagandistic frame but also a prime site of struggle over the representation of state violence American Cinema in the Shadow of 9/11 Terence

Contemporary American Culture Agnieszka Soltysik Monnet, 2020-12-16 Combat Death in Contemporary American Culture Popular Cultural Conceptions of War since World War II explores how war has been portrayed in the United States since World War II with a particular focus on an emotionally charged but rarely scrutinized topic combat death Agnieszka Soltysik Monnet argues that most stories about war use three main building blocks melodrama adventure and horror Monnet examines how melodrama and adventure have helped make war seem acceptable to the American public by portraying combat death as a meaningful sacrifice and by making military killing look necessary and often even pleasurable Horror no longer serves its traditional purpose of making the bloody realities of war repulsive but has instead been repurposed in recent years to intensify the positivity of melodrama and adventure Thus this book offers a fascinating diagnosis of how war stories perform ideological and emotional work and why they have such a powerful grip on the American imagination

On Kubrick James Naremore,2023-06-15 In a comprehensively revised and updated new edition James Naremore provides an illuminating critical account of the films of Stanley Kubrick from his earliest feature Fear and Desire 1953 to the posthumously produced A.I. Artificial Intelligence Steven Spielberg 2001 Naremore offers provocative analyses of each of Kubrick s films considering his emphasis on the absurdity of combat as in Paths of Glory 1957 and Full Metal Jacket 1987 the failure of scientific reasoning as in 2001 1968 and the fascistic impulses in masculine sexuality as in Dr Strangelove 1964 and Eyes Wide Shut 1999 He argues that while Kubrick was a voracious intellectual and a life long autodidact the fascination of his work has less to do with the ideas it espouses than with the emotions it evokes Combining close readings with new insights into the production histories and cultural contexts of key films Naremore provides a concise yet thorough discussion that will be useful to students of Kubrick s filmmaking and cinephiles who seek a deeper insight into the work of this perfectionist genius Revised throughout this new edition also includes a fully updated bibliography of critical writings on Kubrick s cinema
