

APRIL'S RAIN

A dramatic night scene featuring a lightning storm over a house. A bright, jagged lightning bolt strikes down from a dark, stormy sky, illuminating the scene. In the foreground, a small, single-story house with a porch is visible, its lights glowing. The overall atmosphere is dark and intense, with a greenish tint to the sky and clouds.

Aprils Rain The Tucker Series:

April's Rain David Johnson, 2013-09 In book four of the Tucker series it has been eight years since the death of Tucker's best friend Ella and she is struggling to manage their rebellious self-destructive granddaughter April. When April accidentally kills her boyfriend during an attempted rape, Tucker, with the help of Judge Jack, secretly sends April away to Spirit Lake, a remote wilderness treatment facility for girls in the mountains of east Tennessee. While at Spirit Lake, April lies about who her family is and what kind of upbringing she had, painting herself to be a socialite. She ignores Tucker's letters that attempt to build a bridge between them. When the residents and staff at Spirit Lake confront April about her lies and hateful attitude, she runs away and gets lost in the Smokey Mountain National Forest. Meanwhile, March, Tucker's grandson and April's brother, who has been missing for eight years, is found half-dead beside a river in east Tennessee. When he finally regains consciousness in the hospital, he discovers he is blind and has amnesia. In his darkness and lostness, he tries to find the missing pieces that will help him make sense of his life. Before the members of this family can heal the fractures of their pasts, they will have to face the twin-headed dragon that has dogged each of them for eight years: Guilt and Regret. Will they find the healing that forgiveness can bring? Will God help them find each other before it's too late? In the vivid language that fans of the Tucker series have come to expect, author David Johnson grabs you by the lapels of your jacket and shoves you into the lives of the characters you've come to love. The most expansive of all the Tucker books, April's Rain is a white-water ride that will leave you exhausted and thrilled.

Women and Capital Punishment in the United States David V. Baker, 2015-12-07 The history of the execution of women in the United States has largely been ignored and scholars have given scant attention to gender issues in capital punishment. This historical analysis examines the social, political, and economic contexts in which the justice system has put women to death, revealing a pattern of patriarchal domination and female subordination. The book includes a discussion of condemned women granted executive clemency and judicial commutations, an inquiry into women falsely convicted in potentially capital cases, and a profile of the current female death row population.
