Young Children and the Environment Julie M. Davis, 2015 This is an essential text for students teachers and practitioners in a range of early childhood education and care settings

Educating for Sustainability in Primary Schools Neil Taylor, Frances Quinn, Chris Eames, 2015-06-17 Education for Sustainability is a key priority in today's schools as our society seeks to find a balance between environmental, social, cultural, political and economic imperatives that affect our future. As young children will become the next generation of adults, it is vital that they are educated about sustainability issues so that they can learn to make informed decisions and take positive action for a sustainable world. Teachers are ideally placed to educate for sustainability issues and indeed have a responsibility to do so. However, they often lack support and experience in this area and constraints of current curriculum priorities can inhibit Education for Sustainability being taught effectively in many classrooms. Educating for Sustainability in Primary Schools: Teaching for the Future addresses this problem by showing how Education for Sustainability can be developed within and across all areas of the primary curriculum in the Australian and New Zealand contexts. The book provides a range of educational approaches and examples of activities to support teachers in addressing national requirements for teaching the major primary curriculum learning areas while simultaneously educating for sustainability. This integrative approach to primary education can promote knowledge of positive attitudes towards and suitable action for sustainability in relevant, meaningful, enjoyable and creative ways. This book is a valuable resource for all primary teachers who wish to make a real difference to educating children for the future.

Landscape into Eco Art Mark Cheetham, 2018-02-14 Dedicated to an articulation of the earth from broadly ecological perspectives, eco art is a vibrant subset of contemporary art that addresses the widespread public concern with rapid climate change and related environmental issues. In Landscape into Eco Art, Mark Cheetham systematically examines connections and divergences between contemporary eco art, land art of the 1960s and 1970s, and the historical genre of landscape painting. Through eight thematic case studies that illuminate what eco art means in practice, reception and history, Cheetham places the form in a longer and broader art historical context. He considers a wide range of media from painting, sculpture and photography to artists' films, video, sound work, animation and installation, and analyzes the work of internationally prominent artists such as Olafur Eliasson, Nancy Holt, Mark Dion and Robert Smithson. In doing so, Cheetham reveals eco art to be a dynamic extension of a long tradition of landscape depiction in the West that boldly enters into today's debates on climate science, government policy and our collective and individual responsibility to the planet. An ambitious intervention into eco criticism and the environmental humanities, this volume provides original ways to understand the issues and practices of eco art in the Anthropocene. Art historians, humanities scholars and lay readers interested in contemporary art and the environment will find Cheetham's work valuable and invigorating.

Mark Dion Ruth Erickson, 2017-01-01 A comprehensive survey of American artist Mark Dion examining three decades of his critically engaged practice, interrogating our relationship with nature. The first book in two decades to consider the entire oeuvre of Mark Dion, b. 1961, this volume examines thirty years of the American artist's pioneering inquiries into how we collect, interpret and display nature. Part of a generation of artists expanding institutional critique in the 1990s Dion adopted the methods of the archaeologist or the natural history museum juxtaposing natural objects taxidermy books and more to reorganize the natural and the manmade in poetic witty ways These sculptures installations and interventions offer novel approaches to questioning institutional power which he sees as connected to the control and representation of nature Generously illustrated this publication introduces new insights and features more than seventy five artworks Essays address topics ranging from Dion s ecological activism to his loving critique of museums A diverse group of contributors explores his work as a teacher his public artworks such as Neukom Vivarium in Seattle and his intricate curiosity cabinets installed throughout the world They reveal how Dion s practice and formal investigations which are rooted in history connect to contemporary questions of disciplinary boundaries and the acquisition of knowledge in the age of the Anthropocene
