Funk,2005 Once called the jewel of Pennsylvania s middle anthracite coal fields Hazleton grew up on a solid foundation of black diamonds and prospered in the coal industry The city quickly became the financial industrial shopping transportation and entertainment center of the region Mining gave rise to other businesses many established to supply machinery to the numerous collieries Silk mills and garment factories provided work to scores of people By the close of World War II the days of coal mining as a major industry were numbered Slowly the towering coal breakers fell silent their machinery grinding to a halt Not a single example remains standing today Around Hazleton is an informative trip through this city and nearby towns Along Pennsylvania's Lincoln Highway Richard W. Funk,2006 Unlike today s interstate highway system the earlier routes offered ever changing scenes and roadside attractions Although the Lincoln Highway crosses the entire country from New York City to San Francisco the route it follows through Pennsylvania offers some of the most diverse and beautiful scenery From the relatively flat terrain in the eastern part of the state to the mountains in the west the highway passes through large cities and small towns and almost all of these areas offered something to the motoring public The popularity of the automobile gave rise to some of the highway s greatest attractions such as Bill s Place and the S S Grand View Ship Hotel which was destroyed by fire in 2001 Along Pennsylvania s Lincoln Highway is a trip back into time and it recalls the days when getting to a destination was half the fun
