Celebrity Influence Mark Harvey, 2018-01-12 Why should we listen to celebrities like Bono or Angelina Jolie when they endorse a politician or take a position on an issue Do we listen to them Despite their lack of public policy experience celebrities are certainly everywhere in the media appealing on behalf of the oppressed advocating policy change even in one spectacular case leading the birther movement all the way to the White House In this book Mark Harvey takes a close look into the phenomenon of celebrity advocacy in an attempt to determine the nature of celebrity influence and the source and extent of its power Focusing on two specific kinds of power the ability to spotlight issues in the media and to persuade audiences Harvey searches out the sources of celebrity influence and compares them directly to the sources of politicians influence In a number of case studies such as Jolie and Ben Affleck drawing media attention to the civil war in the Democratic Republic of Congo Bob Marley uniting warring factions in Jamaica John Lennon networking with the new left to oppose Richard Nixon's re-election Elvis Presley working with Nixon to counter anti-war activism he details the role of celebrities working with advocacy groups and lobbying politicians to affect public opinion and influence policy A series of psychological experiments demonstrate that celebrities can persuade people to accept their policy positions even on national security issues Harvey's analysis of news sources reveals that when celebrities speak about issues of public importance they get disproportionately more coverage than politicians Further his reading of surveys tells us that people find politicians no more or less credible than celebrities except politicians from the opposing party who are judged less credible At a time when the distinctions between politicians and celebrities are increasingly blurred the insights into celebrity influence presented in this volume are as relevant as they are compelling Electronic Inspirations Jennifer Iverson, 2019
