experienced readers alike this resource serves as a primer and technical reference that presents the basic terminology and fundamentals for resource assessment. It explores the history of solar radiation instruments and addresses direct normal global diffuse and tilted measurements as well as the characteristics of instruments used for these measurements. The authors consider methods of assessing the uncertainty of solar measurements and then cover albedo infrared net and spectral irradiance measurements and instrumentation. The book devotes a section to other meteorological instruments and another to the basics for installing and operating a solar monitoring station. Appendices include information on solar resource assessment modeling and satellite derived irradiance along with other useful material. This book's authors are experts who each have more than 30 years of experience developing and operating multiple measurement stations working with industry to improve radiometry and conducting various research projects.
