Judith Merkle Riley, 1994 Bridges between Science and Humanities Maria Rosa Menzio, 2025-03-25 The book is an adventure into the parts of knowledge that are taken for granted Science and humanities have bridges that unite them and there is a whole hidden world of connections that we do not learn at school since teachers fixate on the division between the so called two cultures Here however we get to show how mathematics can be considered a humanistic subject and all science is a special branch of literature After all every scientific discovery can be treated and examined with the same categories that are used for fairy tales or novels Also sales techniques enter into scientific demonstrations much more deeply than it appears Therefore perhaps we should no longer talk about the rigor of science but about aesthetic research which should lead to approaching perfection and therefore the accuracy of things at least until the opposite is proved This volume is an interesting read for both academics and non specialists Constructing a World Martha Tuck Rozett, 2012-02-01 Taking its title from

Umberto Eco s postscript to The Name of the Rose the novel that inaugurated the New Historical Fiction in the early 1980s Constructing the World provides a guide to the genre s defining characteristics It also serves as a lively account of the way Shakespeare Marlowe Raleigh Queen Elizabeth I and their contemporaries have been depicted by such writers as Anthony Burgess George Garrett Patricia Finney Barry Unsworth and Rosalind Miles Innovative historical novels written during the past two or three decades have transformed the genre producing some extraordinary bestsellers as well as less widely read serious fiction Shakespearean scholar Martha Tuck Rozett engages in an ongoing conversation about the genre of historical fiction drawing attention to the metacommentary contained in Afterwords or Historical Notes the imaginative reconstruction of the diction and mentality of the past the way Shakespearean phrases names and themes are appropriated and the counterfactual scenarios writers invent as they reinvent the past
