The Plains By Gerald Murnane:

The Plains Gerald Murnane, 2012-04-26 Twenty years ago when I first arrived on the plains I kept my eyes open I looked for anything in the landscape that seemed to hint at some elaborate meaning behind appearances There is no book in Australian literature like The Plains In the two decades since its first publication this haunting novel has earned its status as a classic A nameless young man arrives on the plains and begins to document the strange and rich culture of the plains families As his story unfolds the novel becomes in the words of Murray Bail a mirage of landscape memory love and literature itself The Plains Gerald Murnane, 1982 The Plains Gerald Murnane, 1985 Gerald Murnane's "The Plains" Sue Gillett, 1995 Subverting the Empire Paul Genoni, 2004 This paper examines the way in which contemporary Australian novelists use various tropes derived from exploration in order to embellish themes of personal search in their fiction By doing so they have borrowed from the language and myths created by what was essentially an exercise in imperialism and applied them to the quest by individuals in the settler society to find a permanent spiritual home in the new country The exploration imagery proves to be apposite in that just as the empire's hopes were dashed when exploration of the inland was repelled by the barren heart of the continent so too has the metaphysical exploration of the same spaces foundered on uncompromising and withholding landscapes

The Planetary Clock Paul Giles, 2021 Ranging over various aesthetic forms literature film music in the period since 1960 this volume brings an antipodean perspective into conversation with the art and culture of the Northern Hemisphere to reformulate postmodernism as a properly global phenomenon Contemporary Australian Literature Nicholas Birns, 2015-12-01 Australia has been seen as a land of both punishment and refuge Australian literature has explored these controlling alternatives and vividly rendered the landscape on which they transpire Twentieth century writers left Australia to see the world now Australia's distance no longer provides sanctuary But today the global perspective has arrived with a vengeance In Contemporary Australian Literature A World Not Yet Dead Nicholas Birns tells the story of how novelists poets and critics from Patrick White to Hannah Kent from Alexis Wright to Christos Tsiolkas responded to this condition With rancour concern and idealism modern Australian literature conveys a tragic sense of the past yet an abiding vision of the way forward Birns paints a vivid picture of a rich Australian literary voice one not lost to the churning of global markets but in fact given new life by it Contrary to the despairing of the critics Australian literary identity continues to flourish And as Birns finds it is not one thing but many In this remarkable bold and fearless book Nicholas Birns contests how literary cultures are read how they are constituted and what they stand for In examining the nature of the barriers between public and private utterance and looking outside the absurdity of the rules of genre Birns has produced a redemptive analysis that leaves hope for revivifying a world not yet dead John Kinsella

Defence and later as a scholar at the Strategic and Defence Studies Centre SDSC The Australian National University His tragic passing has left this powerful idea awaiting a proper examination This volume seeks to provide that scholarly account and carry both the concept and Brendan s legacy forward The book is organised in three parts First former officials like Dennis Richardson join leading scholars including Mark McKenna Anthea Roberts and Ian Hall to explore the unusual conjunction of strategy and imagination demonstrating its crucial role in effective scholarship and policy Second analysts from Australia and worldwide examine how strategic imagination improves strategic practice by revealing hidden possibilities catalysing essential conversations and challenging core assumptions The final section offers personal reflections from Brendan s colleagues at the SDSC providing a fitting tribute to his life and contribution The volume also includes selections of Brendan s own writing on strategic imagination ensuring his voice continues to inspire scholars and officials to explore this rich and powerful concept

Criticism in Society Imre Salusinszky, 2013-10-08 First Published in 2002 It is easy to see that we are living in a time of rapid and radical social change New Accents is intended as a positive response to the initiative offered by such a situation Each volume in the series will seek to encourage rather than resist the process of change to stretch rather than reinforce the boundaries that currently define literature and its academic study Literary criticism if it is a discipline is surely that discipline which has been most exclusively concerned with the question of its own function The main subject within criticism seems always to have been The Function of Criticism Featuring nine authors the early history of these essays is the attempt to separate criticism off from the art that it deals with generally with unhappy consequences for criticism

Southern Imagining Elleke Boehmer, 2025-12-30 A new compass for global reading looking at the world from the far southern latitudes A northern viewpoint is most often the default while the south the far southern latitudes occupied by Australia New Zealand Argentina and southern Africa among others seems far away and ignorable In Southern Imagining Elleke Boehmer offers an alternative perspective using literary scientific and cultural material to explore how we look at the world from the south Reading she argues is a transformative means of reversing our usual planetary orientation and rearranging our perceptual geography Boehmer examines writing from across southern continents and islands considering how we imaginatively inhabit the farthest reaches of our planet Creators ranging from the Portuguese epic poet Lu s de Cam es to Samuel Taylor Coleridge Charles Darwin Katherine Mansfield Jorge Luis Borges and ancient Indigenous storytellers capture the edgy and austere experiences of the far south For Boehmer imaginative work stimulates and shapes our phenomenological understanding Southerners often see themselves as far away from where things count as outsiders internalising the wider global sense of their relative insignificance Conversely when northerners read or hear legends narratives songs and poems from the south it is as if they are located in the south at least for the duration of the reading or listening Boehmer suggests that the south tilted world map re centred through song and story invites us to claim a more involved sense of belonging to our planet both its north and its south The writers of the south disrupt conventional ways of seeing and invite us to inhabit our globe differently Essays that Changed Australia Esther Anatolitis, 2024-11-12 Since the 1940s Meanjin essays have set the national cultural agenda Arthur Phillips idea of cultural cringe has become a household word instantly conveying Australians sense of place in the world while expressing our frustrations and our ambitions yet very few of us know it came from an essay first published in Meanjin Over half a century later Chelsea Watego s 2021 Always bet on Black power roars with the fire of a manifesto Hilary Charlesworth s 1992 A law of one s own challenges Australia s legal system with a formidable feminist ethic Tim Rowse s 1978 Heaven and a Hills Hoist passionately defends suburbia David Yencken s 1988 Creative City sparks a global urban planning movement with artists at the centre This anthology brings together twenty impactful Meanjin essays for the first time An introduction by editor Esther Anatolitis offers critical context and scrutiny illustrating how profoundly Meanjin essays have changed Australia
