The Trick Is To Keep Breathing By Janice Galloway:

The Trick is to Keep Breathing Janice Galloway, 2015-08-06 From the corner of a darkened room Joy Stone watches herself As memories of the deaths of her lover and mother surface unbidden life for Joy narrows e to negotiating each day each encounter each second to finding the trick to keep living Told with shattering clarity and wry wit this is a Scottish classic fit for our time

Janice Galloway's the Trick Is to Keep Breathing Gillian Sargent, 2016-09-19 The Uncanny Nicholas Royle, 2003 This is the first book length study of the uncanny an important concept for contemporary thinking and debate across a range of disciplines and discourses including literature film architecture cultural studies philosophy psychoanalysis and queer theory Much of this importance can be traced back to Freud s essay of 1919 The uncanny where he was perhaps the first to foreground the distinctive nature of the uncanny as a feeling of something not simply weird or mysterious but more specifically as something strangely familiar As a concept and a feeling however the uncanny has a complex history going back to at least the Enlightenment Nicholas Royle offers a detailed historical account of the emergence of the uncanny together with a series of close readings of different aspects of the topic Following a major introductory historical and critical overview there are chapters on the death drive d j vu silence solitude and darkness the fear of being buried alive doubles ghosts cannibalism telepathy and madness as well as more applied readings concerned for example with teaching politics film and religion This is a major critical study that will be welcomed by students and academics but will also be of interest to the general reader

Reading the Material Theatre Richard Paul Knowles, 2004-05-13 Reading the Material Theatre develops and demonstrates a method of theatrical performance analysis that takes into account the entire theatre experience from production to reception Beginning with semiotic and cultural materialist theory Knowles quickly moves into detailed politicized analysis of the ways in which specific aspects of theatrical production and specific contexts of reception shape the audience s understanding of what they experience in the theatre It concludes with five case studies of the cultural work performed by a major Shakespearean repertory theatre a small nationalist theatre devoted to new play development a major New York based avant garde touring theatre company a British socialist company dedicated to the work of Shakespeare and a range of international festivals This accessible 2004 volume provides a first step introduction to key terms and areas of performance theory including reception history performance analysis and production analysis

The Cambridge Introduction to Modern British Fiction, 1950-2000 Dominic Head, 2002-03-07 In this introduction to post war fiction in Britain Dominic Head shows how the novel yields a special insight into the important areas of social and cultural history in the second half of the twentieth century Head s study is the most exhaustive survey of post war British fiction available It includes chapters on the state and the novel class and social change gender and sexual identity national identity and multiculturalism Throughout Head places novels in their social and historical context He highlights the emergence and prominence of particular genres and links these developments to the wider cultural context He also provides provocative readings of important individual novelists particularly those who remain staple reference points in the study of the subject Accessible wide ranging and designed specifically for use on courses this is the most current introduction to the subject available An invaluable resource for students and teachers alike Cities on the Margin, on the Margin of Cities Philippe Laplace, Eric Tabuteau, 2003 Blood Janice Galloway, 2011-04-30 BLOOD is a virtuoso work the writing sinewy and beautiful the integrity of vision coruscating the whole driven by the author's restless experimentation with form And at least two stories Blood itself and Fearless will certainly end up in anthologies not Best Scottish Writers or Best Women Writers but quite simply Best New Statesman and Society I remember reading a story by Janice Galloway for the first time its urgency of voice that certainty of expression I wondered why I hadn't heard of her before then discovered that she was altogether new to writing It was some debut She really is a fine writer James Kelman Blood is a virtuoso work the writing sinewy and beautiful the integrity of vision coruscating the whole driven by the author's restless experimentation with form And at least two stories Blood itself and Fearless will certainly end up in anthologies not Best Scottish Writers or Best Women Writers but quite simply best New Statesman A salutary collection A marvellous revelation A writer of passion and virtuosity shines through Scotland on Sunday Genuinely unnerving she is a fierce troubling new writer Observer Galloway flecks her hard edged realism with impressionist grace notes a potent mixture that confirms her as one of Scotland's best young writers Sunday Telegraph There is ample proof in Blood of Galloway's unassailable talent Marvellously funny and beautifully paced Glasgow Herald Home in British Working-Class Fiction Nicola Wilson, 2016-03-09 Home in British Working Class Fiction offers a fresh take on British working class writing that turns away from a masculinist work based understanding of class in favour of home gender domestic labour and the family kitchen As Nicola Wilson shows the history of the British working classes has often been written from the outside with observers looking into the world of the inhabitants Here Wilson engages with the long cultural history of this gaze and asks how home is represented in the writing of authors who come from a working class background Her book explores the depiction of home as a key emotional and material site in working class writing from the Edwardian period through to the early 1990s Wilson presents new readings of classic texts including The Ragged Trousered Philanthropists Love on the Dole and Saturday Night and Sunday Morning analyzing them alongside works by authors including James Hanley Walter Brierley Lewis Grassie Gibbon Buchi Emecheta Pat Barker James Kelman and the rediscovered ex mill girl novelist Ethel Carnie Holdsworth Wilson's broad understanding of working class writing allows her to incorporate figures typically ignored in this context as she demonstrates the importance of home's role in the making and expression of class feeling and identity Is this a Culture of Trauma? An Interdisciplinary Perspective Jessica Aliaga Lavrijsen, Michael Bick, 2019-01-04 This volume was first published by Inter Disciplinary Press in 2013 The 20th century has been characterised by an unprecedented violence that seems to have left an imprint in contemporary societies from the two World Wars or the terrorist attack of 9 11 to natural catastrophes or sexual abuse All of these terrible experiences have been collected represented and communicated by many different people especially in the last few decades as seen in the high number of books and films dealing with traumatic experiences As a result an interdisciplinary trauma studies field has emerged At the 2nd Global Conference Trauma Theory and Practice an interdisciplinary conference hosted in Prague in the spring of 2012 academics and professionals met to explore and debate issues surrounding the experience of individual and collective traumas their representations in art and some theoretical approaches to trauma This book is a collection of the papers presented at the conference a snapshot of the current work in the field of trauma studies
