American Slavery, Atlantic Slavery, and Beyond Enrico Dal Lago, 2015-12-22 American Slavery Atlantic Slavery and Beyond provides an up to date summary of past and present views of American slavery in international perspective and suggests new directions for current and future comparative scholarship It argues that we can better understand the nature and meaning of American slavery and antislavery if we place them clearly within a Euro American context Current scholarship on American slavery acknowledges the importance of the continental and Atlantic dimensions of the historical phenomenon comparing it often with slavery in the Caribbean and Latin America However since the 1980s a handful of studies has looked further and has compared American slavery with European forms of unfree and nominally free labor Building on this innovative scholarship this book treats the U S peculiar institution as part of both an Atlantic and a wider Euro American world It shows how the Euro American context is no less crucial than the Atlantic one in understanding colonial slavery and the American Revolution in an age of global enlightenment reformism and revolutionary upheavals the Cotton Kingdom s heyday in a world of systems of unfree labor and the making of radical Abolitionism and the occurrence of the American Civil War at a time when nationalist ideologies and nation building movements were widespread

Physics of Blackness Michelle M. Wright, 2015-02-15 What does it mean to be Black If Blackness is not biological in origin but socially and discursively constructed does the meaning of Blackness change over time and space In Physics of Blackness Beyond the Middle Passage Epistemology Michelle M Wright argues that although we often explicitly define Blackness as a what it in fact always operates as a when and a where By putting lay discourses on spacetime from physics into conversation with works on identity from the African Diaspora Physics of Blackness explores how Middle Passage epistemology subverts racist assumptions about Blackness yet its linear structure inhibits the kind of inclusive epistemology of Blackness needed in the twenty first century Wright then engages with bodies frequently excluded from contemporary mainstream consideration Black feminists Black queers recent Black African immigrants to the West and Blacks whose histories may weave in and out of the Middle Passage epistemology but do not cohere to it Physics of Blackness takes the reader on a journey both known and unfamiliar from Isaac Newton s laws of motion and gravity to the contemporary politics of diasporic Blackness in the academy from James Baldwin s postwar trope of the Eiffel Tower as the site for diasporic encounters to theoretical particle physics theory of multiverses and superpositioning to the almost erased lives of Black African women during World War II Accessible in its style global in its perspective and rigorous in its logic Physics of Blackness will change the way you look at Blackness

Spatial Justice After Apartheid Jaco Barnard-Naudé, Julia Chrystostalis, 2022-08-25 This book considers the question of spatial justice after apartheid from several disciplinary perspectives jurisprudence law literature architecture photography and psychoanalysis are just some of the disciplines engaged here However the main theoretical device on which the authors comment is the legacy of what in Carl Schmitt's terms is nomos as the spatialised normativity of sociality. Each author considers within the practical and theoretical constraints of their topic the question of what nomos in its modern configuration may or may not contribute to a thinking of spatial justice after apartheid. On the whole the collection forces a confrontation between law's spatiality in a postcolonial era on the one hand and the traumatic legacy of what Paul Gilroy has called the colonial nomos on the other hand. In the course of this confrontation critical questions of continuation, extension, disruption and rewriting are raised and confronted in novel and innovative ways that both challenge Schmitt's account of nomos and affirm the centrality of the constitutive relation between law and space. The book promises to resituate the trajectory of nomos while considering critical instances through which the spatial legacy of apartheid might at last be overcome. This interdisciplinary book will appeal to scholars of critical legal theory, political philosophy, aesthetics and architecture.

What Do We Know and What Should We Do About

Slavery? Julia O'Connell Davidson, 2022-02-23. Slavery is a live issue today but the people who talk about it as such are not all of a piece. Some insist the world is now plagued by the contemporary equivalent of transatlantic slavery and call on us to combat modern slavery. Others hold that the on-going devaluation and destruction of black life continues the logic of transatlantic slavery. They urge us to address the afterlives of racial chattel slavery. These two groupings provide different answers to the questions: what do we know and what should we do about slavery? This book reviews what is known about the issues at the heart of each perspective and argues that the concept of afterlives is more helpful than that of modern slavery to those seeking to challenge injustice, violence, inequality and oppression in the twenty-first century.

The Play World

Patricia Anne Simpson, 2020-09-21. The Play World chronicles the history and evolution of the concept of play as a universal part of childhood. Examining texts and toys coming out of Europe between 1631 and 1914, Patricia Anne Simpson argues that German material, literary and pedagogical cultures were central to the construction of the modern ideas and realities of play and childhood in the transatlantic world. With attention to the details of toy manufacturing and marketing, Simpson considers prescriptive texts about how children should play, treat their possessions and experience adventure in the scientific exploration of distant geographies. She illuminates the role of toys among them: a mechanical guillotine, yo-yos, hybridized dolls and circus figures as agents of history. Using an interdisciplinary approach that draws from postcolonial childhood and migration studies, she makes the case that these texts and toys transfer the world of play into a space in which model childhoods are imagined and enacted as German. With chapters on the Protestant play ethic, enlightened parenting, Goethe as an advocate of play, colonial fantasies, children's almanacs, ethnographic play and an empire of toys, Simpson's argument follows a compelling path toward understanding the reproduction of religious, gendered, ethnic, racial, national and imperial identities emanating from German-speaking Europe that collectively construct a global imaginary. This foundational and deeply original study connects German-speaking communities across the Atlantic as they collectively engender the epistemology of the play world. It will be of particular interest to German studies scholars whose research crosses the Atlantic.

Spiders of the Market, Enhanced Ebook David Afriyie Donkor, 2016-07-11 The Ghanaian trickster spider Ananse is a deceptive figure full of comic delight who blurs the lines of class politics and morality David Afriyie Donkor identifies social performance as a way to understand trickster behavior within the shifting process of political legitimization in Ghana revealing stories that exploit the social ideologies of economic neoliberalism and political democratization At the level of policy neither ideology was completely successful but Donkor shows how the Ghanaian government was crafty in selling the ideas to the people adapting trickster rooted performance techniques to reinterpret citizenship and the common good Trickster performers rebelled against this takeover of their art and sought new ways to out trick the tricksters Poetry of the Civil Rights Movements in Australia and the United States, 1960s-1980s Ameer Chasib Furaih, 2024-09-03 This book examines the poetries of two Aboriginal Australian poets namely Oodgeroo Noonuccal formerly Kath Walker 1920 1993 and Lionel Fogarty 1958 and two African American Black Arts poets namely Amiri Baraka formerly Everett LeRoi Jones 1934 2014 and Sonia Sanchez 1943 to demonstrate their role in the struggle for civil and human rights of their peoples from the 1960s The book demonstrates commonalities and differences in the strategies of these poets literary and political resistance These poet activists though ethnically diverse and geographically dispersed share comparable socio political concerns and aspirations Their activism is not a reflection of a single ideological current but a bricolage of many ideologies and perspectives They have engaged in trans Pacific political movements and transgressed the borders of any one ideological territory It is important to establish Aboriginal and African American trans Pacific communication because these poets have collaborated and engaged in global politics whether in the form of Garveyism or the transnation Their poetries are characterized by an irresistible drive towards international rhizomatic collaboration and engagement This is a transcontinental literary influence exerted by African American poets on Aboriginal poets during the 1960s and beyond

Laughing Matters Giorgio Baruchello, Ársæll Már Arnarsson, 2023-11-06 The present book addresses the background rationale general structure and particular aims and arguments characterizing our third and last volume about humor and cruelty A guiding foray is provided into the vast expert literature that can be retrieved in the Western humanities and social sciences on these two terms Pivotal thinkers and crucial notions are duly identified highlighted and examined Apposite subsidiary references are also included especially with regard to psychodynamics and clinical psychology existentialism feminism liberalism Marxism and representative recent studies in the philosophy of humor and its cognates The stage is thus set for the exploration and assessment of the conflicts between humor and cruelty unfolding in Part 2 of Volume 3 Being the philosophical terminus of our entire research project Volume 3 counterbalances complements and occasionally complexifies the numerous forms of mutual cooperation between humor and cruelty that the preceding Volume 2 had unearthed and discussed Like Aristotle and Dewey Arnarsson and Baruchello do not define their terms at the outset but instead they relentlessly pursue the meanings of two ordinary words that everyone vaguely understads to arrive at a critical insight into the concepts these words represent which are both disparate and interrelated Richard Marc Rubin President George Santayana Society Granville Sharp's Uncovered Letter and the Zong Massacre Michelle Faubert, 2018-08-02 This book delineates the discovery of a previously unknown manuscript of a letter from Granville Sharp the first British abolitionist to the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty In the letter Sharp demands that the Admiralty bring murder charges against the crew of the Zong for forcing 132 enslaved Africans overboard to their deaths Uncovered by Michelle Faubert at the British Library in 2015 the letter is reproduced here accompanied by her examination of its provenance and significance for the history of slavery and abolition As Faubert argues the British Library manuscript is the only fair copy of Sharp s letter and extraordinary evidence of Sharp s role in the abolition of slavery The End of Supplication Yannick Marshall, 2025-10-02 The figure of the supplicant negro a figure famously represented in Josiah Wedgewood s 18th century anti slavery medallion continues to sideline radical Black anti colonialist struggle The End of the Supplication contends that Black freedom struggles are anti colonial movements against anti Blackness and the permutations of slavery and as such they are ill served by a dominant Civil Rights discourse that escapes neither the paternalism of white abolitionism nor the caricatures of minstrelsy The book traces the roots of the white supremacist ideology behind the disarmed supplicant negro figure and it shows how this ideology continues to inform present liberal presentations of Black people as passive subjects at the mercy of white power which only reinforces the relatively light consequences white supremacists generally incur for harming Black people These discussions lead to the conclusion that in our contemporary context of rising openly white supremacist politics the figure of the supplicant negro must be definitively destroyed in order to make way for more effective resistance to anti Black racism This book is a must read for students and researchers interested in colonialism and decolonization diaspora studies critical race and whiteness studies African American studies Black studies and Indigenous studies It is also of keen interest for anyone frustrated with the still recurring admonition to go slow when it comes to eradicating structural racism
