The Hell of War Comes Home Owen W. Gilman Jr., 2018-02-09 Owen W Gilman Jr stresses the US experience of war in the twenty first century and argues that wherever and whenever there is war there will be imaginative responses to it especially the recent wars in Afghanistan and Iraq Since the trauma of September 11 the experience of Americans at war has been rendered honestly and fully in a wide range of texts creative nonfiction and journalism film poetry and fiction These responses Gilman contends have packed a lot of power and measure up even to World War II s literature and film Like few other books Gilman s volume studies these new texts among them Kevin Powers s debut novel The Yellow Birds and Phil Klay s short stories Redeployment along with the films The Hurt Locker American Sniper and Billy Lynn s Long Halftime Walk For perspective Gilman also looks at some touchstones from the Vietnam War Compared to a few of the big Vietnam books and films this new material has mostly been read and watched by small audiences and generated less discussion Gilman exposes the circumstances in American culture currently preventing literature and film of our recent wars from making a significant impact He contends that Americans inclination to demand distraction limits learning from these compelling responses to war in the past decade According to Gilman where there should be clarity and depth of knowledge we instead face misunderstanding and the anguish endured by veterans betrayed by war and our lack of understanding

The Postnormal Times Reader Ziauddin Sardar, 2019-01-01 IIIT Books In Brief Series is a valuable collection of the Institute s key publications written in condensed form to give readers a core understanding of the main contents of the original Postnormal times are best defined as an in between period where old orthodoxies are dying new ones have yet to be born and very few things seem to make sense or as Ezio Mauro puts it we are hanging between the no longer and the not yet and thus we are necessarily unstable nothing around us is fixed not even our direction of travel The postnormal times theory attempts to make sense of a rapidly changing world where uncertainty is the dominant theme and ignorance has become a valuable community The Postnormal Times Reader is a pioneering anthology of writings on the contradictory complex and chaotic nature of our era It covers the origins theory and methods of postnormal times and examines a host of issues ranging from climate change governance Middle East to religion and science from the perspective of postnormal times By mapping some of the key local and global issues of our transitional age the Reader suggests a way of navigating our turbulent futures

Transnational Film and the US Wars in Iraq & Afghanistan

Marzena Sokołowska-Paryż, Marek Paryż, 2025-01-15 This book offers insights into diverse non American national perspectives on the US led military interventions in Afghanistan and Iraq within the generic frames of the war film While the best known films about the post 9 11 wars in the Middle East are American productions various other national cinematographies have responded to these conflicts which is not surprising given the fact that international coalitions were formed to support the US military effort However non American war films about these US instigated interventions have received little attention outside their own national contexts This volume fills in the gap in the existing war film criticism by offering insights into how the Afghanistan War 2001 2021 and the Iraq War 2003 2011 have been represented in popular and documentary filmic productions in Iraq Afghanistan Great Britain Germany Denmark Poland Spain and Australia The contributions prove the need for transnationalism as an eye opening perspective on the war film genre by underscoring nationally specific social political and aesthetic differences alongside important correspondences between cultural productions across nations Transnational film and the US wars in Iraq and Afghanistan will be a key resource for scholars and researchers of film studies media and cultural studies film history war studies literary criticism and sociology It was originally published as a special issue of Journal of War Culture Studies

Last Stands from the Alamo to Benghazi Frank

Wetta, Martin Novelli, 2016-12-08 Last Stands from the Alamo to Benghazi examines how filmmakers teach Americans about the country's military past Examining twenty three representative war films and locating them in their cultural and military landscape the authors argue that Hollywood's view of American military history has evolved in two phases The first phase extending from the very beginnings of filmmaking to the Korean War projected an essential patriotic triumphalism The second phase from the Korean and Vietnam Wars to the present reflects a retreat from consensus and reflexive patriotism In describing these phases the authors address recurring themes such as the experience of war and combat the image of the American war hero race gender national myths and more With helpful film commentaries that extend the discussion through popular movie narratives this book is essential for anyone interested in American military and film history

A 'Toxic Genre'
Martin Barker, 2011-06-03 Over the last five years a cycle of films has emerged addressing the ongoing Iraq conflict Some became well known and one of them The Hurt Locker won a string of Oscars But many others disappeared into obscurity What is it about these films that led Variety to dub them a toxic genre Martin Barker analyses the production and reception of these recent Iraq war films Among the issues he examines are the borrowing of soldiers YouTube styles of self representation to generate an authentic Iraq experience and how they take refuge in apolitical post traumatic stress disorder Barker also looks afresh at some classic issues in film theory the problems of accounting for film failures the shaping role of production systems the significance of genre naming and the impact of that toxic label A Toxic Genre is fascinating reading for film studies students and anyone interested in cinema s portrayal of modern warfare Unbreakable Hearts: A True, Heart-wrenching Story About Victory...Forfeited! Paula Wagner Jim Wilson and Janet Yang Infantry, 1970 The 7th Game William Marsh, 2024-07-25 Matt Dillon is the Cleveland Indians star center fielder and one of the best baseball players in the Major Leagues The Indians had just won the sixth game of the World Series tying the series at three games each He is driving home thinking about baseball tomorrow s deciding seventh game and baseball history when his car is hit by the driver of another vehicle When he woke up in the hospital after his first surgery he is informed by his doctor that he will probably walk again but his days of playing baseball are over His ankle had been severely crushed He is devastated and he has lost God his zest for life and the game he loved with all his heart This is the story about the next two years of his life as he attempts to recover with the help of a childhood friend and one abused little girl He was totally lost Would he find himself again Clint Eastwood's Cinema of Trauma Charles R. Hamilton, Allen H. Redmon, 2017-08-11 Throughout his directorial career Clint Eastwood s movies have presented sympathetic narratives of characters enduring personal trauma as they turn to violence to survive calamity or sustain social order a choice that leaves them marginalized rather than redeemed In this collection of new essays contributors examine his films from The Outlaw Josey Wales to Sully as studies on PTSD that expose the social conditions that tolerate or trigger traumatization and in his more recent work imagine a way through individual and collective trauma Curating and Re-curating the American Wars in Vietnam and Iraq Christine Sylvester, 2019 We have long saved and curated objects from wars to commemorate the war experience These objects appear at national museums and memorials and are often mentioned in war novels and memoirs Through them we institutionalize narratives and memories of national identity as well as international power and purpose While people interpret war in different ways and there is no ultimate authority on the experiences of any war curators of war objects make different choices about what to display or write about none of which are entirely problematic good or accurate This book asks whose vantage points on war are made available and where for public consumption it also questions whose war experiences are not represented are minimized or ignored in ways that advantage contemporary militarism Christine Sylvester looks at four sites of war memory the National Museum of American History the Vietnam Veterans Memorial Arlington National Cemetery and selected novels and memoirs of the American wars in Vietnam and Iraq to consider the way war knowledge is embedded in differing sites of memory and display While the museum shows war aircraft and a laptop computer used by a journalist covering the American war in Iraq visitors to the Vietnam Memorial or Arlington Cemetery find more prosaic and civilian items on view such as baby pictures slices of birthday cake or even car keys In addition memoirs and novels of these wars tend to curate ghastly horrors of wars as experienced by soldiers or civilians For Sylvester these sites of war memory and curation provide ways to understand dispersed war authority and interpretation and to consider which sites invite viewers to revere a war and which reflect personal experiences that show the undersides of these wars Sylvester shows that scholars policymakers and other citizens need to consider different types of situated memory and knowledge in order to fully grasp war rather than idealize it MAJALAH DIGITAL ARMORY
