The Modern Schoolman, 1965

The Wilsonian Century Frank Ninkovich, 1999 For most of this century American foreign policy was guided by a set of assumptions that were formulated during World War I by President Woodrow Wilson. In this incisive reexamination Frank Ninkovich argues that the Wilsonian outlook far from being a crusading idealistic doctrine was reactive, practical and grounded in fear. Wilson and his successors believed it absolutely essential to guard against world war or global domination with the underlying aim of safeguarding and nurturing political harmony and commercial cooperation among the great powers. As the world entered a period of unprecedented turbulence Wilsonianism became a crisis internationalism dedicated to preserving the benign vision of normal internationalism with which the United States entered the twentieth century. In the process of describing Wilson's legacy Ninkovich reinterprets most of the twentieth century's main foreign policy developments. He views the 1920s for example not as an isolationist period but as a reversion to Taft's Dollar Diplomacy. The Cold War with its faraway military interventions illustrates Wilsonian America's preoccupation with achieving a cohesive world opinion and its abandonment of traditional regional conceptions of national interest. The Wilsonian Century offers a striking alternative to traditional interest based interpretations of U.S. foreign policy. In revising the usual view of Wilson's contribution Ninkovich shows the extraordinary degree to which Wilsonian ideas guided American policy through a century of conflict and tension.
