Postcolonial Literature and the United States: Race, Ethnicity, and Literature , Probing essays that examine critical issues surrounding the United States s ever expanding international cultural identity in the postcolonial era Download Plain Text version At the beginning of the twenty first century we may be in a transnational moment increasingly aware of the ways in which local and national narratives in literature and elsewhere cannot be conceived apart from a radically new sense of shared human histories and global interdependence To think transnationally about literature history and culture requires a study of the evolution of hybrid identities within nation states and diasporic identities across national boundaries Studies addressing issues of race ethnicity and empire in U S culture have provided some of the most innovative and controversial contributions to recent scholarship Postcolonial Theory and the United States Race Ethnicity and Literature represents a new chapter in the emerging dialogues about the importance of borders on a global scale This book collects nineteen essays written in the 1990s in this emergent field by both well established and up and coming scholars Almost all the essays have been either especially written for this volume or revised for inclusion here These essays are accessible well focused resources for college and university students and their teachers displaying both historical depth and theoretical finesse as they attempt close and lively readings The anthology includes more than one discussion of each literary tradition associated with major racial or ethnic communities Such a gathering of diverse complementary and often competing viewpoints provides a good introduction to the cultural differences and commonalities that comprise the United States today The volume opens with two essays by the editors first a survey of the ideas in the individual pieces and second a long essay that places current debates in U S ethnicity and race studies within both the history of American studies as a whole and recent developments in postcolonial theory Amritjit Singh a professor of English and African American studies at Rhode Island College is coeditor of Conversations with Ralph Ellison and Conversations with Ishmael Reed both from University Press of Mississippi Peter Schmidt a professor of English at Swarthmore College is the author of The Heart of the Story Eudora Welty's Short Fiction University Press of Mississippi Asian American Literature King-Kok Cheung, Stan Yogi, 1988 Assimilating Asians Patricia P. Butler, 2011-07-01 Ethnic Studies has drawn higher education usually kicking and screaming into the borderlands of scholarship pedagogy faculty collegiality and institutional development Johnnella E Butler writes in her Introduction to this collection of lively and insightful essays Some of the most prominent scholars in Ethnic Studies today explore varying approaches multiple methodologies and contrasting perspectives within the field Essays trace the historical development of Ethnic Studies its place in American universities and the curriculum and new directions in contemporary scholarship The legitimization of the field the need for institutional support and the changing relations between academic scholarship and community activism are also discussed The institutional structure of Ethnic Studies continues to be affected by national regional and local attitudes and events and Ronald Takaki's essay explores the contested terrains of these culture wars Manning Marable delves into theoretical aspects of writing about race and ethnicity while John C Walter surveys the influence of African American history on U S history textbooks Elizabeth Cook Lynn and Craig Howe explain why American Indian Studies does not fit into the Ethnic Studies model and Lauro H Flores traces the historical development of Chicano a Studies forged from the student and community activism of the late 1960s Ethnic Studies is simultaneously discipline based and interdisciplinary self containing and overlapping This volume captures that dichotomy as contributors raise questions that traditional disciplines ignore Essays include Lane Ryo Hirabayashi and Marilyn Caballero Alquizola on the gulf between postmodernism and political and institutional realities

Rhett S Jones on the evolution of Africana Studies and Judith Newton on the trajectories of Ethnic Studies and Women's Studies and their relations with marginalized communities Shirley Hune and Evelyn Hu DeHart each make a case for the separation of Asian American Studies from Asian Studies while Edna Acosta Belón argues for a hemispheric approach to Latin American and U.S. Latino Studies T V Reed rounds out the volume by offering through cultural studies bridges to the twenty-first century
