This Place Will Become Home Laura C. Hammond,2018-08-06 How do communities grapple with the challenges of reconstruction after conflicts In one of the first in depth ethnographic accounts of refugee repatriation anywhere in the world Laura C Hammond follows the story of Ada Bai a returnee settlement with a population of some 7 500 people In the days when refugees first arrived Ada Bai was an empty field along Ethiopia s northwest border but it is now a viable arguably thriving community For the former refugees who fled from northern Ethiopia to eastern Sudan to escape war and famine in 1984 and returned to their country of birth in 1993 coming home really meant creating a new home out of an empty space Settling in a new area establishing social and kin ties and inventing social practices returnees gradually invested their environment with meaning and began to consider their settlement home Hammond outlines the roles that gender and generational differences played in this process and how the residents came to define the symbolic and geographical boundaries of Ada Bai Drawing on her fieldwork from 1993 to 1995 and regular shorter periods since Hammond describes the process by which a place is made meaningful through everyday practice and social interaction This Place Will Become Home provides insight into how people cope with extreme economic hardship food insecurity and limited access to international humanitarian or development assistance in their struggle to attain economic self sufficiency
