OECD,2017-07-10 This report identifies effective strategies to tackle skills imbalances in South Africa Higher Education

Pathways Ashwin, Paul,Case, Jennifer M.,2018-12-14 In what ways does access to undergraduate education have a transformative impact on people and societies What conditions are required for this impact to occur What are the pathways from an undergraduate education to the public good including inclusive economic development These questions have particular resonance in the South African higher education context which is attempting to tackle the challenges of widening access and improving completion rates in a system in which the segregations of the apartheid years are still apparent Higher education is recognised in core legislation as having a distinctive and crucial role in building post apartheid society Undergraduate education is seen as central to addressing skills shortages in South Africa It is also seen to yield significant social returns including a consistent positive impact on societal institutions and the development of a range of capabilities that have public as well as private benefits This book offers comprehensive contemporary evidence that allows for a fresh engagement with these pressing issues

Fees Must Fall

Susan Booysen,2016-10-01 This book explores the student discontent a year after the start of the 2015 South African FeesMustFall revolt FeesMustFall the student revolt that began in October 2015 was an uprising against lack of access to and financial exclusion from higher education in South Africa More broadly it radically questioned the socio political dispensation resulting from the 1994 social pact between big business the ruling elite and the liberation movement The 2015 revolt links to national and international youth struggles of the recent past and is informed by black consciousness politics and social movements of the international left Yet its objectives are more complex than those of earlier struggles The student movement has challenged the hierarchical top down leadership system of university management and it s double speak of professing to act in workers and students interests yet entrenching a regressive system for control and governance University managements while on one level amenable to change have also co opted students into their ranks to create co responsibility for the highly bureaucratised university financial aid that stands in the way of their social revolution This book maps the contours of student discontent a year after the start of the FeesMustFall revolt Student voices dissect colonialism improper compromises by the founders of democratic South Africa feminism worker rights and meaningful education In depth assessments by prominent scholars reflect on the complexities of student activism

its impact on national and university governance and offer provocative analyses of the power of the revolt

Cost-sharing and Accessibility in Higher Education: A Fairer Deal? Pedro N. Teixeira, D. Bruce Johnstone, Maria J. Rosa, Hans Vossensteyn, 2007-11-23 Higher education finances lie at the crossroads in many Western countries Hence worldwide the most common approach to the need for increasing revenue was to use some form or forms of cost sharing or the shift of some of the higher educational per student costs from governments and taxpayers to parents and students This raises several important challenges to higher education systems First there is the political and social controversy associated with most forms of cost sharing particularly with tuition fees Secondly there are important issues in terms of the broad context of social policy such as the role of families and students and the relationship that the state establishes with each of them Third there is the comparison of alternative instruments of cost sharing and the direct and indirect effects of each of them notably in terms of educational equality Overall underlying cost sharing debates are fundamental questions about social choice individual opportunities and the role of government in society

Low-Income Students, Human Development and Higher Education in South Africa Melanie Walker, Monica McLean, 2022-07-15 This book explores learning outcomes for low income rural and township youth at five South African universities The book is framed as a contribution to southern and Africa centred scholarship adapting Amartya Sen s capability approach and a framework of key concepts capabilities functionings context conversion factors poverty and agency to investigate opportunities and obstacles to achieved student outcomes This approach allows a reimagining of inclusive learning outcomes to encompass the multi dimensional value of a university education and a plurality of valued cognitive and non cognitive outcomes for students from low income backgrounds whose experiences are strongly shaped by hardship Based on capability theorising and student voices the book proposes for policy and practice a set of contextual higher education capability domains and corresponding functionings orientated to more justice and more equality for each person to have the opportunities to be and to do what they have reason to value The book concludes that sufficient material resources are necessary to get into university and flourish while there the benefits of a university education should be rich and multi dimensional so that they can result in functionings in all areas of life as well as work and future study the inequalities and exclusion of the labour market and pathways to further study must be addressed by wider economic and social policies for inclusive learning outcomes to be meaningful and that universities ought to be doing more to enable black working class students to participate and succeed Low Income Students Human Development and Higher Education in South Africa makes an original contribution to capability scholarship conceptually in theorising a South based multi dimensional student well being higher education matrix and a rich reconceptualisation of learning outcomes as well as empirically by conducting rigorous longitudinal in depth mixed methods research on students lives and experiences in higher education in South Africa The audience for the book includes higher education researchers international capability scholars practitioners and policy makers

Remote Possibilities Amy Jane Conger, 2005

South Africa Can Work Frans Rautenbach, 2017-08-18 What will it take to turn South Africa around In this insightful and provocative book Frans Rautenbach proposes a complete overhaul of policy thinking and provides fresh arguments that effectively address South Africa s unemployment race problems and lack of education Rautenbach examines the fundamental problem of rent seeking to which he proposes two antidotes the free market and decentralisation of government Along the way he tackles holy cows such as affirmative action trade unions labour law and welfare payments He also addresses contentious topics such as racism white privilege political correctness state funding of higher education and mounting evidence that trade unions substantially suppress employment growth Written by a labour lawyer with a proven track record in a range of policy issues South Africa Can Work speaks effectively to a cross section of readers of all disciplines and brings sorely needed good news      From School to Higher Education? Michael Cosser, Jacques Du Toit, 2002 This substantive report is essential reading for those involved in higher education planning and policy making      Corrupted Jonathan D Jansen, 2023-02-01 In South African higher education the images of dysfunction are everywhere Student protests Violence Police presence Rubber or real bullets Class disruptions Burning tyres Damaged buildings Injury and sometimes death Reports of wholesale corruption Year after year often in the same set of universities the problem of routine instability seems insoluble The financial academic and reputational costs of ongoing dysfunction are high especially for those universities caught up in the never ending struggle to overcome apartheid legacies Any number of explanations have been ventured including a lack of resources shortage of capacity rural location corrupt officials and endemic conflict Corrupted takes a deeper look at dysfunction in an attempt to unravel the root causes in a sample of South African universities At the heart of the problem lies the vexed issue of resources or more pertinently the relationship between resources and power who gets what and why Whatever else it aspires to be commonly a place of teaching learning research and public duty a university in an impoverished community is also a rich concentration of resources around which corrupt staff students and those outside of campus all vie for access Taking a political economic approach Jonathan Jansen describes the daily struggle for institutional resources and offers accessible sensible insights He argues that the problem won't be solved through investments in capacity building alone because the combination of institutional capacity and institutional integrity contributes to serial instability in universities Rather durable solutions would include the depoliticisation of university councils and appointments of academics with integrity and capacity to manage and lead these fragile institutions This groundbreaking and long overdue study will offer a promising way forward for universities to better serve their communities and the country more broadly      QUALITY OF LIFE SURVEY V (2017/18) THE QUALITY OF LIFE OF STUDENTS IN GAUTENG Christian Hamann, Kate Joseph, 2020-07-29 GCRO Data Brief on quality of life of students
