Using Offensive Formations to Dictate Defensive Alignment Bill Renner, 2015-11-23 I do not believe in calling an offensive play where you don't know how why and where the defense will be aligned The alternative is to call offensive plays hoping the defense will be aligned where you want them to be But hope is not a strategy And it does not have to be if you understand that the offensive play caller determines how and where the defense aligns by his use of offensive formations Using Offensive Formations to Dictate Defensive Alignment is a book that details how to use your offensive formations with no tight ends and tight ends versus various defensive fronts to make a defense align where you want them to 2x1 2x2 3x1 and 3x2 formations with and without tight ends are diagrammed versus 4 3 3 4 3 3 5 and Bear defensive fronts Coach Renner gives you over 70 specific diagrams that detail where each defender in these defense will align He points out the run weaknesses and pass weaknesses for each defense versus the formations as well Every defensive alignment detailed in this book was taken from practically applying these formations in game conditions studying the film and confirming it Coach Renner details how a change in formation affects a defensive player's responsibility to your advantage He shows you the ways to use your formations to the boundary or field with a tight end or without a tight end to manipulate defensive alignment He also shows you the advantage of having an unbalanced formation as part of your offense Over a span of 10 years using this formation philosophy Coach Renner's offense has passed for 27 117 yards rushed for 14 022 yards with 255 passing touchdowns and 177 rushing touchdowns These results were achieved at 4 different high schools in 2 different states Virginia and North Carolina This diversity demonstrates that using formations as Coach Renner explains can have the same effect on a defense no matter where it is coached If you strive to understand how your offense cannot be held captive to a defensive alignment or attack this information is what you need

What to Know to Be an Effective High School Football Offensive Play Caller Bill Renner, 2017-05-02 A play caller must decide whether to be a reactive or proactive play caller A reactive play caller sees the defense as an unpredictable opponent He is not sure where the defense will align where they will blitz from and what techniques they are playing in their defense A proactive play caller sees the defense as a predictable opponent That opponent has predictable defensive alignments which allows him to know where the blitz can come from and to identify specific defensive techniques which defenders are using to defend his run and pass plays This book is going to show you how to become a proactive play caller A play caller who believes he controls the defense A play caller who believes the defense must play the way you make them play by use of your formations and plays That you the play caller are in control of the defensive opponent s players To become a proactive play caller there are important play calling techniques and philosophies that you must know and learn In this book Coach Renner details those techniques and philosophies They include how to use formations to see all 22 know where the ball is in the middle of the field or on a hash mark how to know where the numbers advantage is how to know where the blitz can come from knowing your blocking schemes knowing which defender you are attacking how to keep track of how much you gain how to not give up on a play how to run the play and watch the defender s reaction how to know what your opponent does well and avoid it how motion limits play selection so be stagnant and why down and distance doesn t matter Coach Renner describes how each of these areas are important to a play caller and to being able to consistently score on offense Coach Renner has called plays for 30 years 23 years as a head coach He has a consecutive game touchdown scoring streak of 141 games a span of the last 13 years During that time his offenses averaged 31.1 points per game and 6 wins per season These things were achieved at four different high schools in two different states This book will show you how to prepare yourself as an offensive play caller to call plays to consistently score like that
