The male sex cell is called a sperm cell. Its structure is specifically adapted to carry out its function.

- Complete the table to describe the structure and function of each of the parts.

tail
midpiece
head

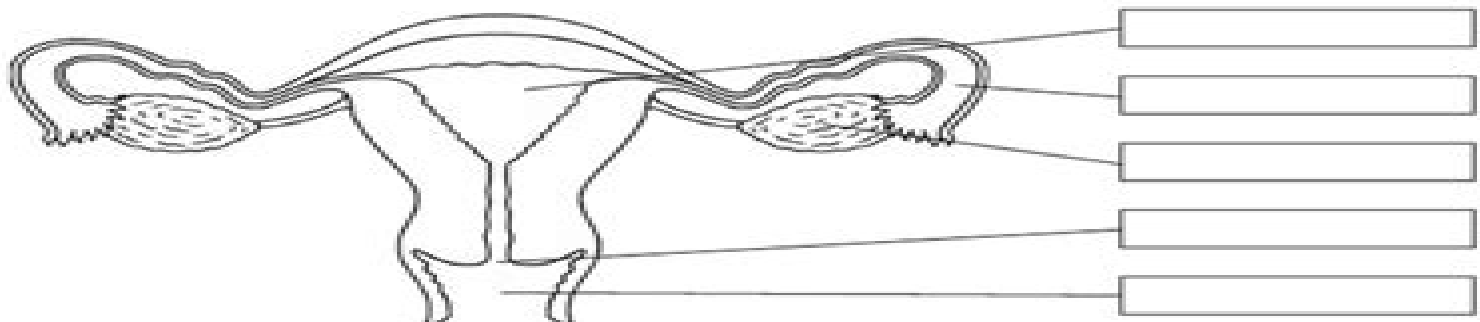

- Label the parts of the sperm cell.

Humans are mammals. All mammals reproduce in a similar way; fertilisation occurs within the body. Sperm is ejaculated from the male into the female and travels to find the egg cell. The sperm and egg cell fuse together in a process called fertilisation. The fertilised egg cell develops into an embryo, which is carried inside the uterus (womb) of the female until birth.

- Label the organs of the female reproductive system. Use words from the box below.

cervix	ovary	oviduct	uterus	vagina

Resources in Education ,1998 Innovation and the Pharmaceutical Industry H. Tristram Engelhardt,2014-05-14 Innovation and the Pharmaceutical Industry Critical Reflections on the Virtues of Profit examines the central role of profit in the development of pharmaceuticals medical devices and health care generally Recent efforts to understand this role have often underestimated and even dismissed its importance arguing for its replacement by other means and mechanisms However as the essays in this volume attest it would be impossible to account adequately for the range of pharmaceuticals and medical devices that have become part of everyday medicine without recognizing that the depth and scope of innovations are tied not simply to altruism a concern for the common good or the pursuit of knowledge for its own sake but crucially to the pursuit of private good and of individual profit Balancing a concern for theory and practice the analyses and evaluations provided in these essays touch directly on many of the most heated and important debates in pharmaceutical ethics such as profit margins corporate social responsibility drug advertising litigation patents and parallel trade Reflecting critically on the problems and prospects of medical innovation they invite a rethinking of the foundations of the bioethics and business ethics of the pharmaceutical and medical device industries by focusing on the long term impact of policy decisions for human health and well being COVID-19 and Women's Health, 2nd edition Stephen Kennedy, Laura A. Magee, Stacey A. Missmer, Jayashri Kulkarni, Vassiliki Benetou, Marianne Vidler, Chelsea Morroni, 2023-02-07 As a result of the Coronavirus disease COVID 19 pandemic the world is facing one of the greatest challenges we have experienced in over a century The economic consequences for society at large are potentially catastrophic The health and social care sectors have reacted by providing emergency care on an unprecedented scale while the scientific community has focused on developing new treatments and a vaccine to prevent future waves of the pandemic Evidence is emerging to suggest that certain conditions such as obesity and hypertension predispose some individuals to a worse outcome if they become infected and that women may be less likely to die from COVID 19 than men It is also currently believed that pregnant women are at no greater risk than the general population There is an urgent need to determine whether these early observations are correct Furthermore we need to be sure that pregnancy outcomes are not affected by COVID 19 and that SARS CoV 2 is not transmitted to the fetus during pregnancy or labour nor to the infant through breast milk There are so many questions that need to be answered to optimise care avoid harm reduce anxiety amongst women and their families and inform health professionals and policymakers We also need to understand the unintended consequences of the global lockdown on women's health in general For example have rates of domestic violence risen to what extent has women's mental health been affected and have women successfully adapted or devised new coping mechanisms have women been denied access to gynaecological treatments during the lockdown including safe abortion and if so with what impact on their health and wellbeing has the female work force suffered disproportionately in economic terms have national and international recommendations and policies been sufficiently gender neutral have breastfeeding rates been adversely affected will COVID 19 make attainment of the UN SDGs more difficult etc In keeping with the Scope Mission of Frontiers in Global Women's Health this Research Topic aims to provide a multi disciplinary platform to answer important COVID 19 related questions that specifically impact upon women's health and wellbeing particular in resource poor settings The Topic Editors welcome a broad range of contributions including Original Research Reviews Commentaries Study Protocols and Systematic Reviews We would like to acknowledge Dr Nathalie MacDermott and Dr Rhiannon George Carey who have acted as coordinators and have contributed to the preparation of the proposal for this Research Topic Given the exceptional nature of the COVID 19 situation Frontiers is waiving all article publishing charges for COVID 19 related research in this Research Topic Please note that manuscripts must be submitted by the deadline of December 31st
