

Human body systems

Students of gross anatomy learn about the major systems of the body.

There are 11 organ systems in the human body:

- the skeletal system
- the muscular system
- the lymphatic system
- the respiratory system
- the digestive system
- the nervous system, including the central and autonomic systems
- the endocrine system, which regulates hormone production
- the cardiovascular system, including the heart
- the urinary system
- the reproductive system
- the integumentary system, which includes the skin, hair, and nails, among other areas

These systems all work together and depend on each other to function.
