

Human Blood Cell Typing

Why do blood types matter?

Why?

An organism monitors its internal environment to stay healthy and to carry out its life functions. Recognizing when foreign cells or other potentially harmful substances are in the body is one way to prevent damage and fight off infection by pathogens. Human red blood cells have a system for being recognized so that cells that belong in the body are kept safe while cells that do not belong can be destroyed.

Model 1 – Red Blood Cells and Antibodies

	Person with Blood Type A	Person with Blood Type B	Person with Blood Type AB	Person with Blood Type O
Cell with attached antigen
Antibody produced			None
Cells in the presence of anti-A antibody
Cells in the presence of anti-B antibody

1. Blood types in the human population are characterized by the presence or absence of antigens on the surface of the red blood cells.

a. According to Model 1, how many blood types are found in the human population?
