Historic Rocks Area Of Sydney:

Transformation of Sydney's Industrial Historic Waterfront Ece Kaya, 2019-09-26 This book examines the impacts of tourism led transformations on the industrial historical waterfront at Darling Harbour and The Rocks in Sydney Australia in the context of urban restructuring and deindustrialisation The book also offers an extended reflection on the paradoxes between tourism and heritage This discussion is not a new concept However this book critically explores the significance of the industrial heritage assets of these areas and the implications of the transformation procedures Although Darling Harbour and The Rocks have generally been considered success stories of transformation with mixed touristic recreational residential and commercial activities this book examines and evaluates how industrial history and heritage values have been affected It demonstrates that tourism leisure led developments create urban landscapes in which cultural identity and historical assets are sacrificed and or reinvented

The Archaeology of Australia's History Graham Connah, 1993-12-13 The material world of European settlement in Australia has been uncovered not only by historians but also by the work of archaeologists These archaeological inquiries have revealed new pictures of the public and private lives of Australians at home and at work This book previously published as a hardback under the title Of the Hut I Built now in paperback presents the insights gained from such investigations and makes them available to a wide audience Historical archaeology is broad ranging and this book discusses the first European towns including those settlements that failed the archaeological traces left by the convicts and archaeological evidence of the agricultural maritime industrial and manufacturing activities of early Australia Graham Connah also examines the evidence of earliest contact between Europeans and Aboriginal people

The Natural History of Sydney Daniel Lunney, Pat Hutchings, Dieter Hochuli, 2009-09-01 On 3 November 2007 the Royal Zoological Society of NSW held its annual forum with the topic being The natural history of Sydney It has remained as the title of this book The program contained the following introduction as the theme of the forum and it has remained as the theme for this book Sydney has a unique natural history providing a home for iconic animals and plants while remaining a global city It captured the imagination of prominent naturalists and inspired visits and collecting trips to the infant colony of New South Wales in the late 1790s and early to late 1800s From these collections flowed great descriptive works detailing the new and unusual animals and plants of the antipodes Gould Owen Huxley Peron Banks and many others recounted new and evocative flora and fauna Many collecting trips for the great museums and institutions in Europe began in Sydney Sydney still continues to engage naturalists and those grappling with the current drama of climate change and conservation The Royal Zoological Society of New South Wales founded in Sydney in 1879 is a product of the grand 19th century tradition of natural history with a particular emphasis on animal life Sydney is also home to some of Australia's oldest and finest institutions such as the Australian Museum the University of Sydney and the Royal Botanic Gardens Throughout Sydney there are places where the natural habitat has not been supplanted by urban growth and the interest in Sydney's endemic flora and fauna remains strong This forum draws on a magnificent interdisciplinary vision while continuing to employ all the modern tools in the investigation and communication of Sydney's natural history It reflects a resurgence in local history and pursues the natural history of our harbour side city in a modern framework The day of the forum was a captivating display of the diversity of the fauna of Sydney both native and introduced and its varied habitats and of the diverse ways of appreciating natural history including the history of natural history Also on display was the depth of scholarship lying behind each of the presentations The subject clearly has a profound hold on many professional biologists historians and those keen to conserve their local area but if the day is any guide there are vastly more people living in or visiting Sydney who have more than a passing interest in this topic The subject matter ranged from the history of institutions engaged in natural history through animal groups as diverse as reptiles and cicadas to ideas on how to see Sydney as a natural setting Other papers dealt with the use by Aboriginal people of the native biota in terms of fishing and being displayed in rock paintings before the arrival of the colonists There is little doubt that this theme could run to 10 volumes not just this one but the diversity of ideas skills and organisms displayed in this one book will serve as a guide to what lies beyond these pages A considerable effort was made by each author to present their material as both interesting and accurate The material is built on lifetimes of sustained effort to study record and communicate findings and ideas It is also built on the lifetime work of our predecessors who laboured to find and record the natural history of Sydney We are indebted to their efforts This book records not only the outcome of a successful day of presentations but more importantly the lifelong scholarship of those authors in each of the specialist fields Not only have the authors been absorbed by documenting the biodiversity they have included studies or intelligent speculation on the factors which have impacted on this diversity since Cook sailed along the NSW coast in 1770 The Macquarie Dictionary e.g. the revised third edition defines natural history as the science or study dealing with all objects in nature and the aggregate of knowledge connected with such knowledge This makes natural history of wide interest to the entire community of Sydney both residents and visitors However we have specialised to the extent that we have focused principally on fauna the RZS being a zoological society Nevertheless plant communities are recognised as part and parcel of the natural history of Sydney as is a sense of the geography of the city with its magnificent harbour sandstone backdrop and spectacular national parks surrounding the city Also of great importance is how others in the past have seen the natural history of what is now called Sydney All these ideas are captured in this book One of the strengths of being a naturalist i e one who is versed in or devoted to natural history especially a zoologist or botanist Macquarie Dictionary is the opportunity to look across the individual disciplines be it a specialist in birds mammals or polychaetes a taxonomist or an ecologist or writer Their advantage is the ability to see the richness of a place such as Sydney Consequently most botanists and zoologists have one or two highly specialised skills but a keen interest in the broader picture and can thus appreciate the importance of for example cave art or fish diversity in the harbour and recognise that the vertebrate fauna of Sydney has changed over the 222 years since European settlement and no doubt the invertebrate fauna has changed although it is less easily assessed Our aim in this book is to draw attention to the natural history of Sydney for scholars as well as those who have the task of looking after a particular area such as within a local government area or a particular taxon such as reptiles or fish and those who have the opportunity to conserve areas taxa or institutions through their employment or legislative responsibilities It is also for teachers and lecturers colleagues in other cities and towns in Australia and those with a keen interest in managing our urban wildlife our cultural heritage or promoting the profound value of our natural heritage within a city landscape It also displays the importance of museum and herbarium collections in documenting the changes since 1770

Making Space Andrew MacLaran, 2014-04-04 Making Space studies the built environment by examining the private sector forces responsible for its development and the urban planning systems put in place to influence guide and manipulate its outcomes The first part provides a theoretical context for understanding the functions of the property development sector and the state's interventions through the medium of urban planning It analyses the relationship between planning and development and focuses on the increasingly widespread adoption of more pro active entrepreneurial planning agendas as a response to a growing disenchantment with traditional regulatory approaches The second part comprises case studies drawn from Australia New Zealand the USA the United Kingdom and Ireland which investigate the ways in which urban planning in different socio political contexts has influenced the outcomes of the property development process as well as the manner in which such planning systems have changed in order to enhance their influence Beautiful Accommodation in New South Wales, Australia Jennifer Lamattina, 2004 The discerning guide to beautiful places to stay in New South Wales and the ACT including B B s small hotels beach houses cottages eco retreats and apartments First Edition 2004 International Handbook of Historical Archaeology Teresita Majewski, David Gaimster, 2009-06-07 In studying the past archaeologists have focused on the material remains of our ancestors Prehistorians generally have only artifacts to study and rely on the diverse material record for their understanding of past societies and their behavior Those involved in studying historically documented cultures not only have extensive material remains but also contemporary texts images and a range of investigative technologies to enable them to build a broader and more reflexive picture of how past societies communities and individuals operated and behaved Increasingly historical archaeology refers not to a particular period place or a method but rather an approach that interrogates the tensions between artifacts and texts irrespective of context In short historical archaeology provides direct evidence for how humans have shaped the world we live in today Historical archaeology is a branch of global archaeology that has grown in the last 40 years from its North American base into an increasingly global community of archaeologists each studying their area of the world in a historical context Where historical archaeology started as part of the study of the post Columbian societies of the United States and Canada it has now expanded to interface with the post medieval archaeologies of Europe and the diverse post imperial experiences of Africa Latin America and Australasia The 36 essays in the International Handbook of Historical Archaeology have been specially commissioned from the leading researchers in their fields creating a wide ranging digest of the increasingly global field of historical archaeology The volume is divided into two sections the first reviewing the key themes issues and approaches of historical archaeology today and the second containing a series of case studies charting the development and current state of historical archaeological practice around the world This key reference work captures the energy and diversity of this global discipline today Sydney's Aboriginal Past Val Attenbrow, 2010 This second edition of Sydney s Aboriginal Past draws on the latest historical archaeological geological environmental and linguistic research as well as oral evidence of present day Aboriginal people to reveal the diversity of Aboriginal life in the Sydney region before during and for the first thirty years of British settlement History of Geomorphology and Quaternary Geology R. H. Grapes, 2008 These papers deal with various aspects of the histories of geomorphology and Quaternary geology in different parts of the world They include the origin of the term Quaternary histories of ideas and debates relating to aspects of fluvial geomorphology glacial geomorphology and glaciation desert dunes and the geology of Australia peneplains in China a palaeo Tokyo Bay in Japan together with biographies of Charles Cotton Valerija epulyt and eslovas Pakuckas that highlight their respective contributions to the disciplines of geomorphology and Quaternary geology

An Archaeology of Australia Since 1788 Susan Lawrence, Peter Davies, 2010-10-21 This volume provides an important new synthesis of archaeological work carried out in Australia on the post contact period It draws on dozens of case studies from a wide geographical and temporal span to explore the daily life of Australians in settings such as convict stations goldfields whalers camps farms pastoral estates and urban neighbourhoods The different conditions experienced by various groups of people are described in detail including rich and poor convicts and their superiors Aboriginal people women children and migrant groups The social themes of gender class ethnicity status and identity inform every chapter demonstrating that these are vital parts of human experience and cannot be separated from archaeologies of industry urbanization and culture contact The book engages with a wide range of contemporary discussions and debates within Australian history and the international discipline of historical archaeology The colonization of Australia was part of the international expansion of European hegemony in the eighteenth and nineteenth century The material discussed here is thus fundamentally part of the global processes of colonization and the creation of settler societies the industrial revolution the development of mass consumer culture and the emergence of national identities Drawing out these themes and integrating them with the analysis of archaeological materials highlights the vital relevance of archaeology in modern society
