The Living Church, 1945 Actor Networks of Planning Yvonne Rydin, Laura Tate, 2016-02-12

Planning is centrally focused on places which are significant to people, including both the built and natural environments. In making changes to these places, planning outcomes inevitably benefit some and disadvantage others. It is perhaps surprising that Actor Network Theory (ANT) has only recently been considered as an appropriate lens through which to understand planning practice. This book brings together an international range of contributors to explore such potential of ANT in more detail. While it can be thought of as a subset of complexity theory, given its appreciation for non-linear processes and responses, ANT has its roots in the sociology of scientific and technology studies. ANT now comprises a rich set of concepts that can be applied in research, theoretical, and empirical. It is a relational approach that posits a radical symmetry between social and material actors or actants. It suggests the importance of dynamic processes by which networks of relationships become formed, shift, and have effect. And while not inherently normative, ANT has the potential to strengthen other, more normative domains of planning theory through its unique analytical lens. However, this requires theoretical and empirical work, and the papers in this volume undertake such work. This is the first volume to provide a full consideration of how ANT can contribute to planning studies and suggests a research agenda for conceptual development and empirical application of the theory.

God's Master Plan for Humanity presents a collection of one woman's thoughts on being a born-again Christian for over forty years. Her life started simply; she was the fifth child of eight children born to country folks. She was raised in the beauty of nature and then married at the age of sixteen. While she admits that neither she nor her husband was prepared for marriage, it was during this time that she was born again and felt called to marriage When author Alpha was nineteen she and her sister rescued their brother from a suicide attempt through a miracle that she could only accept as God s divine intervention With Christ as her personal savior Alpha experienced the many benefits of knowing what the word of God can do if it is applied to everyday life She likens the word of God the Bible to a recipe because following His directions will make a person s life just like the picture on the box Many people don t take the time to read the Bible so Alpha has recounted through the stories included in God s Master Plan for Humanity the vital lessons of God s love The most important actions a person can take in life are accepting and understanding God s plan
