Food and Human Evolution Berman Hudson, 2021-10-01 Food has played a major role in human evolution The fact that we stand upright that we can talk that we have big brains even traits such as altruism and a sense of fairness all of these can be attributed largely to the kinds of food our ancestors ate and how they acquired it When our hominid ancestors learned to make stone weapons it enabling them to kill and butcher large animals Eating and sharing meat led to our big brains and our Machiavellian intelligence We now face a modern food related crisis About 100 years ago people began to abandon traditional diets in favor of refined pre packaged factory made foods If you list the top ten crops receiving agricultural subsidies from USDA no fruit or vegetable makes the list This book describes how the rise of industrial food production unleashed an epidemic of metabolic disease that now threatens the very future of our species America is being divided into two distinct populations an obese majority that is subject to disease and early death and a minority that remains largely free of these diseases Diet induced metabolic disease is beginning to pass directly from mothers to their children Because of this inter generational amplification an evolutionary crisis is looming This book offers a tantalizing range of information and ideas for readers interested in nutrition anthropology prehistoric studies and human evolution and food diet and human health as viewed from an overtly evolutionary perspective
