Where Are Our Boys? Martin Woods,2016-08-01 In 1914 the newspaper map or newsmap began to supply readers with the geographical backdrop to the Great War an important tool in explaining the progress of the war to the public at home Day by day for every campaign and battle readers across the nation were deluged with maps both in the pages of newspapers and pasted up in town and city streets allowing them to follow

Australian and Allied exploits Drawn from scant news cables out of date cartography and the writer's imagination a semi-fictional war story emerged of ANZAC successes and sometimes disasters Our boys were in Egypt Palestine Gallipoli Belgium Germany and France in towns and villages most Australians had never heard of Soon these places were being discussed with growing expertise over maps in homes pubs churches and clubs Those following the war at home were never allowed too close as censorship rules dictated when maps could be published Yet Where Are Our Boys is not simply about propaganda Maps in newspapers tracked the war's many campaigns and the exploits of our boys but most importantly allowed those at home to feel close to their brothers husbands fathers uncles neighbours and cousins Maps naturally became central to commemorating events people and places The war produced more maps than any time before in history giving us along the way some of the most beautiful and sometimes misleading maps ever published Where Are Our Boys tells the story of how the war was fought and won from the opening salvos in 1914 to Gallipoli and victory on the Western Front In the end though these maps were needed most to help understand the conflict and to comprehend the great human costs

The Global Japanese Restaurant James Farrer, 2023. With more than 120 000 Japanese restaurants around the world Japanese cuisine has become truly global. Through the transnational culinary mobilities of migrant entrepreneurs workers ideas and capital Japanese cuisine spread and adapted to international tastes. But this expansion is also entangled in culinary politics ranging from authenticity claims and status competition among restaurateurs and consumers to societal racism immigration policies and soft power politics that have shaped the transmission and transformation of Japanese cuisine. Such politics has involved appropriation oppression but also cooperation across ethnic lines. Ultimately the restaurant is a continually reinvented imaginary of Japan represented in concrete form to consumers by restaurateurs cooks and servers of varied nationalities and ethnicities who act as cultural intermediaries. The Global Japanese Restaurant Mobilities Imaginaries and Politics uses an innovative global perspective and rich ethnographic data on six continents to fashion a comprehensive account of the creation and reception of the global Japanese restaurant in the modern world.
