Danger on the Page Brian Shawver, 2015-03-22 Although fiction writers must concern themselves with big picture issues such as plot theme and character development much of the day to day work of writing involves finding answers to seemingly minor questions How should I describe the exterior of a house How can I construct the voice of a historical narrator with authenticity How should I depict a physically atypical character Few books on the market address the problems and opportunities present in these and other questions yet they are the ones that most writers grapple with on a daily basis Danger on the Page A Fiction Writer s Guide to Sex Violence Dead Narrators and Other Challenges identifies and explores some of the more common and intractable situational challenges of fiction writing with chapters grouped into the general subject areas such as scenes characters points of view and settings Shawver delves into the pitfalls and opportunities of writing about sex violence sports and love he examines writing from the perspective of a different race gender or species he interrogates conventional beliefs about the use of brand names the description of architecture and the portrayal of nature Throughout he gives dozens of examples from both literary and commercial fiction so readers can borrow or reject other writers techniques and explore the myriad challenges of fiction writing on their own A lively and witty approach to a diverse range of specific writing issues Shawver s book will appeal especially to intermediate level writers seeking to bring their craft to the next level Everything Love Is Claire King, 2017-05-18 I loved everything about it One of those books where you have to ration the ending Paul McVeigh Moving and gripping elegant and spare Maggie O Farrell _____ From the author of The Night Rainbow a poignant mysterious and unforgettable story of love and of the happy endings we conceive for ourselves Moored on his beloved houseboat at the edge of Toulouse Baptiste Molino helps his clients navigate the waters of contentment yet remains careful never to make waves of his own But between Sophie the young waitress in his local bar who believes it is time for Baptiste to rediscover passion and his elegant enigmatic new client Amandine Rousseau this fragile status quo is now at risk When the rising tensions on the city streets cause his mysterious past to catch up with him Baptiste finds himself torn between finally pursuing his own happiness and safeguarding that of the one he loves Childhood in the Contemporary English Novel Sandra Dinter, 2019-10-10 Since the 1980s novels about childhood for adults have been a booming genre within the contemporary British literary market Childhood in the Contemporary English Novel offers the first comprehensive study of this literary trend Assembling analyses of key works by Ian McEwan Doris Lessing P D James Nick Hornby Sarah Moss and Stephen Kelman and situating them in their cultural and political contexts Sandra Dinter uncovers both the reasons for the current popularity of such fiction and the theoretical shift that distinguishes it from earlier literary epochs The book's central argument is that the contemporary English novel draws on the constructivist paradigm shift that revolutionised the academic study of childhood several decades ago Contemporary works of fiction Dinter argues depart from the notion of childhood as a naturally given phase of life and examine the agent's interests and conflicts involved in its cultural production Dinter also considers the limits of this new theoretical impetus observing that authors and scholars alike even when they claim to conceive of childhood as a construct do not always give up on the idea of its natural core Accordingly this book reconstructs how the English novel between the 1980s and the 2010s oscillates between an acknowledgment of constructivism and an endorsement of childhood as the last irrevocable quintessence of humanity In doing so it successfully extends the literary and cultural history of childhood to the immediate present In a Land of Paper Gods Rebecca Mackenzie, 2016-01-28 Shortlisted for the Royal Society of Literature Ondaatje Prize 2017 A brilliantly distinctive debut set in China in the Second World War IN A LAND OF PAPER GODS by Rebecca Mackenzie will appeal to readers who loved Oranges Are Not The Only Fruit or The Light Between Oceans Jiangxi Province China 1941 Atop the fabled mountain of Lushan perches a boarding school for the children of British missionaries While her parents pursue their calling ten year old Henrietta S Robertson discovers that she too has been singled out by the Lord As Japanese invaders draw closer Etta and her dorm mates retreat into a world where boundaries between make believe and reality become dangerously blurred So begins a remarkable journey through a mystical landscape and to the heart of a war Transdisciplinary Perspectives on Childhood in Contemporary Britain Sandra Dinter, Ralf Schneider, 2017-11-15 In the light of the complex demographic shifts associated with late modernity and the impetus of neo liberal politics childhood continues all the more to operate as a repository for the articulation of diverse social and cultural anxieties Since the Thatcher years juvenile delinquency child poverty and protection have been persistent issues in public discourse Simultaneously childhood has advanced as a popular subject in the arts as the wealth of current films and novels in this field indicates Focusing on the late twentieth and the early twenty first centuries this collection assembles contributions concerned with current political social and cultural dimensions of childhood in the United Kingdom The individual chapters written by internationally renowned experts from the social sciences and the humanities address a broad spectrum of contemporary childhood issues including debates on child protection school dress codes the media the representation and construction of children in audiovisual media and literary awards for children s fiction Appealing to a wide scholarly audience by joining perspectives from various disciplines including art history education law film and TV studies sociology and literary studies this volume endorses a transdisciplinary and meta theoretical approach to the study of childhood It seeks to both illustrate and dismantle the various ways in which childhood has been implicitly and explicitly conceived in different disciplines in the wake of the constructivist paradigm shift in childhood studies Home
