Fear Before the Fall Alexander Herbert, 2023-01-27 Alienation generational tensions rampant nationalism and the pervasiveness of atomic danger are all topics that haunted late Soviet citizens and those fears are reflected in the films meant to represent their horror genre

In the late 1970s and throughout the 1980s production of horror movies from independent filmmakers and Hollywood skyrocketed. It was a time of intense Cold War conflict and a resurgence of conservative ideals. It's not difficult to imagine that the ascent of horror occurred in conjunction with an increasingly scary and alienated world and horror reflected those fears in the form of nuclear holocausts, toxic waste, pollution, alien clown invaders and undead houseguests. Everyone was at risk, teenagers especially because their present and future remained most uncertain. If we can agree that such feelings underpinned American viewers in the age of Reagan and neo liberalism, then what about late socialism? How did film makers depict Soviet society's fears?

Short Stories in Russian Brian James Baer, 2017-08-01 A dual language edition of Russian stories, many appearing in English for the first time. This new volume of ten short stories offers students at all levels the opportunity to enjoy a wide range of contemporary literature without constantly having to refer to a dictionary. The stories, many of which appear here in English for the first time, are by well established writers like Vladimir Sorokin, Ludmila Ulitskaya, Sergey Lukyanenko and Ludmilla Petrushevskaya, as well as emerging voices like Alexander Ilichevsky, Evgeny Grishkovets and Yulya Kisina. Drawn from the last two decades of the Soviet Union and the two decades following its collapse, they chart a period of dramatic social change, often using metaphors of the body and representing a range of literary styles that highlight the dynamism of contemporary Russian fiction. Complete with notes, the stories make excellent reading in either language. Note: For each short story in this eBook edition, the full English translation is followed by its original Russian text.

Gothic Topographies Matti Savolainen, 2016-04-22 In demonstrating the global reach of Gothic literatures, this collection takes up the influence of the Gothic mode in literatures that may be geographically remote from one another but still share related issues of language, nation building, place and race. Suggesting that there is a parallel between certain motifs and themes found in the Gothic of the North, Scandinavia, Northern Europe and Canada and South Australia, South Africa and the US South, the essays explore the transgressions and confusion of borders and limits, whether they be linguistic, literary, generic, class based, gendered or sexual. The volume includes essays on a wide diversity of authors and topics: Jan Potocki, Gustav Meyrink, William Godwin, Alan Hollinghurst, Marlene van Niekerk, John Richardson, antislavery discourse and the Gothic imagination, the Australian aboriginal Gothic.

vampires of Post Soviet Gothic society Danish Swedish and Finnish fiction and film and the Canadian female Gothic and the death drive What distinguishes this book from other collections on the Gothic is the coverage of themes and literatures that are either lacking in the mainstream research on the Gothic or are referred to only briefly in other book length studies Experts in the Gothic and those new to the field will appreciate the book's commitment to situating Gothic sensibilities in an international context

A History of European Literature Walter Cohen,2017 Walter Cohen argues that the history of European literature and each of its standard periods can be illuminated by comparative consideration of the different literary languages within Europe and by the ties of European literature to world literature World literature is marked by recurrent systematic features outcomes of the way that language and literature are at once the products of major change and its agents Cohen tracks these features from ancient times to the present distinguishing five main overlapping stages Within that framework he shows that European literature s ongoing internal and external relationships are most visible at the level of form rather than of thematic statement or mimetic representation European literature emerges from world literature before the birth of Europe during antiquity whose Classical languages are the heirs to the complex heritage of Afro Eurasia This legacy is later transmitted by Latin to the various vernaculars The uniqueness of the process lies in the gradual displacement of the learned language by the vernacular long dominated by Romance literatures That development subsequently informs the second crucial differentiating dimension of European literature the multicontinental expansion of its languages and characteristic genres especially the novel beginning in the Renaissance This expansion ultimately results in the reintegration of European literature into world literature and thus in the creation of today s global literary system The distinctiveness of European literature is to be found in these interrelated trajectories
