Precarious Liberation Franco Barchiesi, 2011-06-01 Winner of the 2012 CLR James Award presented by the Working Class Studies Association Millions of black South African workers struggled against apartheid to redeem employment and production from a history of abuse insecurity and racial despotism Almost two decades later however the prospects of a dignified life of wage earning work remain unattainable for most South Africans Through extensive archival and ethnographic research Franco Barchiesi documents and interrogates this important dilemma in the country's democratic transition economic participation has gained centrality in the government's definition of virtuous citizenship and yet for most workers employment remains an elusive and insecure experience In a context of market liberalization and persistent social and racial inequalities as jobs in South Africa become increasingly flexible fragmented and unprotected they depart from the promise of work with dignity and citizenship rights that once inspired opposition to apartheid Barchiesi traces how the employment crisis and the responses of workers to it challenge the state's normative imagination of work and raise decisive questions for the social foundations and prospects of South Africa's democratic experiment
