Space Physics and Aeronomy, Ionosphere Dynamics and Applications Chao Huang,Gang Lu,2021-05-11 A comprehensive review of global ionospheric research from the polar caps to equatorial regions It s more than a century since scientists first identified the ionosphere the layer of the Earth s upper atmosphere that is ionized by solar and cosmic radiation Our understanding of this dynamic part of the near Earth space environment has greatly advanced in recent years thanks to new observational technologies improved numerical models and powerful computing capabilities Ionosphere Dynamics and Applications provides a comprehensive overview of historic developments recent advances and future directions in ionospheric research Volume highlights include Behavior of the ionosphere in different regions from the poles to the equator Distinct characteristics of the high mid and low latitude ionosphere Observational results from ground and space based instruments Ionospheric impacts on radio signals and satellite operations How earthquakes and tsunamis on Earth cause disturbances in the ionosphere The American Geophysical Union promotes discovery in Earth and space science for the benefit of humanity Its publications disseminate scientific knowledge and provide resources for researchers students and professionals Find out more about the Space Physics and Aeronomy collection in this Q A with the Editors in Chief

Production, Properties, and Applications of High Temperature Coatings Pakseresht, Amir Hossein,2018-01-12 Heat resistant layers are meant to withstand high temperatures while also protecting against all types of corrosion and oxidation Therefore the micro structure and behavior of such layers is essential in understanding the functionality of these materials in order to make improvements Production Properties and Applications of High Temperature Coatings is a critical academic publication which examines the methods of creation characteristics and behavior of materials used in heat resistant layers Featuring coverage on a wide range of topics such as thermal spray methods sol gel coatings and surface nanoengineering this book is geared toward students academicians engineers and researchers seeking relevant research on the methodology and materials for producing effective heat resistant layers Peptides and Peptide-based Biomaterials and their Biomedical Applications Anwar Sunna,Andrew Care,Peter L. Bergquist,2017-10-26 Solid binding peptides have been used increasingly as molecular building blocks in nanobiotechnology as they can direct the assembly and functionalisation of a diverse range of materials and have the ability to regulate the synthesis of nanoparticles and complex nanostructures Nanostructured materials such as sheet fibril forming peptides and helical coiled coil systems have displayed many useful properties including stimulus responsiveness modularity and multi functionality providing potential technological applications in tissue engineering antimicrobials drug delivery and nanoscale electronics The current situation with respect to self assembling peptides and bioactive matrices for regenerative medicine are reviewed as well as peptide target modeling and an examination of future prospects for peptides in these areas Danger in Police Culture Gráinne Perkins,2023-12-11 Through ethnographic research in South Africa this book explores the lived experiences of police navigating danger and death Folded Synthetic Peptides for Biomedical Applications Alessandro Contini, Jutta Eichler, 2019-09-26 Folded peptides and peptide motifs within proteins are abundant in living organisms where they are essential for the biological activities of the peptides and proteins. During the past decades much research has been dedicated to understanding the rules that govern peptide folding. Simultaneously a range of strategies have been established for the conformational stabilization of bioactive peptides as well as for the de novo design of peptides with defined secondary structures. These methods are either based on the chemical modification of the peptide backbone such as cyclization and stapled peptides or on the use of a range of non proteinogenic amino acids that in a defined sequential arrangement induce secondary structures. Such building blocks include D and other non proteinogenic amino acids as well as beta and gamma amino acids. This Research Topic comprises a collection of papers by an international group of 77 scientists with a background in synthetic analytical, computational and medicinal chemistry as well as in biochemistry and pharmacology. Their research is presented here in a total of 11 papers: 8 original research reports and 3 reviews covering diverse aspects of folded synthetic peptides. These studies include the preparation and characterization of new peptide monomers with interesting folding properties, the synthesis and conformational analysis of non natural peptides as well as the use of folded peptidomimetics as molecular switches. Additionally a range of biomedical applications such as antimicrobial, anti-inflammatory, anti-angiogenic and immune stimulating activities are also reported. We hope this eBook will be a source of inspiration and knowledge for scientists in various disciplines related to folded peptides and their many applications as well as for those who want to learn more about this fascinating field of research.

EU Agricultural Law and Policy Joseph A. McMahon, 2019 Following an introductory discussion of the Treaty provisions on agriculture this illuminating work examines the four regulations that currently govern the Common Agricultural Policy in the areas of Direct Payments, Rural Development Finance and the Common Organisation of the markets and considers their interpretation by the European Courts. It concludes with an astute assessment of the proposals for further reform which will give Member States greater discretion in fine tuning the principles of the policy established at European level to the particular characteristics of their agricultural sector.

Policing and Boundaries in a Violent Society Guy Lamb, 2022-01-31 This book explores how social and territorial boundaries have influenced the approaches and practices of the South Africa Police Service SAPS By means of a historical analysis of South Africa this book introduces a new concept police frontierism which illuminates the nature of the relationships between the police policing and boundaries and can potentially be used for future case study research Drawing on a wealth of research this book examines how social and territorial boundaries strongly influenced police practices and behaviour in South Africa and how social delineations amplify and distort existing police prejudices against those communities on the other side of the boundary Focusing on cases of high density police operations public order policing and the recent policing of the COVID 19 lockdown

this book argues that poor economic conditions combined with an increased militarisation of the SAPS and a decline in public trust in the police will result in boundaries continuing to fundamentally inform police work in South Africa This book will be of interest to scholars and students interested in policing in post colonial societies characterised by high levels of violence as well as police work and police militarization

Police Work and Identity Andrew Faull,2017-09-07

This is a book about the men and women who police contemporary South Africa Drawing on rich original ethnographical data it considers how officers make sense of their jobs and how they find meaning in their duties It demonstrates that the dynamics that lead to police abuses and scandals in transitional and neo liberalising regimes such as South Africa can be traced to the day to day experiences and ambitions of the average police officer It is about the stories they tell themselves about themselves and their social worlds and how these shape the order they produce through their work By focusing on police officers this book positions the individual in primacy over the organisation asking what policing looks like when motivated by the pursuit of ontological security in precarious contexts It acknowledges but downplays the importance of police culture in determining officers attitudes and behaviour and reminds readers that most officers lives are entangled in and shaped by a range of social political and cultural forces It suggests that a job in the South African Police Service SAPS is primarily just that a job Most officers join the organisation after other dreams have slipped beyond reach their presence in the Service being almost accidental But once employed they re write their self narratives and enact carefully choreographed performances to ease managerial and public pressure and to rationalize their coercive practices In an era where evidence and what works reigns supreme and where cop culture is often deemed a primary socializing force this book emphasises how officers personal histories ambitions and vulnerabilities remain central to how policing unfolds on the street

Afterimages of Apartheid

Kylie Thomas,2025-10-29 Afterimages of Apartheid shows how photographs of the past can be mobilised as a critical tool for understanding the ongoing effects of apartheid in contemporary South Africa Through close readings of significant images made during and after apartheid the book shows how photography works as a means of documentation commemoration and resistance Written by one of South Africa s leading scholars of visual history the book considers the ways in which photographs can be used to contest impunity for state violence Afterimages includes chapters on the Sharpeville and Marikana massacres on the re opening of cases of human rights violations that remain unresolved in the aftermath of the South African Truth and Reconciliation Commission and on contemporary protests against the post apartheid state The book makes a powerful case for the role of photographs in drawing the viewer into the past time they represent issuing a call to the living to remember respond and react This vivid account of the photography of apartheid will be of interest to students and researchers across the fields of South African history visual studies memory studies art history photography studies and transitional justice
