The American Encyclopaedic Dictionary ,1897 The Encyclopaedic Dictionary Robert Hunter,1896 Hollywood TV Christopher Anderson,1994 The 1950s was one of the most turbulent periods in the history of motion pictures and television During the decade as Hollywood s most powerful studios and independent producers shifted into TV production TV replaced film as America s principal postwar culture industry This pioneering study offers the first thorough exploration of the movie industry s shaping role in the development of television and its narrative forms Drawing on the archives of Warner Bros and David O Selznick Productions and on interviews with participants in both industries Christopher Anderson demonstrates how the episodic telefilm series a clear descendant of the feature film became and has remained the dominant narrative form in prime time TV This research suggests that the postwar motion picture industry was less an empire on the verge of ruin as common wisdom has it than one struggling under unsettling conditions to redefine its frontiers Beyond the obvious contribution to film and television studies these findings add an important chapter to the study of American popular culture of the postwar period Ski ,1985-10 Mexico ,2008
