Sims, 2015-03-26 With the Civil Rights movement of the sixties fresh in their perspective movie producers of the early 1970s began to make films aimed toward the underserved African American audience Over the next five years or so a number of cheaply made so called blaxploitation movies featured African American actresses in roles which broke traditional molds Typically long on flash and violence but lacking in character depth and development this genre nonetheless did a great deal toward redefining the perception of African American actresses breaking traditional African American female stereotypes and laying the groundwork for later feminine action heroines This critical study examines the ways in which the blaxploitation heroines of the early 1970s reshaped the presentation of African American actresses on screen and to a certain degree the perception of African American females in general It discusses the social political and cultural context in which blaxploitation films emerged The work focuses on four African American actresses Pam Grier Tamara Dobson Teresa Graves and Jeanne Belle providing critical and audience response to their films as well as insight into the perspectives of the actresses themselves The eventual demise of the blaxploitation genre due to formulaic plots and lack of character development is also discussed Finally the work addresses the mainstreaming of the action heroine in general and a recent resurgence of interest in black action movies Relevant film stills and a selected filmography including cast list and plot synopsis are also included

TUCKER, 2006-04-17 People have dreamed of returning to their youth to correct their errors and naiveté Dr Frank Dodd acquired that chance but for a different reason He and his wife Dr Beverly Dodd are retired professors from a small north Florida College They had just started enjoying retirement when they found Beverly had inoperable cancer and would soon die Frank bemoaned the fact he hadn't insisted on Beverly seeing a doctor a year earlier when she could have been cured While in a chat room two fellow scientists heard Frank discuss his regrets at not getting his wife help in time and how he wished he could go back in time to court and marry her again only this time get her to the doctors in time to be cured The two scientists have been doing experiments in time travel and knowledge transfer between brains Frank agreed to be used as a guinea pig to be sent back to the time of his youth and to implant his knowledge into himself as a boy He arrives in 1941 with computers and other modern equipment to sell to the government and industry and invest the proceeds for the benefit of all three while living his life over striving to have the same experiences and doing the same things from his former youth but this time avoiding the mistakes of his former life The dilemma occurs when he falls in love with a woman he meets in this new life Should he remain single and wait for 15 years to meet and court his wife again or marry the one he falls in love with during his present time
