

The background of the book cover is a misty, atmospheric forest. Tall, thin trees with bare branches are visible through a thick fog. The ground is covered in a layer of snow or frost. In the lower center, a person is seen from behind, walking away from the viewer down a path. The person is wearing a dark coat. To the right of the person, there are some trees with orange and red leaves, suggesting autumn. The overall color palette is muted, with greys, blues, and whites for the mist and trees, and some warm tones from the autumn leaves.

Owen has given up her day job and resigned herself to a life of playground moms and soiled clothing until the day she runs into Claire Masterson. Claire was the girl at school Maggie always wanted to be and surprise surprise it's as if nothing has changed. Claire still has everything and Maggie's life as the mother of two young boys is utter chaos. But when it seems that Claire knows a little too much about Maggie's boyfriend Jake, Maggie starts thinking the unthinkable and the lengths to which she goes to uncover the truth and regain her confidence throw her life and her relationship with Jake for a loop. Funny, smart, and self-deprecating, this propulsive novel questions what our choices mean and whether we ever actually grow up.
