Jassy By Norah Lofts:

Jassy Norah Lofts,2001-10 She was the daughter of a preacher and a gypsy A strange and elusive child with powers of prophecy she grew into an even stranger woman From those around her she inspired love and admiration or furious hatred Nothing in between And somehow Jassy could transform even those who loved her into her enemies Barney Hatton the dispossessed heir of Mortiboys loved her but not enough Lindy a servant girl who worked there loved her too much Elizabeth Twysdale who taught Jassy her lessons hated her more with every passing day And because of the people around her the people who loved or loathed her Jassy s life was destined to be one of passion and anguish Jassy Norah Lofts,1975-09-01

(Re)Possessing Beauty: Politics, Poetics, Change Sallie McNamara,2019-01-04 This volume was first published by Inter Disciplinary Press in 2014 Ideas of beauty permeate our lives in ways of which we are often unaware yet they are indicators of identity transgression sartorial codes and otherness While contemporary society sees the dominance of Western hegemonic ideals of beauty when comparing these to ideals in different cultures at different historical periods attention is drawn to the instability of beauty The work in this volume considers the ways individuals question respond to articulate reflect challenge modify or accept beauty within their lives to show it can be powerful destructive and transformative They show that beauty is not always what it appears and can challenge common sense preconceptions as to what is beautiful The range of topics provide an important contribution to ongoing discussions and are testament to both the diversity and complexity of debate the concept engenders across different disciplines Women's Writing, Englishness and National and Cultural Identity M. Joannou,2012-07-17 An original mapping of women s writing in the 1940s and 1950s this book looks at

Englishness and national identity in women s writing and includes writing from Scotland Wales Ireland the Indian subcontinent and Africa The authors discussed include Virginia Woolf Daphne Du Maurier Doris Lessing and Muriel Spark

The Literary Filmography Leonard Mustazza,2006-05-17 From the very infancy of the film industry filmmakers have relied heavily upon literature as the foundation for their movie material Well known literary works such as Dickens s A Christmas Carol and Hawthorne s The Scarlet Letter were adapted to film in the silent era as were such books as Thomas Dixon s Jr s The Klansman basis for the film Birth of a Nation In recent years Nick Hornsby s About a Boy and each of Helen Fielding s Bridget Jones s Diary novels were the basis for popular movies bearing the same names A guide to English language works that have been adapted as theatrical and television films this volume includes books both fiction and non fiction short stories newspaper and magazine articles and poems Entries are arranged alphabetically by literary title with cross listings for films made under different titles Each entry includes the original work s title author year of first publication literary prizes and a brief plot summary Information on film adaptation s of the work including adaptation titles director screenwriter principal cast and the names of the characters they portray major awards and availability in the most common

Wallace,2004-11-19 The historical novel has been one of the most important forms of women s reading and writing in the twentieth century yet it has been consistently under rated and critically neglected In the first major study of British women writers use of the genre Diana Wallace tracks its development across the century She combines a comprehensive survey with detailed readings of key writers including Naomi Mitchison Georgette Heyer Sylvia Townsend Warner Margaret Irwin Jean Plaidy Mary Renault Philippa Gregory and Pat Barker Realism and Tinsel Robert Murphy,2003-09-02 First published in 1992 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company

British Genres Marcia Landy,2014-07-14 In this unprecedented survey of British cinema from the 1930s to the New Wave of the 1960s Marcia Landy explores how cinematic representation and social history converge Landy focuses on the genre film a product of British mass culture often dismissed by critics as unrealistic showing that in England such cinema subtly dramatized unresolved cultural conflicts and was in fact more popular than critics have claimed Her discussion covers hundreds of works including historical films films of empire war films melodrama comedy science fiction horror and social problem films and reveals their relation to changing attitudes toward class race national identity sexuality and gender Landy begins by describing the status and value of genre theory then provides a history of British film production that illuminates the politics and personalities connected with the major studios In vivid accounts of the films within each genre she analyzes styles codes and conventions to show how the films negotiate history fantasy and lived experience Throughout Landy creates a dynamic sense of genre and of how the genres shape not merely reflect cultural conflicts Originally published in 1991 The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print on demand technology to again make available previously out of print books from the distinguished backlist of Princeton University Press These editions preserve the original texts of these important books while presenting them in durable paperback and hardcover editions The goal of the Princeton Legacy Library is to vastly increase access to the rich scholarly heritage found in the thousands of books published by Princeton University Press since its founding in 1905 Four from the forties

Brian McFarlane,2018-09-14 The Gainsborough melodramas were a mainstay of 1940s British cinema and helped make the careers of such stars as Margaret Lockwood James Mason and Stewart Granger But what was unique about these films And who were the directors behind them This book presents four key filmmakers each with his own talents and specialities It traces their professional lives through the highs of the 1940s when the popularity of Gainsborough films was at its peak to the tougher decades that followed the genre s decline Featuring expert analysis of such films as The Man in Grey 1943 Madonna of the Seven Moons 1945 and The Upturned Glass 1947 alongside valuable historical context the book constitutes the first extended examination of this group of directors It combines critical acumen with readability making it a valuable resource for students lecturers and general readers alike Films and British National Identity Jeffrey Richards,1997-09-15

This book seeks to examine the ways in which the cinema has defined mythified and disseminated British national identity

during the course of the twentieth century It takes the form of a series of linked essays which examine chronologically thematically and by specific case studies of films stars and genres the complexities and ambiguities in the process of evolution and definition of the national identity It argues for the creation of a distinctive British national identity both in cinema and the wider culture But it also assesses the creation of alternative identities both ethnic and regional and examines the interaction of cinema and other cultural forms music literature and television

The Historical Film Marcia Landy, 2001-01-01 This aims to show how media critics and historians have written about history as portrayed in cinema and television by historical films and documentaries focusing on what it means to read films historically and the colonial experience as shown in post colonial film
