Journey Into The Whirlwind By Evgenia Ginzburg:

Journey Into the Whirlwind Evgenii Ginzburg, 1975 Eugenia Ginzburg's memoir of her imprisonment during the era of Stalin's purges is divided into two parts. Part One details her arrest trial and two years of solitary confinement. Wall Tappings Judith A. Scheffler, 2002 Groundbreaking historical and international anthology of women's prison writings. "A Mind Purified by Suffering" Olga M. Cooke, 2024-02-20 A Mind Purified by Suffering Evgenia Ginzburg's Whirlwind Memoirs represents the first book on one of Russia's most important classics of Gulag literature. Ginzburg's memoirs of her eighteen-year ordeal through Stalinist concentration camps. Journey into the Whirlwind and Within the Whirlwind place her in the company of Russian writers such as Alexander Solzhenitsyn and Varlam Shalamov. The contributors address Ginzburg's Gulag experience through various vantage points covering such topics as memory trauma, motherhood, love, survival strategies, and metafictional structures. The volume also provides a history of prison camp writings capped with her biography, analysis of her correspondence with her son Vasily Aksenov, and an interview with him. Into the Whirlwind Evgenii Ginzburg, Rodric Braithwaite, 2014-04 Eugenia Ginzburg, a model communist, was a teacher, journalist. This first volume of her autobiography gives an account of how in 1937 she was expelled from the Party and arrested, having been accused of being part of a secret terrorist organization. Women's Activism in Contemporary Russia Linda Racioppi, Katherine O'Sullivan See, 1997 They also examine the dynamics among these women's groups in Russia and reveal how the personal life histories of the activists reflect the ways women have responded to the changing political, economic, and social landscape in the former Soviet Union. A History of Russian Literature Andrew Kahn, Mark Naumovich Lipovetskiĭ, Irina Reyfman, Stephanie Sandler, 2018 Russia possesses one of the richest and most admired literatures of Europe, reaching back to the eleventh century. A History of Russian Literature provides a comprehensive account of Russian writing from its earliest origins in the monastic works of Kiev up to the present day, still rife with the creative experiments of post-Soviet literary life. The volume proceeds chronologically in five parts, extending from Kievan Rus in the 11th century to the present day. The coverage strikes a balance between extensive overview and in-depth thematic focus. Parts are organized thematically in chapters which a number of keywords that are important literary concepts that can serve as connecting motifs and case studies in depth discussions of writers, institutions, and texts that take the reader up close and personal. Visual material also underscores the interrelation of the word and image at a number of points, particularly significant in the medieval period and twentieth century. The History addresses major continuities and discontinuities in the history of Russian literature across all periods and in particular brings out trans-historical features that contribute to the notion of a national literature. The volume's time range has the merit of identifying from the early modern period a vital set of national stereotypes and popular folklore about boundaries, space, Holy Russia, and the charismatic king that offers culturally relevant material to later writers. This volume delivers a fresh view on a series of key questions about Russia's literary history by providing new mappings of literary history.

and a narrative that pursues key concepts rather more than individual authorial careers This holistic narrative underscores the ways in which context and text are densely woven in Russian literature and demonstrates that the most exciting way to understand the canon and the development of tradition is through a discussion of the interrelation of major and minor figures historical events and literary politics literary theory and literary innovation Moscow, the Fourth Rome Katerina Clark, 2011-11-15 In the early sixteenth century the monk Filofei proclaimed Moscow the Third Rome By the 1930s intellectuals and artists all over the world thought of Moscow as a mecca of secular enlightenment In Moscow the Fourth Rome Katerina Clark shows how Soviet officials and intellectuals in seeking to capture the imagination of leftist and anti fascist intellectuals throughout the world sought to establish their capital as the cosmopolitan center of a post Christian confederation and to rebuild it to become a beacon for the rest of the world Clark provides an interpretative cultural history of the city during the crucial 1930s the decade of the Great Purge She draws on the work of intellectuals such as Sergei Eisenstein Sergei Tretyakov Mikhail Koltsov and Ilya Ehrenburg to shed light on the singular Zeitgeist of that most Stalinist of periods In her account the decade emerges as an important moment in the prehistory of key concepts in literary and cultural studies today transnationalism cosmopolitanism and world literature By bringing to light neglected antecedents she provides a new polemical and political context for understanding canonical works of writers such as Brecht Benjamin Lukacs and Bakhtin Moscow the Fourth Rome breaches the intellectual iron curtain that has circumscribed cultural histories of Stalinist Russia by broadening the framework to include considerable interaction with Western intellectuals and trends Its integration of the understudied international dimension into the interpretation of Soviet culture remedies misunderstandings of the world historical significance of Moscow under Stalin Silence Was Salvation Cathy A. Frierson, 2015-01-27 Roughly ten million children were victims of political repression in the Soviet Union during the Stalinist era the sons and daughters of peasants workers scientists physicians and political leaders considered by the regime to be dangerous to the political order Ten grown victims who as children suffered banishment starvation disease anti Semitism and trauma resulting from their parents condemnation and arrest now freely share their stories The result is a powerful and moving oral history that will profoundly deepen the reader's understanding of life in the U S S R under the despotic reign of Joseph Stalin I Want to Live Nina Lugovskaia, Nina Lugovskaya, 2008 Does that boy like me Why are my sisters so mean Does anyone think I'm pretty Will my father be arrested These were the everyday concerns of thirteen year old Moscow schoolgirl Nina Lugovskaya who began to write a diary in 1932 Her indignant outbursts against the brutal raids and purges of Stalin's terror appear alongside the more typical adolescent worries about girlfriends boys parties and homework For five years Nina scribbled down her most intimate thoughts and dreams including her ambition one day to become a writer Then in 1937 the NKVD Stalin's secret police ransacked Nina's home and discovered her diary Nina's criticism of the regime provided sufficient evidence for the charge of treason and she her mother and two sisters were sentenced to five years hard labour in the Gulag followed by seven years exile in Siberia Recently Nina's diary was discovered in the KGB archives complete with the original passages underlined by the secret police Like Anne Frank's diary this journal poignantly reveals life at a time of political upheaval betrayal and repression through the eyes of an innocent
