Philosophy in the Bedroom is a work by Marquis de Sade relatively light compared to his other works such as The 120 Days of Sodom for example Here the libertine Marquis even indulges in philosophizing about issues like religion and customs amidst one orgy and another But let the reader not be mistaken when it comes to Sade even the slightest is shocking In Philosophy in the Bedroom Madame de Saint Ange requests a certain banker to send his 15 year old daughter to her house for a few days so that she can be initiated into the world of libertinism and what follows are the theoretical and practical lessons taught by a select and devoted group of libertines

Harm's Way Sandra Macpherson, 2010-01-18 A field defining study of the novel as a tragic form Sandra Macpherson's groundbreaking study of the rise of the novel connects its form to developments in liability law across the seventeenth to nineteenth centuries In particular Macpherson argues for a connection to legal principles of strict liability that hold persons accountable for harms inflicted upon others in the absence of intention consent direct action or foreknowledge In convincing polemical readings of Defoe Richardson and Fielding she shows that these laws share with the novel the view that the state of a person's mind is irrelevant to the question of her responsibility for her actions Macpherson urges readers to rethink the ancient consensus that the novel differs from tragedy in its elevation of character over plot She concludes that the realist novel is ultimately a tragic form committed to holding persons accountable for accidents of fate Macpherson's original insights continue to have a broad and lasting impact on the study of the novel Philosophy in the Boudoir marquis de Sade, 2005-02 Family Romance of the French

Revolution Lynn Hunt, 2013-07-04 This latest work from an author known for her contributions to the new cultural history is a daring multidisciplinary investigation of the imaginative foundations of modern politics Hunt uses the term Family Romance coined by Freud to describe the fantasy of being freed from one's family and belonging to one of higher social standing in a broader sense to describe the images of the familial order that structured the collective political unconscious In a wide ranging account that uses novels engravings paintings speeches newspaper editorials pornographic writing and revolutionary legislation about the family Hunt shows that the politics of the French Revolution were experienced through the network of the family romance The End(s) of Community Joshua Ben David Nichols, 2013-09-03 This book stems from an examination of how Western philosophy has accounted for the foundations of law In this tradition the character of the sovereign or lawgiver has provided the solution to this problem But how does the sovereign acquire the right to found law As soon as we ask this question we are immediately confronted with a convoluted combination of jurisprudence and theology The author begins by tracing a lengthy and deeply nuanced exchange between Derrida and Nancy on the question of community and fraternity and then moves on to engage with a diverse set of texts from the Marquis de Sade Saint Augustine Kant Hegel and Kafka These texts which range from the canonical to the apocryphal all struggle in their own manner with the question of the foundations of law Each offers a path to the law If a reader accepts any path as it is and follows without question the law is set and determined and the possibility of dialogue is closed The aim of this book is to approach the foundations of law from a series of different angles so that we can begin to see that those foundations are always in question and open to the possibility of dialogue The New Economic Criticism Martha Woodmansee, Mark Osteen, 2005-10-09 This is a pathbreaking work which develops a new form of economic analysis This collection brings together 27 essays by influential literary and cultural historians as well as representatives of the vanguard of postmodernist economics Scottish Women's Gothic and Fantastic Writing Monica Germana, 2010-09-16 Monica Germana considers four thematic areas of the supernatural quests dangerous women doubles and ghosts each explored in one of the four main chapters Being the first critical work to bring together contemporary women's writing and the Scottish fantasy tradition the volume pioneers in depth investigation of some previously neglected texts such as Ali Smith's Hotel World Alice Thompson's Justine Margaret Elphinstone's longer fiction as well as offering new readings of more popular texts including A L Kennedy's So I am glad Emma Tennant's The Bad Sister and Two Women of London Underlying the broad scope of this survey are the links both explicit and implicit established between the examined texts and the Scottish supernatural tradition Having established a connection with a distinctively Scottish canon Monica Germana points to the ways in which the selected texts simultaneously break from past traditions and reveal points of departure through their exploration of otherness as well as their engagement with feminist and postmodernist discourses in relation to the questions of identity and the interrogation of the real Sade John Phillips, 2001-06-20 A fine addition to Sadean studies Ga tan Brulotte Professor of French University of South Florida This is a lively and accessible introduction to the Marquis de Sade's four most notorious novels 120 Days of Sodom Philosophy in the Boudoir Justine and Juliette Informed by a wide range of contemporary theories John Phillips's controversial study challenges conventional perspectives on the notorious pornographer and suggests new ways of reading his most shocking narratives Setting all four novels in their historical and biographical context Phillips provides a comprehensive and highly readable analysis of works that have exercised an enormous influence on literature art and cinema in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries Clearly written and accessible to the general reader this study provides an indispensable guide to the creative achievements of the libertine's libertine Metaphors of Confinement Monika Fludernik, 2019 Metaphors of Confinement The Prison in Fact Fiction and Fantasy offers a historical survey of imaginings of the prison as expressed in carceral metaphors in a range of texts about imprisonment from Antiquity to the present as well as non penal situations described as confining or restrictive These imaginings coalesce into a carceral imaginary that determines the way we think about prisons just as social debates about punishment and criminals feed into the way carceral imaginary develops over time Examining not only English language prose fiction but also poetry and drama from the Middle Ages to postcolonial particularly African literature the book juxtaposes literary and non literary contexts and contrasts fictional and nonfictional representations of imprisonment and discussions about the prison as institution and experiential reality It comments on present day trends of punitivity and foregrounds the ethical dimensions of penal punishment The main argument concerns the continuity of carceral metaphors through the centuries despite historical developments that included major shifts in policy such as the invention of the penitentiary The study looks at selected carceral metaphors often from two complementary perspectives such as the home as prison or the prison as home or the factory as prison and the prison as factory The case studies present particularly relevant genres and texts that employ these metaphors often from a historical perspective that analyses development through different periods The English Novel, Vol I Richard W.F. Kroll, 2014-07-21 The English Novel Volume I 1700 to Fielding collects a series of previously published essays on the early eighteenth century novel in a single volume reflecting the proliferation of theoretical approaches since the 1970s The novel has been the object of some of the most exciting and important critical speculations and the eighteenth century novel has been at the centre of new approaches both to the novel and to the period between 1700 and 1750 Richard Kroll's introduction seeks to frame the contributions by reference to the most significant critical discussions These include the question of whether and how we can talk about the rise of the novel the vexed question of what might constitute a novel the relationship between the novel and possibly competing genres such as history or the romance the relationship between early male writers like Defoe and popular novels by women in the early eighteenth century the general ideological role played by novels relative to eighteenth century culture are they means of ideological conscription or liberation poststructuralist analyses of identity and gender and the emergence of sentimental and domestic codes after Richardson Since the modern European novel is often thought to have been formed in this period these debates have clear implications for students of the novel in general as well as for those interested in the early enlightenment Headnotes place each essay within the map of these wider concerns and the volume offers a useful further reading list Taken as a whole this collection encapsulates the state of criticism at the present moment Lautréamont and Sade Maurice Blanchot, 2004 In this book Blanchot forcefully distinguishes his critical project from the major intellectual currents of his day surrealism and existentialism
