Lust, Caution Ailing Zhang, 2007-12-06 In 1940s Shanghai Jiazhi's mission is to seduce an employee of the occupying government and lead him to the assassin's bullet But she begins to wonder if she can coldly take Mr Yi to his death A tale of espionage and love accompanied by four further short stories From Eileen Chang to Ang Lee Peng Hsiao-yen, Whitney Crothers Dilley, 2014-01-10 In 2007 Ang Lee made an espionage thriller based on the short story Lust Caution by Eileen Chang China's most famous female author of the twentieth century The release of the film became a trigger for heated debates on issues of national identity and political loyalty and brought unexpectedly harsh criticism from China where Ang Lee was labelled a traitor in scathing internet critiques whilst the film's leading actress Tang Wei was banned from appearing on screen for two years This book analyses Ang Lee's art of film adaptation through the lens of modern literary and film theory as well as featuring detailed readings and analyses of different dialogues and scenes directorial and authorial decisions and intentions while at the same time confronting the intense political debates resulting from the film's subject matter The theories of Freud Lacan Deleuze Bataille and others are used to identify and clarify issues raised by the film related to gender sexuality eroticism power manipulation and betrayal the themes of lust and caution are dealt with in conjunction with the controversial issues of contemporary political consciousness concerning patriotism and the Sino Japanese War complicated by divided historical experiences and cross Taiwan Strait relationships The contributors to this volume cover translation and adaptation loyalty and betrayal collaboration and manipulation playing roles and performativity whilst at the same time intertwining these with issues of national identity political loyalty collective memory and gender As such the book will appeal to students and scholars of Chinese and Asian cinema and literature as well as those interested in modern Chinese history and cultural studies

Eileen Chang Kam Louie, 2012-03-01 Eileen Chang 1920 1995 is arguably the most perceptive writer in modern Chinese literature She was one of the most popular writers in 1940s Shanghai but her insistence on writing about individual human relationships and mundane matters rather than revolutionary and political movements meant that in mainland China she was neglected until very recently Outside the mainland her life and writings never ceased to fascinate Chinese readers There are hundreds of works about her in the Chinese language but very few in other languages This is the first work in English to explore her earliest short stories as well as novels that were published posthumously It discusses the translation of her stories for film and stage presentation as well as nonliterary aspects of her life that are essential for a more comprehensive understanding of her writings including her intense concern for privacy and enduring sensitivity to her public image The thirteen essays examine the fidelity and betrayals that dominate her alter ego s relationships with parents and lovers informed by theories and methodologies from a range of disciplines including literary historical gender and film studies These relationships are frequently dramatized in plays and filmic translations of her work

Eileen Chang: The Performativity of Self-Translation Jessica Tsui-yan Li, 2025-06-16 Eileen Chang The Performativity of Self Translation by Jessica Tsui-yan Li focuses on the self translation of Zhang Ailing Eileen Chang 1920 1995 one of the most important Chinese writers of the twentieth century Although self translation is overlooked in most studies of her work Chang s literary achievements are attributed in part to her lifelong self translation of her lived experiences and family sagas as well as her bilingualism This book enriches current studies of self translation by proposing a new hypothesis of theorizing self translation as a performative act characterized by its in betweenness and the aesthetic freedom that the self translator enjoys contextualized within larger debates about translation and the specific practice of self translation in Chinese history in comparison to its Western counterpart Lust, Caution Ailing Zhang, 2007-12-06 In 1940s Shanghai Jiazi s mission is to seduce an employee of the occupying government and lead him to the assassin s bullet But she begins to wonder if she can coldly take Mr Yi to his death A tale of espionage and love accompanied by four further short stories

Cosmopolitan Love Sijia Yao, 2023-11-09 Love and the different manifestations of it is a common theme in literature around the world In Cosmopolitan Love Sijia Yao examines the writings of D H Lawrence a British writer whose literature focused primarily on interpersonal relationships in domestic settings and Eileen Chang a Chinese writer who migrated to the United States and explored Chinese heterosexual love in her writing While comparing the writings of a Chinese writer and an English one Yao avoids a direct comparison between East and West that could further enforce binaries Instead she uses the comparison to develop an idea of cosmopolitanism that shows how the writers are in conversation with their own culture and with each other Both D H Lawrence and Eileen Chang wrote stories that are influenced by but sometimes stand in opposition to their own cultures They offer alternative understandings of societies dealing with modernism and cultural globalization Their stories deal with emotional pain caused by the restrictions of local politics and economics and address common themes of incestuous love sexual love adulterous love and utopian love By analyzing their writing Yao demonstrates that the concept of love as a social and political force can cross cultural boundaries and traditions to become a basis for human meaning the key to a cosmopolitan vision Diasporic Chineseness After the Rise of China Kam Louie, Julia Kuehn, David M. Kalliney,2024-12-10 How decolonization and the cold war influenced literature from Africa Asia and the Caribbean How did superpower competition and the cold war affect writers in the decolonizing world In The Aesthetic Cold War Peter Kalliney explores the various ways that rival states used cultural diplomacy and the political police to influence writers In response many writers from Africa Asia and the Caribbean such as Chinua Achebe Mulk Raj Anand Eileen Chang C L R James Alex La Guma Doris Lessing Ng g wa Thiong o and Wole Soyinka carved out a vibrant conceptual space of aesthetic nonalignment imagining a different and freer future for their work Kalliney looks at how the United States and the Soviet Union in an effort to court writers funded international conferences arts centers book and magazine publishing literary prizes and radio programming International spy networks however subjected these same writers to surveillance and intimidation by tracking their movements tapping their phones reading their mail and censoring or banning their work Writers from the global south also suffered travel restrictions deportations imprisonment and even death at the hands of government agents Although conventional wisdom suggests that cold war pressures stunted the development of postcolonial literature Kalliney s extensive archival research shows that evenly balanced superpower competition allowed savvy writers to accept patronage without pledging loyalty to specific political blocs Likewise writers exploited rivalries and the emerging discourse of human rights to contest the attentions of the political police A revisionist account of superpower involvement in literature The Aesthetic Cold War considers how politics shaped literary production in the twentieth century Close-ups and Long Shots in Modern Chinese Cinemas Hsiu-Chuang Deppman,2020-10-31 Two of the most stylized shots in cinema the close up and the long shot embody distinct attractions The iconicity of the close up magnifies the affective power of faces and elevates film to the discourse of art The depth of the long shot in contrast indexes the facts of life and reinforces our faith in reality Each configures the relation between image and distance that expands the viewer s power to see feel and conceive To understand why a director prefers one type of shot over the other then is to explore more than aesthetics It uncovers significant assumptions about film as an art of intervention or organic representation Close ups and Long Shots in Modern Chinese Cinemas is the first book to compare these two shots within the cultural historical and cinematic traditions that produced them In particular the global revival of Confucian studies and the transnational appeal of feminism in the 1980s marked a new turn in the composite cultural education of Chinese directors whose shot selections can be seen as not only stylistic expressions but ethical choices responding to established norms about self restraint ritualism propriety and female agency Each of the films discussed Zhang Yimou s Red Sorghum Ang Lee s Lust Caution Hou Hsiao hsien s The Assassin Jia Zhangke s I Wish I Knew and Wei Desheng s Cape No 7 represents a watershed in Chinese cinemas that redefines the evolving relations among film politics and ethics Together these works provide a comprehensive picture of how directors contextualize close ups and long shots in ways that make them interpretable across many films as bellwethers of social change

Musings Leo Lee Ou-fan, 2011-07-01 These essays explore cosmopolitanism in postwar Chinese literary culture from the Hong Kong identity and intellectuals like Eileen Chang Gao Xingjian and Lung Yingtai to other cultural streams represented by writers ranging from Oe to Kafka

When True Love Came to China Lynn Pan, 2015-11-01 The Guardian's Best Books of 2015 Most people suppose that the whole world knows what it is to love that romantic love is universal quintessentially human Such a supposition has to be able to meet three challenges It has to justify its underlying assumption that all cultures mean the same thing by the word love regardless of language It has to engage with the scholarly debate on whether or not romantic love was invented in Europe and is uniquely Western And it must be able to explain why early twentieth century Chinese writers claimed that they had never known true love or love by modern Western standards By addressing these three challenges through a literary historical philosophical biographical and above all comparative approach this highly original work shows how love's profile in China shifted with the rejection of arranged marriages and concubinage in favour of free individual choice monogamy and a Western model of romantic love This book Lynn Pan's best to date adds a wonderful new angle by encouraging us via comparison to better appreciate how unusual even in some ways exotic a part of the Western past we take for granted as though it were natural actually is While the reader will learn a great deal about Chinese literary and cultural traditions from this book if read with an open mind the Western reader may end up rethinking things about his or her tradition just as deeply Jeffrey N Wasserstrom Chancellor's Professor of History University of California at Irvine Nobody writes about China quite as brilliantly as Lynn Pan who in this new illuminating work on love showcases her trademark erudition entwined with a novelist's sensibility Pan's rare skill makes the book a treat from start to finish a sumptuous deft and moving analysis of China's relationship with love Mishi Saran author of Chasing the Monk's Shadow A Journey in the Footsteps of Xuanzang and The Other Side of Light
