The Temptation of St. Anthony Gustave Flaubert, 2021-04-28 Anthony has lived the life of a hermit for more than thirty years and now has come almost to the point of despair He is extremely weary of life and of the world as he sees it from the limited point of view of his cell high in the mountains At one time people had made pilgrimages to see him and be advised by him these same people had furnished him with whatever money and clothing he needed Everyone stopped coming years ago however and Anthony has begun to fear that his life is worthless He then begins to long for the money women and goods of this world through which he might regain some sort of recognition and pleasure One night Anthony's solitude becomes too much He remembers his early life as a monk with its adventures and successes and he thinks of the things he might have done if he had not become a hermit At last he decides that it is merely his own stubbornness that keeps him alone in the mountains Rather than allow himself to be guilty of such a sin he prepares to depart but he gets no farther than the cleared area in front of his cell Realizing that he has almost yielded to temptation he throws himself onto the ground Then in order to regain his strength and courage he reads from the Acts of the Apostles and tries to think His mind however keeps coming back to worldly matters that still tempt him The Temptation of Saint Anthony - A Historical Novel (Complete Edition) Gustave Flaubert,2015-05-11 The Temptation of Saint Anthony is a historical novel It takes as its subject the famous temptation faced by Saint Anthony the Great in the Egyptian desert a theme often repeated in medieval and modern art It is written in the form of a play script It details one night in the life of Anthony the Great where Anthony is faced with great temptations and it was inspired by the painting which he saw at the Balbi Palace in Genoa The Temptation of Saint Anthony Gustave Flaubert,1910 The Temptation of St. Anthony. The Temptation of St. Anthony Gustave Flaubert, 2018-11-02 Flaubert's studies for the Temptation were tremendous For nearly thirty years he touched and retouched altered enlarged condensed He kneaded into its substance the knowledge incessantly sought of all religions and philosophies of all the forms man's speculations had taken in his endless endeavours to explain to himself Life and Fate humanity's untiring passionate effort to find the meaning of its mysterious origin and purpose and final destiny How terrible how naive how fantastic bloody grovelling and outrageous were most of the solutions accepted the gigantic panorama of the book startlingly sets forth What gory agonies what mystic exaltations what dark cruelties frenzied abandons and inhuman self denials have marked those puzzled gropings for light and truth are revealed as by lightning flashes in the crowding scenes of the epic For the Temptation of St Anthony is an epic Not a drama of man's actions as all previous epics have been but a drama of the soul All its movement is in the adventure and conflict of the spirit St Anthony remains always in the one place almost as moveless as a mirror

The Temptation of St. Anthony Gustave Flaubert, 2013-06-18 Although the publication of the St Anthony belongs to the end of Flaubert's life its creation the influences under which it was composed belong to the beginning of his career and though the work that we have is considerably reduced in bulk from that to which Ducamp and Bouilhet listened in silence for two and thirty hours its merits and defects are obviously the same The Temptation of St Anthony is a succession of dissolving views a pageantry of rich fantasies in which all the fables that have haunted the human brain take shape and are marshalled before the mystified saint The scene opens at sunset the holy man is watching the departure of the great planet from a platform on the side of a mountain in the Thebaid In one direction he sees the fertile level valley of the Nile and the mighty river shining like a lake on the horizon in the other the desert stretches its monotonous billows of yellowish grey to the feet of the Libyan mountains whose outlines are slightly softened by violet mists in the intervening space floats a fine dust of gold melting in the vibrations of light St Anthony expresses disgust with life reviews the past and regrets the past content Night comes a wedge shaped flight of swift winged birds passes overhead he wishes he could follow them In the vague whiteness of the night appear pointed noses upright ears gleaming eyes there is a sound of moving gravel St Anthony advances it is a troop of jackals they skurry off all except one the saint would like to stroke him but the animal makes off again the bitterness of solitude The stars appear and on the platform falls the shadow of a great cross the saint withdraws into his hut and reads the Scriptures he begins to wonder by what power Jesus resisted the temptations of the devil and Solomon those of the Queen of Sheba The former clearly because he was God the latter because he was a magician

what a sublime science is magic As the saint allows his imagination to dwell on it the shadow of the cross changes its forms the arms become two horns St Anthony horrified calls to heaven for help and the shadow resumes its original shape The saint rises again his past triumphs recur to him he thinks he sees a procession winding its way to the mountain possibly a wealthy female penitent coming to ask for counsel he hopes it may be so calls out and gives directions as to the path echoes answer him and he distinguishes other voices as if the air were speaking which offer him the love of women wealth military glory popularity rest satisfied vengeance Then things change the palm tree at the edge of his platform becomes the gigantic bust of a woman leaning over the abyss phantoms float past him showing against the night like scarlet paintings on ebony terrified fatigued exhausted the saint falls upon his mat
