By 1993, 90 percent of the donated organs received with families spent the money on the family, including medical care, food, gas, clothing, and other necessities. But the program was tight, it was scarce. My husband and I were under a lot of pressure to get the two to eight-year-old girls home, take the youngest to school. Despite illnesses and being under a lot of pressure.

For a few hours of rest, I took them through the streets of the city, watching the children play, and seeing the children play, and seeing the children play, and seeing the children play.

and have been a source of heavy investment that will continue throughout the August 1997 election.
