

Definitional Argument

- These arguments are particularly powerful in that they help determine what something or someone is. Thus, they can result in inclusion or exclusion.
- They help us recognize that classifications change over time and are the result of cultural, social, and political forces.
- Definitions often serve group agendas while ignoring or attempting to silence others.

Argumentation in Context Frans H. van Eemeren, Frans Hendrik Eemeren, 2009 Examining Argumentation in Context Fifteen studies on strategic maneuvering contains a selection of papers on strategic maneuvering in argumentative discourse Starting point of all of these contributions is that a satisfactory analysis and evaluation of strategic maneuvering is possible only if the argumentative discourse is first situated in the communicative and interactional context in which it occurs While some of the contributions present general views with regard to strategic maneuvering other contributions report on the results of empirical studies examine strategic maneuvering in a particular legal or political context or highlight the presentational design of strategic maneuvering Examining Argumentation in Context therefore provides an insightful view of recent developments in the research on strategic maneuvering which is currently prominent in the study of argumentation

Argument Types and Fallacies in Legal Argumentation Thomas Bustamante, Christian Dahlman, 2015-04-07 This book provides theoretical tools for evaluating the soundness of arguments in the context of legal argumentation It deals with a number of general argument types and their particular use in legal argumentation It provides detailed analyses of argument from authority argument ad hominem argument from ignorance slippery slope argument and other general argument types Each of these argument types can be used to construct arguments that are sound as well as arguments that are unsound To evaluate an argument correctly one must be able to distinguish the sound instances of a certain argument type from its unsound instances This book promotes the development of theoretical tools for this task Rhetorical Perspectives on Argumentation David Zarefsky, 2014-04-01 This book contains 20 essays tracing the work of David Zarefsky a leading North American scholar of argumentation from a rhetorical perspective The essays cohere around 4 general themes objectives for studying argumentation rhetorically approaches to rhetorical study of argumentation patterns and schemes of rhetorical argumentation and case studies illustrating the potential of studying argumentation rhetorically These articles are drawn from across Zarefsky's 45 year career Many of these articles originally appeared in publications that are difficult to access today and this collection brings the reader up to date on the topic Zarefsky's scholarship focuses on the role of language in political argumentation the ways in which argumentation creates public knowledge and belief the influence of framing and context on what is said and understood the deployment of particular patterns and schemes of argumentation in public reasoning and the influence of debate on politics and governance All these topics are addressed in this book Each of the conceptual essays includes brief application to specific cases and five extended case studies are also presented in this volume The case studies cover different themes two explore famous political debates the third focuses on presidential rhetoric across the course of United States history the fourth on the arguments for liberalism at a time of political polarization and the fifth on the contemporary effort to engage the United States with the Muslim world This book is of interest to scholars in the fields of philosophy logic law philosophy of law and legal history The range of topics and concepts addressed the interplay of concepts and cases and the unifying perspective of rhetorical argumentation make this book a valuable read for students of argumentative practice whether rhetorically or otherwise

Reasonableness and Effectiveness in Argumentative Discourse Frans H. van Eemeren, 2015-08-27 This volume presents 50 contributions on the themes of reasonableness and effectiveness and their connections which are central issues in argumentation theory It discusses van Eemeren's views on the study of argumentation the approach to argumentation adopted in pragma dialectics pragma dialectical perspectives on the dialectical and pragmatic dimensions of argumentative discourse the notion of strategic maneuvering the pragma dialectical method of analyzing argumentative discourse the treatment of fallacies as violations of rules for critical discussion pragma dialectical views on context the role of logic verbal indicators of argumentative moves and argument schemes and the process of writing and rewriting argumentative texts The pragma dialectical quantitative approach to empirical research on argumentative discourse is illustrated by reporting on selected illustrative experimental studies as well as qualitative studies of historical cases

Disturbing Argument Catherine Palczewski, 2015-01-30 This edited volume represents the best of the scholarship presented at the 18th National Communication Association American Forensic Association Conference on Argumentation This biennial conference brings together a lively group of argumentation scholars from a range of disciplinary approaches and a variety of countries Disturbing Argument contains selected works that speak both to the disturbing prevalence of violence in the contemporary world and to the potential of argument itself to disturb the very relations of power that enable that violence Scholars essays analyze a range of argument forms including body and visual argument interpersonal and group argument argument in electoral politics public argument argument in social protest scientific and technical argument and argument and debate pedagogy Contributors study argument using a range of methodological approaches from social scientifically informed studies of interpersonal group and political argument to humanistic examinations of argument theory political discourse and social protest to creatively informed considerations of argument practices that truly disturb the boundaries of what we consider argument

Emotive Language in Argumentation Fabrizio Macagno, Douglas Walton, 2014-02-17 This book analyzes the uses of emotive language and redefinitions from pragmatic dialectical epistemic and rhetorical perspectives investigating the relationship between emotions persuasion and meaning and focusing on the implicit dimension of the use of a word and its dialectical effects It offers a method for evaluating the persuasive and manipulative uses of emotive language in ordinary and political discourse Through the analysis of political speeches including President Obama s Nobel Peace Prize address and legal arguments the book offers a systematic study of emotive language in argumentation rhetoric communication political science and public speaking

Crucial Concepts in Argumentation Theory F. H. van Eemeren, 2001 Crucial Concepts in Argumentation Theory is a collection of essays that discuss a series of important issues in the study of argumentation The essays describe the concepts that are crucial to argumentational research and the various ways these concepts have been approached The essays explore such issues as points of view unexpressed premises argument schemes argumentation structures fallacies argument interpretation and reconstruction and argumentation in law Each of the essays provides interested readers with an overview of the literature that can serve as a point of departure for further study

Exploring Argumentative Contexts Frans H. Van Eemeren, Frans Hendrik Eemeren, Bart Garssen, 2012 In Exploring Argumentative Contexts Frans H van Eemeren and Bart Garssen bring together a broad variety of essays examining argumentation as it occurs in seven communicative domains the political context the historical context the legal context the academic context the medical context the media context and the financial context These essays are written by an international group of argumentation scholars consisting of Corina Andone Sarah Bigi Robert T Craig Justin Eckstein Frans H van Eemeren Norman Fairclough Eveline Feteris Gerd Fritz Bart Garssen Kara Gilbert Thomas Gloning G Thomas Goodnight Dale A Herbeck Darrin Hicks Thomas Hollihan Jos Hornikx Isabela Ietcu Fairclough G bor Kutrov tz Maurizio Manzin Davide Mazzi Dima Mohammed Rudi Palmieri Angela G Ray Patricia Riley Robert C Rowland Peter Schulz Karen Tracy and Gergana Zlatkova

Media Argumentation Douglas Walton, 2007-09-24 Media argumentation is a powerful force in our lives From political speeches to television commercials to war propaganda it can effectively mobilize political action influence the public and market products This book presents a new and systematic way of thinking about the influence of mass media in our lives showing the intersection of media sources with argumentation theory informal logic computational theory and theories of persuasion Using a variety of case studies that represent arguments that typically occur in the mass media Douglas Walton demonstrates how tools recently developed in argumentation theory can be usefully applied to the identification analysis and evaluation of media arguments He draws upon the most recent developments in artificial intelligence including dialogical theories of argument which he developed as well as speech act theory Each chapter presents solutions to problems central to understanding analyzing and criticizing media argumentation

Considering Pragma-Dialectics Peter Houtlosser, Agnes van Rees, 2014-04-04 Considering Pragma Dialectics honors the monumental contributions of one of the foremost international figures in current argumentation scholarship Frans van Eemeren The volume presents the research efforts of his colleagues and addresses how their work relates to the pragma dialectical theory of argumentation with which van Eemeren s name is so intimately connected This tribute serves to highlight the varied approaches to the study of argumentation and is destined to inspire researchers to advance scholarship in the field far into the future Replete with contributions from highly esteemed academics in argumentation study chapters in this volume address such topics as Pragma dialectic versus epistemic theories of arguing and arguments Pragma dialectics and self advocacy in physician patient interactions The pragma dialectical analysis of the ad hominem family Rhetoric dialectic and the functions of argument and The semantics of reasonableness As an exceptional volume and a fitting tribute this work will be of interest to all argumentation scholars considering the astute insights and scholarly legacy of Frans van Eemeren Argumentation in Practice Frans H. Van Eemeren, Peter Houtlosser, 2005-01-01 Since the late 1950s the study of argumentation has developed from a marginal part of logic and rhetoric into a genuine interdisciplinary academic discipline After having first been primarily concerned with creating an adequate philosophical perspective on argumentation argumentation theorists have gradually shifted their focus of attention to a more immediate concern with the ins and outs of argumentative praxis What exactly are the characteristics of situated argumentative discourse in different argumentative action types How is the discourse influenced by institutional and contextual constraints In what way can prominent cases of argumentative discourse be fruitfully analysed Argumentation in Practice aims to provide insight into some important facets of argumentative praxis and the different ways in which it can be approached The first part of this volume Conceptions of problems in argumentative practice introduces useful theoretical perspectives The second part Empirical studies of argumentative practice contains both empirical studies of a general kind and several types of specific case studies Pondering on Problems of Argumentation Frans H. van Eemeren, Bart Garssen, 2009-02-11 Pondering on Problems of Argumentation is a collection of twenty essays brought together for anyone who is interested in theoretical issues in the study of argumentation This collection of papers gives the reader an insightful and balanced view of the kind of theoretical issues argumentation theorists are currently concerned with Because most of the perspectives on argumentation that are en vogue are represented this volume provides a multidisciplinary and even interdisciplinary outlook on the current state of affairs in argumentation theory Some of the contributions in Pondering on Problems of Argumentation deal with problems of argumentation that have been recognized as theoretical issues for a considerable time like the problems of fallaciousness and identifying argumentation structures Other contributions discuss issues that have become a focus of attention only recently or regained their prominence such as the relationship between dialectic and rhetoric and the strategic use of the argumentative technique of dissociation In five separate sections papers are included dealing with argumentative strategies problems of norms of reasonableness and fallaciousness types of argument and argument schemes the structure of argumentation and rules for advocacy and discussion Handbook of Communication and Social Interaction Skills John O. Greene, Brant R. Burleson, 2003-02-26 Providing a thorough review and synthesis of work on communication skills and skill enhancement this Handbook serves as a comprehensive and contemporary survey of theory and research on social interaction skills Editors John O Greene and Brant R Burleson have brought together preeminent researchers and writers to contribute to this volume establishing a foundation on which future study and research will build The handbook chapters are organized into five major units general theoretical and methodological issues models of skill acquisition methods of skill assessment fundamental interaction skills both transfunctional and transcontextual function focused skills informing persuading supporting skills used in management of diverse personal relationships friendships romances marriages and skills used in varied venues of public and professional life managing leading teaching Distinctive features of this handbook include broad comprehensive treatment of work on social interaction skills and skill acquisition up to date reviews of research in each area and emphasis on empirically supported strategies for developing and enhancing specific skills Researchers in communication studies psychology family studies business management and related areas will find this volume a comprehensive authoritative source on communications skills and their enhancement and it will be essential reading for scholars and students across the spectrum of disciplines studying social interaction

Dissociation in Argumentative Discussions Agnes van Rees, 2008-10-11 Dissociation is a pervasive argumentative technique that can be found in argumentative discussions from all realms of public and private life Up till now a comprehensive and systematic argumentation theoretical study of dissociation does not exist This book aims to fill this gap The treatment in this book in several respects is innovative To begin with so far dissociation has been studied mainly from a monological orientation This book specifically focuses on dialogical aspects of the use of dissociation in argumentative discussions In the second place extant studies deal primarily with examples of dissociation from the philosophical and literary spheres or from the political arena This book discusses a great variety of examples many from every day contexts from such sources as newspapers television shows websites Parliamentary Reports and ordinary conversations Last but not least the present book examines a broad range of features of dissociation The first part of the book clarifies the notion of dissociation and provides insight into the way in which dissociation becomes manifest in argumentative discourse The second part of the book using the theoretical perspective of Pragma Dialectics answers the question how dissociation is used by the participants in argumentative discussions to realize their dialectical and rhetorical aims The third and last part of the book discusses the strengths and weaknesses of the use of dissociation in argumentative discussions both with regard to its dialectical soundness and to its persuasive effectiveness

Responding to Crisis Dan Pyle Millar, Robert L. Heath, 2003-12-08 In recent years researchers and practitioners have explored the nature theory and best practices that are required for effective and ethical crisis preparation and response The consequences of being unprepared to respond quickly appropriately and ethically to a crisis are dramatic and well documented For this reason crisis consulting and the development of crisis response plans and protocols have become more than a cottage industry Taking a rhetorical view of crisis events and utterances this book is devoted to adding new insights to the discussion and to describing a rhetorical approach to crisis communication To help set the tone for that description the opening chapter reviews a rhetorical perspective on organizational crisis As such it raises questions and provokes issues more than it addresses and answers them definitively The other chapters can be viewed as a series of experts participating in a panel discussion The challenge to each of the authors is to add depth and breadth of understanding to the analysis of the rhetorical implications of a crisis as well as to the strategies that can be used ethically and responsibly Central to this analysis is the theoretic perspective that crisis response requires rhetorically tailored statements that satisfactorily address the narratives surrounding the crisis which are used by interested parties to define and judge it This volume will be of value to scholars and students interested in crisis communication and is certain to influence future work and research on responding to crises

Ethical Argumentation Douglas N. Walton, 2003-01-01 Bridging the gap between applied ethics and ethical theory Ethical Argumentation draws on recent research in argumentation theory to develop a more realistic model of how ethical justification actually works Douglas Walton presents a new model of ethical argumentation in which ethical justification is analyzed as a defeasible form of argumentation considered in a balanced dialogue Walton's new model employs techniques such as asking the appropriate critical questions probing accepted values finding nonexplicit assumptions in an ethical argument and deconstructing emotive terms and persuasive definitions This book will be of significant interest to scholars and advanced students in applied ethics and theory

Controversy as News Discourse Peter A. Cramer, 2011-06-17 This book presents a constitutive approach to controversy based on a discourse analysis of news texts focusing on the role of journalists as participants who shape public controversy for readers Drawing data from the Reuters Corpus the project identifies formulas that journalists use in reporting controversy and draws conclusions about how these serve professional and textual functions and how they shape public controversy as a natural historical and pragmatic event While the traditions of dialectic and rhetoric have focused on the prescriptive aim of training participants to resolve controversies in philosophical dialogue or public debate settings this orientation has tended to preempt questions about where controversy is located and how it is shaped This project contributes to descriptive ethnographic research about controversy using discourse analysis to address a problem in argumentation

Arguing Dale Hample, 2006-04-21 This volume presents a new view of argumentation in which the structure and creation of an argument are explored more so than the argument's effects An unparalleled tool for anyone wishing to better understand the art of arguing
