Edwards, Sandra Vasconcelos, 2016-01-13 Tropical Gothic examines Gothic within a specific geographical area of the South of the Americas In so doing we structure the book around geographical coordinates from North to South and move between various national traditions of the gothic Mexico Argentina Brazil etc alongside regional manifestations of the Gothic the US south and the Caribbean as well as transnational movements of the Gothic within the Americas The reflections on national traditions of the Gothic in this volume add to the critical body of literature on specific languages or particular nations such as

Scottish Gothic American Gothic Canadian Gothic German Gothic Kiwi Gothic etc This is significant because while the Southern Gothic in the US has been thoroughly explored there is a gap in the critical literature about the Gothic in the larger context of region of the South in the Americas This volume does not pretend to be a comprehensive examination of tropical Gothic in the Americas rather it pinpoints a variety of locations where this form of the Gothic emerges In so doing the transnational interventions of the Gothic in this book read the flows of Gothic forms across borders and geographical regions to tease out the complexities of Gothic cultural production within cultural and linguistic translations Tropical Gothic includes but is by no means limited to a reflection on a region where European colonial powers fought intensively against indigenous populations and against each other for control of land and resources In other cases the vast populations of African slaves were transported endowing these regions with a cultural inheritance that all the nations involved are still trying to comprehend The volume reflects on how these histories influence the Gothic in this region

Ageing, Gender, and Illness in Anglophone Literature Heike Hartung, 2015-12-07 This study establishes age as a category of literary history delineating age in its interaction with gender and narrative genre Based on the historical premise that the view of ageing as a burden emerges as a specific narrative in the late eighteenth century the study highlights how the changing experience of ageing is shaped by that of gender By reading the Bildungsroman as a coming of age novel the book asks how the telling of a life in time affects individual age narratives Bringing together the different perspectives of age and disability studies the book argues that illness is already an important issue in the Bildungsroman s narratives of ageing This theoretical stance provides new interpretations of canonical novels visiting authors such as Johann Wolfgang Goethe Frances Burney Maria Edgeworth Jane Austen Charles Dickens George Eliot Samuel Beckett and Jonathan Franzen Drawing on the link between age and illness in the Bildungsroman s age narratives the genre of dementia narrative is presented as one of the directions which the Bildungsroman takes after its classical period Applying these theoretical perspectives to canonical novels of the nineteenth century and to the new genre of dementia narrative the volume also provides new insights into literary and genre history This book introduces a new theoretical approach to cultural age studies and offers a comprehensive analysis of the connection between narratology literary theory gender and age studies

Vulnerability and Security in Human Rights Literature and Visual Culture Alexandra Schultheis Moore, 2015-10-23 This book responds to the failures of human rights the way its institutions and norms reproduce geopolitical imbalances and social exclusions through an analysis of how literary and visual culture can make visible human rights claims that are foreclosed in official discourses Moore draws on theories of vulnerability precarity and dispossession to argue for the necessity of recognizing the embodied and material contexts of human rights subjects At the same time she demonstrates how these theories run the risk of reproducing the structural imbalances that lie at the core of critiques of human rights Pairing conventional human rights genres legal instruments human rights reports reportage and humanitarian campaigns with literary and visual culture Moore develops a transnational feminist reading praxis of five sites of rights and their violation over the past fifty years UN human rights instruments and child soldiers in Nigerian literature human rights reporting and novels that address state sponsored ethnocide in Zimbabwe the international humanitarian campaigns and disaster capitalism in fiction of Bhopal India the work of M decins Sans Fronti res in the Sahel Afghanistan Democratic Republic of Congo and Burma as represented in various media campaigns and in photo graphic narratives and finally the human rights campaigns fiction and film that have brought Indonesia s history of anti leftist violence into contemporary public debate These case studies underscore how human rights norms are always subject to conditions of imaginative representation and how literature and visual culture participate in that cultural imaginary

Expanding feminist theories of embodied and imposed vulnerability Moore demonstrates the importance of situating human rights violations not only in the context of neo liberal development policies but also in relation to the growth of security networks that serve the nation state often at the expense of the security of specific subjects and populations In place of conventional victims and agents the intersection of vulnerability and human rights opens up readings of human rights claims and suffering that are at once embodied and shareable yet which run the risk of cooptation by security rhetoric
