The Diagnosis of Reading in a Second or Foreign Language J. Charles Alderson, Eeva-Leena Haapakangas, Ari Huhta, Lea Nieminen, Riikka Ullakonoja, 2014-10-03 The Diagnosis of Reading in a Second or Foreign Language explores the implications of language assessment research on classroom based assessment practices by providing an in depth look at the little examined field of diagnosis in second and foreign language reading This volume examines the development of second and foreign language reading and how subsequent research findings couched in this knowledge can help facilitate a more informed teaching approach in second and foreign language classrooms By contextualizing the latest in classroom settings and presenting implications for future research in this developing area of linguistics this book is an ideal resource for those studying and working in applied linguistics second language acquisition and language assessment and education About the NPLA Series Headed by two of its leading scholars the series captures the burgeoning field of language assessment by offering comprehensive and state of the art coverage of its contemporary questions pressing issues and technical advances It is the only active series of its kind on the market and will include volumes on basic and advanced topics in language assessment public policy and language assessment and the interfaces of language assessment with other disciplines in applied linguistics Each text presents key theoretical approaches and research findings along with concrete practical implications and suggestions for readers conducting their own research or developmental studies

Handbook of Foreign Language Communication and Learning Karlfried Knapp, Barbara Seidlhofer, H. G. Widdowson, 2009 The Handbooks of Applied Linguistics provide a state of the art description of established and emerging areas of Applied Linguistics Each volume gives an overview of the field explains the most important traditions and their findings identifies the gaps in current research and gives perspectives for future directions Assessing Literacy in a Digital World Yumei Zhang,2022-11-10 This book illustrates the latest developments in literacy and language assessment in the digital context and subsequently presents a rigorous validation study on a newly proposed form of assessment scenario based assessment SBA that seeks to respond to the contextual change of literacy activities It combines theories and innovative practices in both the literacy and language assessment sectors The empirical validation study on SBA presented here can help readers understand how digital scenarios can be realized in assessment practices with the aid of computer technology and how the scenario settings in the digital context can affect EFL learners reading to writing performance In this way it can facilitate the reconceptualization of L2 literacy in the digital context Moreover the evidence and critical examination presented here can offer readers more comprehensive insights into the value or validity of a given innovative approach before it is adopted in their contexts Common European Framework of Reference for Languages Council of Europe,2001-02-22 The Common European Framework provides a common basis for the elaboration of language syllabuses curriculum guidelines examinations textbooks etc across Europe It describes in a comprehensive way what language learners have to learn to do in order to use a language for communication and what knowledge and skills they have to develop so as to be able to act effectively The description also covers the cultural context in which language is set The Framework also defines levels of proficiency which allow learners progress to be measured at each stage of learning and on a life long basis This restructured version of the Common European Framework of reference for language learning teaching and assessment represents the latest stage in a process which has been actively pursued since 1971 and owes much to the collaboration of many members of the teaching profession across Europe and beyond https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Common_European_Framework_of_Reference_for_Languages

Common_European_Framework_of_Reference_for_Languages The Routledge Handbook of Language Testing Glenn Fulcher,Luke Harding,2021-12-15 This second edition of The Routledge Handbook of Language Testing provides an updated and comprehensive account of the area of language testing and assessment The volume brings together 35 authoritative articles divided into ten sections written by 51 leading specialists from around the world There are five entirely new chapters covering the four skills reading writing listening and speaking as well as a new entry on corpus linguistics and language testing The remaining 30 chapters have been revised often extensively or entirely rewritten with new authorship teams at the helm reflecting new generations of expertise in the field With a dedicated section on technology in language testing reflecting current trends in the field the Handbook also includes an extended epilogue written by Harding and Fulcher contemplating what has changed between the first and second editions and charting a trajectory for the field of language testing and assessment Providing a basis for discussion project work and the design of both language tests themselves and related validation research this Handbook represents an invaluable resource for students researchers and practitioners working in language testing and assessment and the wider field of language education Diagnosing Foreign Language

Proficiency J. Charles Alderson, 2006-11-01 This book addresses the need for tests that can diagnose the strengths and weaknesses in learners developing foreign language proficiency It presents the rationale for and research surrounding the development of DIALANG a suite of internet delivered diagnostic foreign language tests funded by the European Commission The word diagnosis is common in discussions in language education and applied linguistics but very few truly diagnostic tests exist However the diagnosis of foreign language proficiency is central to helping learners make progress This volume explores the nature of diagnostic testing emphasizing the need for a better understanding of the nature of appropriate diagnosis The book starts with a debate about how diagnostic testing might most appropriately be developed Charles Alderson argues that the field has neglected to construct diagnostic tests partly because other forms of testing have dominated the field Alderson examines how proficiency has been diagnosed in the key areas of language reading listening writing grammar and vocabulary The value of self assessment is discussed and exemplified as a key component in developing learners and teachers awareness of the complexity of language learning The book ends with a consideration of and recommendations for future developments in the diagnosis of foreign language proficiency

Evaluation in Foreign Language Education in the Middle East and North Africa Sahbi Hidri, Christine Coombe, 2016-09-27 This book presents evaluation cases from the Middle East and North Africa MENA context investigating the various facets of evaluation in different parts of the MENA region and beyond In 19 chapters it explores cases from Tunisia Saudi Arabia Egypt Sudan Syria the UAE Turkey Iran and Morocco The book highlights the impact of evaluation on a range of stakeholders arguing that it has repercussions at the individual societal economic cultural and political levels that it also has an ethical dimension and that it is tailored to people's needs helping them to remain abreast of the effectiveness and efficiency of programs Further the book explores controversial issues concerning different evaluation themes such as teacher and staff evaluation assessment practices text genre analysis evaluation assessment of productive skills textbook and ICT evaluation evaluation of ELT certificates and programs quality assurance ESP needs analysis assessment literacy and dynamic assessment It addresses key challenges such as who the right people to implement evaluation are and the appropriate use of evaluation results to avoid any misuse or harm to any stakeholder In closing the book calls for further research venues on the relevance of evaluation testing and assessment in the MENA context and beyond

Rating EFL Written Performance Katalin Bukta, 2014-09-18 The study focuses on the investigation of the process during which raters of EFL written performance make their decisions It consists of a pilot and a main study each of which concentrates on assessment of writing The rationale is to detect the decision making processes that raters follow which can be used for training raters and with which the reliability of rating can be improved The pilot study is based on data collected during a large scale language proficiency assessment of two age groups from learners of English and German languages Raters were asked to think aloud during the rating task Data was then transcribed and analysed The participants in the main study were novice raters who produced verbal protocols 37 EFL teacher trainees took part in rater training and practised think aloud protocol production Then they evaluated ten compositions written by EFL learners and verbalised their thought processes The verbal protocols served as a basis for data collection The analysis of data resulted in the conclusion according to which more reliable and objective assessment is possible when evaluating written performance Local Language Testing Xun Yan,Slobodanka

Dimova, April Ginther, 2023-07-18 This book describes language testing practices that exist in the intermediate space between large scale standardized testing and classroom assessment an area that is rarely addressed in language testing literature Drawing empirical research on a variety of languages the volume discusses local language tests ability to represent local contexts and values explicitly and purposefully embed test results within instructional practice and provide data for program evaluation and research Although local testing practices have been grounded in the theoretical principles of language testing the authors in this volume supplement the theoretical content with practical examples of how local tests can be designed to effectively function within and across different institutional contexts Investigating the Role of Test Methods in

Testing Reading Comprehension Jufang Kong, 2019-03-27 This book explores the construct of reading comprehension by means of two main test methods Research methods like the think aloud protocol and eye tracking are employed to tap into test takers cognitive processes while engaged in input text meaning building and in test tasks The book is the first systematic attempt to explore test takers cognitive processes through the control of test methods and presents findings in visualized form including processing route maps and eye fixation heat maps It offers readers essential support with digging into and analyzing data that has to date remained difficult to access Developing Standards-based Assessment Tasks for English as a First Foreign Language Claudia Harsch, Miriam Vock, André A. Rupp, Olaf Köller, 2008 Authenticity across Languages and Cultures Leo Will, Wolfgang Stadler, Irma Eloff, 2022-11-10 This volume centres around concepts of personal and cultural authenticity as they play out in various contexts of foreign language teaching and learning worldwide The chapters cover a wide range of contexts and disciplines including both theoretical and empirical work together they comprise both a rigorous analysis of authenticity in language teaching and a step away from notions of native speakerism and cultural essentialism with which it is often associated Written by a group of scholars working across several continents the chapters offer diverse perspectives regarding the role language plays in processes of personal growth learning development self actualisation and power dynamics The book addresses the theoretical and philosophical nature of authenticity while remaining grounded in the teaching and learning of languages with authenticity viewed as a practical concern that guides our actions and beliefs The book will be of interest to scholars researchers and students of authenticity as well as foreign language teachers interested in the theoretical underpinnings of their practice Revisiting the Assessment of Second Language Abilities: From Theory to Practice Sahbi Hidri, 2018-01-12 This book presents an overview of revisiting the assessment of language abilities It also showcases how the measurement of such constructs can result in negative or positive washback and how outcomes might be conducive to repercussions that decide on the future of many stakeholders The 23 chapters were selected among tens of chapters received from different contexts that addressed the issue of revisiting the assessment of language abilities such as Tunisia Ukraine Algeria Russia KSA Sudan Egypt Canada Kurdistan UK USA Iran Turkey etc These contexts have highlighted the necessity to revisit the different constructs which should be assessed with a clear and straightforward foundation on students learning objectives and their actual language ability To do so most of the chapters present hands on use of relevant statistical tests that might serve in revisiting the construct definition both theoretically and operationally Perhaps the sole and intricate question that the authors of these contributions ask is what it means to revisit the assessment of the construct of individualized language ability and how In addition the book accentuates the momentousness and significance of reflecting on test fairness and validation as the mainspring and backbone for democratization of assessment This book appeals to a broad readership such as English Language Teaching ELT practitioners language teachers students testing organizations policy makers test designers writers of test specifications testing experts researchers program evaluators especially in the Middle East and North Africa MENA as well as other international contexts
