Assessment in Special Education Roger Pierangelo, George A. Giuliani, 2006. This text presents a uniquely practical approach to the topic of Assessment in Special Education. The authors organize the material into a real-world story by having each part and chapter of the book reflect the linear chronology of the assessment process used in schools. Unlike other books, this book is organized chronologically to present the overall process in a straight line, a practical and useful pedagogy in itself for the novice teacher. The text provides the practical tools necessary for a new teacher to understand the process of assessment in schools and then learn how to put it all together. It provides future special educators comprehensive coverage of the latest tests and evaluation procedures for all areas of exceptionality for every age group for students with mild, moderate, and severe disabilities.

Learning and Performance Assessment: Concepts, Methodologies, Tools, and Applications Management Association, Information Resources, 2019-10-11. As teaching strategies continue to change and evolve and technology use in classrooms continues to increase, it is imperative that their impact on student learning is monitored and assessed. New practices are being developed to enhance students' participation, especially in their own assessment, be it through peer review, reflective assessment, the introduction of new technologies, or other novel solutions. Educators must remain up-to-date on the latest methods of evaluation and performance measurement techniques to ensure that their students excel.

Learning and Performance Assessment: Concepts, Methodologies, Tools, and Applications is a vital reference source that examines emerging perspectives on the theoretical and practical aspects of learning and performance-based assessment techniques and applications within educational settings. Highlighting a range of topics such as learning outcomes, assessment design, and peer assessment, this multi-volume book is ideally designed for educators, administrative officials, principals, deans, instructional designers, school boards, academicians, researchers, and education students seeking coverage on an educator's role in evaluation, design, and analyses of evaluation methods and outcomes.

Systematic Instruction of Functional Skills for Students and Adults with Disabilities Keith Storey, 2022-03-01. This book provides an overview of systematic instructional strategies and is written in a format so that teachers and other service providers can immediately put the information to use. It specifically focuses upon systematic instruction for individuals with disabilities, school age and adults, and is generic across age groups as well as disability labels. The book focuses on improving instructional practices for students and adults with disabilities. Practitioners may understand the importance of placing individuals in different settings, e.g., inclusive classrooms, supported employment sites, but not understand how to improve their skills once they are in that setting. This book is intended to give teachers and other service providers the instructional skills for improving the skills of the individuals that they are serving The most unique feature of the text is that it is written specifically for practitioners in the field teachers and adult service providers as well as those in training rather than being written for other academics An advantage of this book is that those preparing teachers and others can easily use it in methods courses as it covers instructional methodology that is seldom covered in detail in most texts College instructors will find the book a good choice for their classes based upon the consistent format throughout the book the readability of the book for students the comprehensive coverage of systematic instruction and the direct applicability to applied settings Others providing instruction supervision and training to direct service providers will find this book useful such as those working in schools as well as those in transition and adult service settings
