Sources for English Local History W. B. Stephens, 1981-09-10. English local and regional history has attracted widespread attention in the last twenty-five to thirty years. Its study has expanded at undergraduate and postgraduate levels in universities, polytechnics, and at other institutions of higher education, and it has long retained its popularity as a subject for adult education classes. In schools, the teaching of local history in its own right and as an ingredient of general history, environmental studies, and local and social studies is well established and commonly involves the use of original sources. The expansion of genealogical studies into the wider area of family history has involved many individuals and groups in the investigation of the local conditions which existed where former generations lived, and in this pursuit, increasing use of local records has been made. Many who seek to involve themselves in this work, however, find that they are ill-equipped in the knowledge of what sources exist where they are to be found or what techniques are suitable in making the best use of them.

Wilson's Tales of the Borders and of Scotland: Historical, Traditionary and Imaginative (Complete) Various Authors. You have all heard of the Cheviot mountains. They are a rough, rugged, majestic chain of hills which a poet might term the Roman wall of nature, crowned with snow, belted with storms, surrounded by pastures and fruitful fields, and still dividing the northern portion of Great Britain from the southern

With their proud summits piercing the clouds and their dark rocky declivities frowning upon the glens below they appear symbolical of the wild and untamable spirits of the Borderers who once inhabited their sides We say you have all heard of the Cheviots and know them to be very high hills like a huge clasp riveting England and Scotland together but we are not aware that you may have heard of Marchlaw an old gray looking farm house substantial as a modern fortress recently and for aught we know to the contrary still inhabited by Peter Elliot the proprietor of some five hundred surrounding acres The boundaries of Peter's farm indeed were defined neither by fields hedges nor stone walls A wooden stake here and a stone there at considerable distances from each other were the general landmarks but neither Peter nor his neighbours considered a few acres worth quarrelling about and their sheep frequently visited each other's pastures in a friendly way harmoniously sharing a family dinner in the same spirit as their masters made themselves free at each other's tables Peter was placed in very unpleasant circumstances owing to the situation of Marchlaw House which unfortunately was built immediately across the ideal line dividing the two kingdoms and his misfortune was that being born within it he knew not whether he was an Englishman or a Scotchman He could trace his ancestral line no farther back than his great grandfather who it appeared from the family Bible had together with his grandfather and father claimed Marchlaw as their birth place They however were not involved in the same perplexities as their descendant The parlour was distinctly acknowledged to be in Scotland and two thirds of the kitchen were as certainly allowed to be in England his three ancestors were born in the room over the parlour and therefore were Scotchmen beyond question but Peter unluckily being brought into the world before the death of his grandfather his parents occupied a room immediately over the debatable boundary line which crossed the kitchen The room though scarcely eight feet square was evidently situated between the two countries but no one being able to ascertain what portion belonged to each Peter after many arguments and altercations upon the subject was driven to the disagreeable alternative of confessing he knew not what countryman he was What rendered the confession the more painful was that it was Peter's highest ambition to be thought a Scotchman All his arable land lay on the Scotch side his mother was collaterally related to the Stuarts and few families were more ancient or respectable than the Elliots Peter's speech indeed betrayed him to be a walking partition between the two kingdoms a living representation of the Union for in one word he pronounced the letter r with the broad masculine sound of the North Briton and in the next with the liquid burr of the Northumbrians Peter or if you prefer it Peter Elliot Esquire of Marchlaw in the counties of Northumberland and Roxburgh was for many years the best runner leaper and wrestler between Wooler and Jedburgh Whirled from his hand the ponderous bullet whizzed through the air like a pigeon on the wing and the best putter on the Borders quailed from competition As a feather in his grasp he seized the unwieldy hammer swept it round and round his head accompanying with agile limb its evolutions swiftly as swallows play around a circle and hurled it from his hands like a shot from a rifle till antagonists shrunk back and the spectators burst into a shout Well done Squire the Squire for ever once exclaimed a servile observer of titles Squire what are

ye squiring at returned Peter Confound ye where was ye when I was christened Squire My name s Peter Elliot your man or onybody s man at whatever they like Peter s soul was free bounding and buoyant as the wind that carolled in a zephyr or shouted in a hurricane upon his native hills and his body was thirteen stone of healthy substantial flesh steeped in the spirits of life He had been long married but marriage had wrought no change upon him They who suppose that wedlock transforms the lark into an owl offer an insult to the lovely beings who brightening our darkest hours with the smiles of affection teach us that that only is unbecoming in the husband which is disgraceful in the man Nearly twenty years had passed over them but Janet was still as kind and in his eyes as beautiful as when bestowing on him her hand she blushed her vows at the altar and he was still as happy as generous and as free Nine fair children sat around their domestic hearth and one the youngling of the flock smiled upon its mother s knee Peter had never known sorrow he was blest in his wife in his children in his flocks He had become richer than his fathers He was beloved by his neighbours the tillers of his ground and his herdsmen yea no man envied his prosperity But a blight passed over the harvest of his joys and gall was rained into the cup of his felicity It was Christmas day and a more melancholy looking sun never rose on the 25th of December One vast sable cloud like a universal pall overspread the heavens For weeks the ground had been covered with clear dazzling snow and as throughout the day the rain continued its unwearied and monotonous drizzle the earth assumed a character and appearance melancholy and troubled as the heavens Like a mastiff that has lost its owner the wind howled dolefully down the glens and was re-echoed from the caves of the mountains as the lamentations of a legion of invisible spirits The frowning snow clad precipices were instinct with motion as avalanche upon avalanche the larger burying the less crowded downward in their tremendous journey to the plain The simple mountain rills had assumed the majesty of rivers the broader streams were swollen into the wild torrent and gushing forth as cataracts in fury and in foam enveloped the valleys in an angry flood But at Marchlaw the fire blazed blithely the kitchen groaned beneath the load of preparations for a joyful feast and glad faces glided from room to room
