Present Jean A. Callender,1980      Caribbean Women at the Crossroads Patricia Mohammed,Althea Perkins,1999 Caribbean Women at the Crossroads examines the dynamics of decision making in the lives of Caribbean women of Barbados St Lucia and Dominica The study uses as a base the responses from a questionnaire administered to 375 women in the three societies together with a selected number of oral histories drawn from the sample The aim of the study is to understand the factors that affect the decisions women make in the major events of their lives The issue of decision making was also conceptually linked to the process and the determinants of women s aspirations Thus the study was concerned with the social economic and cultural factors that influence or inhibit the choices available to women within these societies The major finding of the study was that women find themselves faced with dilemmas of choice between career and other aspirations which include partnership and children Caribbean women are now at the crossroads of choice      Further Papers Relating to the Late Disturbances in Barbados ,1876      High-Stakes Testing in Education Theo J.H.M Eggen,Gordon Stobart,2015-10-14 High stakes educational testing is a global phenomenon which is increasing in both scale and importance Assessments are high stakes when there are serious consequences for one or more stakeholders Historically tests have largely been used for selection or for providing a licence to practise making them high stakes for the test takers Testing is now also used for the purposes of improving standards of teaching and learning and of holding schools accountable for their students results These tests then become high stakes for teachers and schools especially when they have to meet externally imposed targets More recent has been the emergence of international comparative testing which has become high stakes for governments and policy makers as their education systems are judged in relation to the performances of other countries In this book we draw on research which examines each of these uses of high stakes testing The articles evaluate the impact of such assessments and explore the issues of value and fairness which they raise To underline the international appeal of high stakes testing the studies are drawn from Australia Africa the Caribbean Europe former Soviet republics and North America Collectively they illustrate the power of high stakes assessment in shaping for better or for worse policy making and schooling This book was originally published as a special issue of Assessment in Education Principles Policy Practice      Transformative Pedagogical Perspectives on Home Language Use in Classrooms Jules, Janice E.,Belgrave, Korah L.,2020-09-25 Linguists researchers and other practitioners in language education acknowledge that the resolution of language problems associated with breaking down language and cultural barriers that hinder the growth of learners self identities and national identities is ongoing In fact even with decades of research in home language use in the classroom there are still classrooms worldwide where learners are deprived of the opportunity of building their self esteem confidence and autonomy by communicating with their native language The global nature of communication requires speakers to use all the languages in their repertoire effectively thus reinforcing the need to encourage home language use in classrooms Transformative Pedagogical Perspectives on Home Language Use in Classrooms is a cutting edge research publication on the effective use of home language in the classroom that emphasizes the significance of this activity to the success of the overall language development of the learner Particular attention is given to transformative pedagogy and the provision of valuable insights into how the teacher can guide and assist learners in the development of critical thinking skills In addition the book provides content that enables practitioners in language education and parents to explore their roles in assisting children in breaking down the language and cultural barriers that hinder the growth of their self identity and national identity Highlighting topics such as engineering education cultural responsiveness and transformative pedagogy this book is essential for linguists academicians education professionals curriculum designers policymakers administrators instructional designers researchers and students      Bulletin of Eastern Caribbean Affairs ,1988
