Beethoven 1806 Mark Ferraguto, 2019 Beethoven 1806 examines a banner year in the creative life of Ludwig van Beethoven Drawing on theories of mediation and a wealth of primary sources it explores the specific contexts in which the music of this year was conceived composed and heard Singers, Scores and Sounds Ellen Hooper, 2022-12-30 This book develops ways of discussing musical practices to articulate a new approach to understanding connections between recordings singers and singing Centred around materials from the mid twentieth century this book focuses on a time when composers and performers were questioning the idea of authorship within their musical practice Materials drawn upon include recordings scores archival content visual art interviews and liner notes to develop a rich conception of practices of performance Analysis of performances include recordings of singers such as Cathy Berberian Linda Hirst Lor Lixenberg Angelika Luz and Meredith Monk Compositions by Cathy Berberian Luciano Berio John Cage and Manuel De Falla are considered The book utilizes these sources to examine the collective way in which singers and composers form practices as multiple transforming emergent and not hierarchical The book articulates with a detailed close consideration of specific instances in recordings and scores a relational understanding of performance This book will be useful reading for students and scholars of music analysis musicology performance practice and twentieth century vocal music Performance

Analysis Madalena Soveral, Sara Zurletti, 2018-12-10 This collection of essays highlights different questions concerning music theory interpretation and performance Organized into four chapters the first section looks into interpretation from a hermeneutic perspective whereas the second analyses the application of this knowledge in musical practice The discussion turns in the third part to a new field of music theory broadly labelled as performance studies Focused on physical and psychological events this section broaches fundamental issues such as gesture bodily movement expression emotion a whole set of processes that act within the framework of performance The final section addresses the artistic practices in the 21st century across present day cultural contexts Proposing a space for reflection in which one tries to imagine the relation between the scientific field and the interpretative process this volume reflects the central issues of research in performance analysis establishing connections between different disciplines methodologies and research trends It will be of essential interest to researchers musicians and performers and music students Collaborative and Distributed Processes in Contemporary Music-Making Richard Glover, Lauren Redhead, 2020-04-09 This volume represents the second proceedings of the Royal Musical Association's RMA Music and as Process Study Group It is not surprising that a large number of the contributors to the Music and as Process Study Group are active practitioners in the performance and composition of contemporary music The collaborations documented here represent the bringing together of disciplines joint work between practitioners who contribute their own specific areas of expertise to a composite creative activity and work that crosses disciplines in order to make a critical comment in each of them In this collection these three types of collaborative work describe an increasing amount of contemporary music practice In addition to the increasing involvement of practice in research the understanding and prevalence of practice methodologies in the form of practice research has also increased in musicology This volume reflects these concerns through contributions from authors who are all active practitioners in their respective fields of music performance composition improvisation and conducting The diversity of these contributions shows the variety of processes and practices that are currently being undertaken by proponents of the field of contemporary music. These essays provide a snapshot of the current collaborative and distributed processes that are employed by today's contemporary music practitioners. The chapters contained in this volume reveal the varied nature of the approaches to creativity in music making and the ways that these are distributed across its practitioners during each stage of the development of musical works.

Music, Dance, and Drama in Early Modern English Schools Amanda Eubanks Winkler, 2020-06-04. The first book to systematically analyze the role the performing arts played in English schools after the Reformation.

The Matter of Song in Early Modern England Katherine Rebecca Larson, 2019. This volume treats early modern song as a musical and embodied practice and considers the implications of reading song not just as lyric text but as a musical phenomenon that is the product of the singing body. It draws on a variety of genres from theatre to psalm translations, sonnets and lyrics, and household drama to courtly masques.

Mathemusical Conversations: Mathematics And Computation In Music Performance And Composition Elaine Chew, Gerard Assayag, Jordan B L Smith, 2016-07-21. Mathemusical Conversations celebrates the understanding of music through mathematics and the appreciation of mathematics through music. This volume is a compilation of the invited talks given at the Mathemusical Conversations workshop that took place in Singapore from 13-15 February 2015, organized by Elaine Chew in partnership with Gerard Assayag for the scientific program and with Bernard Lanskey for the artistic program. The contributors are world experts and leading scholars writing on the intersection of music and mathematics. They also focus on performance and composition, two topics which are foundational both to the understanding of human creativity and to the creation of tomorrow's music technologies. This book is essential reading for researchers in both music and mathematics. It will also appeal more broadly to scholars, students, musicians, and anyone interested in new perspectives on the intimate relationship between these two universal human activities.

Re-Reading the Beethoven Violin Sonatas Daniel Tong, 2025-04-08. New readings of the ten Beethoven sonatas for piano and violin embracing both the performer's interpretation and the analyst's rigour. This book provides new readings of the ten Beethoven sonatas for piano and violin, many of which have been given surprisingly little attention by scholars to date. This may be because nine of the sonatas are relatively early works written between 1797-1803, with only the final sonata, Op. 96, 1812, standing apart. However, within these ten works, Beethoven demonstrates numerous aspects of his musical personality and compositional style. The analyses in this book engage with postmodern concerns such as hermeneutics, intertextuality, gender, humour, narratology, and human interest, revealing characteristics within these sonatas that have been slow to come to light. Here are examples of the Beethovenian narrative that do not always encapsulate heroic struggle and triumph. In many of the sonatas, we find a witty, smiling composer at odds with the growling Beethoven iconography. Works within the violin sonata cycle interrogate the hypermasculine Beethoven trope before the last sonata is explored via a host of intertextual relationships with a body of early Romantic repertoire that emerged after Beethoven's death Embracing both the performer's interpretation and the analyst's rigour or vice versa this work offers methodologies for performer's analysis whilst acknowledging that both disciplines are essential to any project that seeks to address the nature of music as it is experienced in time

The Normativity of Musical Works: A Philosophical Inquiry Alessandro Arbo, 2021-05-25 What do we mean when we talk about the identity of a musical work and what does such an identity involve What in fact are the properties that make it something worth protecting and preserving These issues are not only of legal relevance they are central to a philosophical discipline that has seen considerable advances over the last few decades musical ontology Taking into account its main theoretical models this essay argues that an understanding of the ontological status of musical works should acknowledge the irreducible ambivalence of music as an art of the trace and as a performative art It advocates a theory of the musical work as a social object and more specifically as a sound artefact that functions aesthetically and which is based on a trace informed by a normative value Such a normativity is further explored in relation to three primary ways of conceiving and fixing the trace orality notation and phonography

Investigating Musical Performance Gianmario Borio, Giovanni Giuriati, Alessandro Cecchi, Marco Lutz, 2020-05-21 Investigating Musical Performance considers the wide range of perspectives on musical performance made tangible by the cross disciplinary studies of the last decades and encourages a comparison and revision of theoretical and analytical paradigms The chapters present different approaches to this multi layered phenomenon including the results of significant research projects The complex nature of musical performance is revealed within each section which either suggests aspects of dialogue and contiguity or discusses divergences between theoretical models and perspectives Part I elaborates on the history current trends and crucial aspects of the study of musical performance Part II is devoted to the development of theoretical models highlighting sharply distinguished positions Part III explores the relationship between sign and sound in score based performances finally the focus of Part IV centres on gesture considered within different traditions of musicmaking Three extra chapters by the editors complement Parts I and III and can be accessed via the online Routledge Music Research Portal The volume shows actual and possible connections between topics problems analytical methods and theories thereby reflecting the wealth of stimuli offered by research on the musical cultures of our times

Through the Looking Glass

Richard H. Brown, 2019 Through the Looking Glass examines John Cage's interactions and collaborations with avant garde and experimental filmmakers and in turn seeks out the implications of the audiovisual experience for the overall aesthetic surrounding Cage's career As the commercially dominant media form in the twentieth century cinema transformed the way listeners were introduced to and consumed music Cage's quest to redefine music intentionality and expression reflect the similar transformation of music within the larger audiovisual experience of sound film This volume examines key moments in Cage's career where cinema either informed or transformed his position on the nature of sound music expression and the ontology of the musical artwork The examples point to moments of rupture within Cage's own consideration of the musical artwork pointing to newfound collision points that have a significant and heretofore unacknowledged role in Cage's notions of the audiovisual experience and the medium specific ontology of a work of art
