Culture Wars in British Literature Tracy J.

Prince,2012-09-21 The past century s culture wars that Britain has been consumed by but that few North Americans seem aware of have resulted in revised notions of Britishness and British literature Yet literary anthologies remain anchored to an archaic Anglo English interpretation of British literature Conflicts have been played out over specific national vs British identity some residents prefer to describe themselves as being from Scotland England Wales or Northern Ireland instead of Britain in debates over immigration race ethnicity class and gender and in arguments over British literature These debates are strikingly detailed in such chapters as The Difficulty Defining Black British British Jewish Writers and Xenophobia and the Booker Prize Connections are also drawn between civil rights movements in the U S and UK This generalist cultural study is a lively read and a fascinating glimpse into Britain s changing identity as reflected in 20th and 21st century British literature

The Booker Prize and the Legacy of Empire Luke Strongman,2002 This book is about the Booker Prize the London based literary award made annually to the best novel written in English by a writer from one of those countries belonging to or formerly part of the British Commonwealth The approach to the Prize is thematically historical and spans the award period to 1999 The novels that have won or shared the Prize in this period are examined within a theoretical framework mapping the literary terrain of the fiction Individual chapters explore themes that occur within the larger narrative formed by this body of novels collectively invoked cultures social trends and movements spanning the stages of imperial heyday and decline as perceived over the past three decades Individually and collectively the novels mirror often in terms of more than a single static image British imperial culture after empire contesting and reinterpreting perceptions of the historical moment of the British Empire and its legacy in contemporary culture The body of Booker novels narrates the demise of empire and the emergence of different cultural formations in its aftermath The novels are grouped for discussion according to the way in which they deal with aspects of the transition from empire to a post imperial culture from early imperial expansion through colonization retrenchment decolonization and postcolonial pessimism to the emergence of tribal nationalisms and post imperial nation states The focus throughout is primarily literary and contingently cultural

Freebourne Salman Shaheen,2025-10-14 In an idyllic English town of the near future the past is not the only thing left unburied Compatriots Or Competitors? Hywel Dix,2022-11-15 Rather than being limited to political or legal discussion like most books on Brexit this book explores the relationship between cultural production and Brexit both in the lead up to it and in its aftermath It is the first major study to take a comparative approach to analysing the relationship between cultural production and Brexit in all 4 nations of the UK This comparative approach is necessary to get a detailed picture of the complex dynamics at work across each This book is highly interdisciplinary in nature looking at the rise of the cultural industries the relationship between the UK City of Culture festival and its fore runner the European Capital of Culture national book prizes in Britain and Europe British variations on Nordic Noir TV and the Brexit novel As a result it draws on research in the disciplines of geography economics film and television studies history and politics as well as publishing and literary studies

Contemporary British Fiction and the Artistry of Space David James,2008-11-27 This study examines the importance of space for the way contemporary novelists experiment with style and form offering an account of how British writers from the past three decades have engaged with landscape description as a catalyst for innovation David James considers the work of more than fifteen major British novelists to offer a wide ranging and accessible commentary on the relationship between landscape and narrative design demonstrating an approach to the geography of contemporary fiction enriched by the practice of aesthetic criticism Moving between established and emerging novelists the book reveals that spatial poetics allow us to chart distinctive and surprising affinities between practitioners showing how writers today compel us to pay close attention to technique when linking the depiction of physical places to new developments in novelistic craft

Women's Writing in Western Europe Adalgisa Giorgio,Julia Waters,2007 Women TM s writing has in recent decades been one of the most exciting and productive areas of literary creativity and critical analysis Thirty years on from the initial spectacular blossoming of women's writing and from pioneering critical projects to re-construct a female literary tradition. Women's Writing in Western Europe: Gender, Generation and Legacy is the first study to investigate the legacy of this earlier generation of writers' texts and theories for contemporary women writers from across western Europe. This important and timely book brings together original analyses by different generations of critics from around the globe from internationally renowned feminist scholars to promising doctoral students. Their sophisticated studies uncover a complex web of explicit and implicit intertextual links between contemporary writers and such iconic figures as Aleramo, Beauvoir, Colette, Cixous, Duras, Irigaray, Kristeva, Morante, Morgner, Wolf and Woolf, so attesting to the existence of a truly international women's culture across ever more fluid national borders. Women's Writing in Western Europe is a major intervention in the field of feminist literary criticism which offers new comparative understandings of such key theoretical concepts as intertextuality, intergenerational relations, gender identity and legacy. Covering an enormous range of writers and national traditions, Women's Writing in Western Europe: Gender, Generation and Legacy attests to the vibrancy and the currency of feminist criticism and theory in the new Europe. These essays give us new paradigms to think and read with in the future.

Professor Marianne Hirsch, Columbia University, New York

Thirty years after the creative outburst of women's writing and feminist theory of the early 1970s, can we still speak of a women's tradition of writing of gender and generation of the iconic role of the mother figure? This dense and wide-ranging collection of essays engages with the dynamics of legacy and conflict of recognition and denial to map out some of the many complex strands and relationships marking the textual relations of women's writing across time and geographic boundaries. No simple tradition of women's writing emerges, but the powerful hold exerted by some of the most canonical writers, Beauvoir, Woolf, Cixous, Irigaray, Kristeva, Rich and the evidence of the construction of new relationships between and across texts by women points to a continuing network of transmission in which women's texts are enmeshed. This is an important collection and a large readership will be grateful for this probing of issues which are at the heart of the reading of women's writing.

Professor Elizabeth Fallaize, St John's College, Oxford

Ageing, Narrative and Identity N. Hubble, P. Tew, 2015-12-11

This book outlines the methodology and results of the Fiction and the Cultural Mediation of Ageing Project led by a research team from Brunel University, UK. It investigates how older people resist stereotypical cultural representations of ageing and demonstrates the importance of narrative understanding to social agency.
