A Wing in the Door Peri Phillips McQuay, 2001 THE LIFE AND TIMES OF A RED TAILED HAWK AND HER FAMILY

The Prairie in Her Eyes Ann Daum, 2003-01-21 Framing her recollections with the passage of cranes over her South Dakota ranch Daum writes about the difficulties of living in a remote place a fickle river rattlesnakes hospitals too far away to be much use social isolation but also what keeps her there the cranes the rhythms of the land seasons her horses the bonds of family Unflinching and understated Daum breaks the silence that for too long has marked and marred the lives of western women Her essays start in the present she raises sport horses on a piece of what was a 13 000 acre spread and cycle back through her childhood with stories about her father blizzards a coyote the White River that whipsaws their land the differences between people and the artifacts left by others who have tried to scrape a living out of the land With humor and insight her essays touch on different aspects of rural life and convey her vision for a good life in the west The Frog Run

John Elder, 2001 Annotation Teacher and writer John Elder a man who loves both literature and the outdoors describes in The Frog Run how he found a way to balance these passions in building a sugarhouse with his sons in the Vermont woods He celebrates the moment between winter and spring known to sugarmakers as the frog run When the tree frogs begin to be heard and the last run of sap good for making syrup flows from the maples For Elder who also writes in this book about the resurgence of New England forests and about his life as a reader the frog run is a time to savor and celebrate the fleeting beauties of his family's place on earth BOOK JACKET Title Summary field provided by Blackwell North America Inc All Rights Reserved

The Pine Island Paradox Kathleen Dean Moore, 2011-12-18 Can the love reserved for family and friends be extended to a place Luminous essays on nature and environmental stewardship Booklist Named one of the Top Ten Northwest Books of the Year by the Oregonian In this book acclaimed author Kathleen Dean Moore a winner of the Sigurd Olson Nature Writing Award for Holdfast reflects on how deeply the environment is entrenched in the human spirit despite the notion that nature and humans are somehow separate Moore's essays deeply felt and often funny make connections in what can appear to be a disconnected world Written in parable form her stories of family and friends of wilderness excursions with her husband and children camping trips with students blowing up a dam her daughter's arrest for protesting the war in Iraq affirm an impulse of caring that belies the abstract division of humans from nature of the sacred from the mundane Underlying these wonderfully engaging stories is the author's belief in a new ecological ethic of care one that expands the idea of community to include the environment and embraces the land as family Stands with the best tradition of nature writing The Oregonian North to Katahdin Eric Pinder, 2005 When Thoreau ventured into the Maine woods in 1846 he was one of a handful who did so simply to see what was there Now hundreds of thousands of people pursue the wildest country either for itself as Thoreau did or as the terminus of the Appalachian Trail Using Mount Katahdin as his lab Eric Pinder contemplates what draws people to the mountains Are the urbanites trekking the trails with cell phones synthetic fabrics and GPS units having remotely the same experience that Thoreau did Pinder's interviews with these hikers create a vivid portrait of the communion with nature they seek and of the world they are trying to escape

The Love of Impermanent Things Mary Rose O'Reilley, 2006 At midlife Mary Rose O'Reilley reflects on her past and her hard won sense of self She is determined now not to sacrifice or waste her self She has struggled for years along the paths set by her suburban childhood her Catholic upbringing her failed marriage and the mute duties of daughterhood Now she is trying to see the world through the eyes of the deer that stop outside her window and look in at her As a wildlife rehabilitator she feels a closer connection to the natural world as experienced by animals As an apprentice potter she sees in a Japanese tea bowl the ultimate balance of action and contemplation As a Quaker she can both sit still and sing And as a writer O'Reilley can speak clearly to readers at midlife who are expected to know it all but don't Miraculous Air C. M. Mayo, 2007 This exquisite book is a rare jewel in the literature of Mexico and its little known peninsula Baja Describing her adventures on this austere and beautiful slip of land C M Mayo creates a multi layered map of place filled with daredevil aviators sea turtle researchers Stone Age cave painters and countless other colorful characters Covering Baja from Cabo San Lucas to Tijuana Mayo's wit and curiosity help her weave a story that seamlessly combines history myth art and local color

The Book of the Everglades Susan Cerulean, 2002 Many may not realize that the Everglades National Park is cut off from the water that gives it life Its ecosystem begins well above the park's boundary extending more than three hundred miles from the Kissimmee River near Tampa and Orlando southward through Florida Bay It is the most endangered ecosystem in North America The Book of the Everglades is a story of how much was changed when the vast river of grass was drained and converted to agriculture its natural plumbing channeled so that nearby towns and farms would be protected from flood and saved in drought It's a story of how one of North America's largest freshwater lakes ended up with a moat around it A story of the sugar barons who were kicked out of Cuba and settled in what is now known as the Everglades Agricultural Area A story of the largest subdivision in the world platted on drained wetlands A story of the soil that is no longer replenished and gives way at the rate of one foot every ten years It is a story told by writers who know how to tell a story and who convey the workings of the entire Everglades ecosystem and the impact of its inhabitants

Wild Card Quilt Janisse Ray, 2003-04-01 This account of rediscovering her Georgia home and its landscapes is another must read book by the author of Ecology of a Cracker Childhood Tulsa World Seventeen years after she'd left for good Janisse Ray pointed her truck away from Montana and back to the small southern town where she was born Wild Card Quilt is the story by turns hilarious heartbreaking and ambitious of the adventures of returning home For Ray a naturalist and an American Book Award winning author it is a story of linking the ecology of people with the ecology of place of recovering lost traditions as she works to restore the fractured ecosystem of her native South Her story is filled with syrup boils quilt making alligator trapping and the wonderful characters of a place where generations still succeed each other on the land But her town is also in need of repair physical and otherwise This memoir recounts Ray s journey as she works to save her local school sets up a writing group at the local hardware store and struggles with whether she can be an adult in a childhood place Alive with good imagery and colorful characters The Atlanta Journal Constitution This is nature writing at its best Her book will make you long for home St Petersburg Times Wing in the Door Peri Phillips McQuay,2001-03 Illegally plucked from her nest when only a month old to be trained for falconry Merak is two when finally released She isn t used to foraging for herself however and wanders into a nearby town As Peri McQuay quickly learns this human imprinted hawk is not quite ready for the wild As Merak s caretakers the McQuays try to coax the bird to independence In journal form Peri McQuay writes about her life with Merak relating the hawk s antics chasing a garden hose that looks like a snake rearing up to magnificent size to threaten a house cat and her difficulties McQuay becomes increasingly attached even as she hopes that Merak will become fully wild again This unusual book about a little known topic testifies to the powerful connections between humans and animals

Cross-pollinations Gary Paul Nabhan,2004 A pioneering ethnobotanist Gary Paul Nabhan credits the arts with sparking unlikely scientific breakthroughs and believes that such cross pollination engenders new forms of expression that are essential to discovery In this highly readable book he tells four stories to illustrate this idea In the first coping with color blindness in art class leads to his career as a scientist in the second ancient American Indian songs when translated reveal an understanding of plants and animals that rivals modern research in the third a poem inspires an approach to diabetes using desert plants and in the fourth a coalition of scientists and artists creates the Ironwood Forest National Monument in the Sonoran Desert Orion ,1991 Writing the Sacred Into the Real Alison Hawthorne Deming,2001 Deming writes about the importance of nature writing for our peripatetic times Because our lives are materially less connected to the natural world they are spiritually less connected Through the arts through the story of the captain whose boat honors the Kwakiutl Wild Woman of the Woods or the fisherman who sacrificed his catch to save two whales we fall again into harmony with place and each other we write the sacred into the real BOOK JACKET Arctic Refuge Hank Lentfer,Carolyn Servid,2001

Originally presented to Congress on March 28 2001 this book brings together the latest word from key conservation leaders as well as firsthand accounts by Alaska residents on how they and neighboring wildlife would be affected should oil drilling proceed according to current plans The book includes original pieces by Jimmy Carter Wendell Berry Barry Lopez Bill McKibben Scott Russell Sanders Rick Bass and Terry Tempest Williams All royalties from sales of Arctic Refuge and an additional contribution from Milkweed Editions will go to the Alaska Conservation Foundation W Inging it ,2002

Teachers' Manual of Bird-life Frank Michler Chapman,1899 Forthcoming Books Rose Arny,2001 Island of Grass Ellen E. Wohl,2011-05-18 Island of Grass tells the story of the Cathy Fromme Prairie Natural Area a 240 acre preserve surrounded by housing developments in Fort Collins Colorado This small grassland is a remnant of the once vast prairies of the West that early European explorers and settlers described as seas of grass Agricultural land use and urban expansion

during the past two centuries have fragmented and altered these prairies All that remains today are small islands These remnants cannot support some of the larger animals that once roamed the prairie but they continue to support a diverse array of plants and animals and can still teach us much about grassland ecology Through her examinations of daily changes during walks across the Fromme Prairie over the course of a year Ellen Wohl explores one of the more neglected ecosystems in North America describing the geology soils climate ecology and natural history of the area as well as providing glimpses into the lives of the plants animals and microbes inhabiting this landscape Although small in size pieces of preserved shortgrass prairie like the Cathy Fromme Prairie Natural Area are rich diverse and accessible natural environments deserving of awareness appreciation and protection Anyone concerned with the ecology and conservation of grasslands in general the ecology and conservation of open space in urban areas or the natural history of Colorado will be interested in this book

An American Child Supreme John Treadwell Nichols, 2001 The author of The Milagro Beanfield War and The Sterile Cuckoo presents an impassioned memoir of his journey from child of privilege to author to activist from self satisfied to outward seeking belief in liberation ecology Illustrations American Book Publishing Record , 2001
