

7th Grade Math Common Core standards

Compute unit rates associated with ratios of fractions, including ratios of lengths, areas and other quantities measured in like or different units.

CC.7.NF.A.2.4-7

Apply and extend previous understandings of addition and subtraction to add and subtract rational numbers; represent addition and subtraction on a horizontal or vertical number line diagram.

CC.7.NF.A.2.5-7

Apply properties of operations as strategies to add, subtract, factor, and expand linear expressions with rational coefficients.

CC.7.NF.A.2.6-7

Recognize and represent proportional relationships between quantities.

CC.7.EE.A.3.1-2

Describe situations in which opposite quantities combine to make 0. For example, a hydrogen atom has 0 charge because its two constituents are oppositely charged.

CC.7.EE.A.3.3-4

Understand that rewriting an expression in different forms in a problem context can shed light on the problem and how the quantities in it are related.

CC.7.EE.A.3.5-6

Solve problems involving scale drawings of geometric figures, including computing actual lengths and areas from a scale drawing and reproducing a scale drawing at a different scale.

CC.7.G.A.3.1-2

Understand that statistics can be used to gain information about a population by examining a sample of the population; generalizations about a population from a sample are valid only if the sample is representative of that population; understand that random sampling helps to produce representative samples and support valid inferences.

CC.7.SP.A.3.1-4

Draw (freehand, with ruler and protractor, and with technology) geometric shapes with given conditions; focus on constructing triangles from three measures of angles or sides, exploring when the conditions determine a unique triangle, more than one triangle, or no triangle.

CC.7.G.A.3.3-5

Use data from a random sample to draw inferences about a population with an unknown characteristic of interest; search for multiple samples (or simulated samples) of the same size to gauge the variation in estimates or predictions.

conceptual understanding and procedural fluency The Common Core Standards Jared T. Bigham, EdD, 2015-02-03 The Common Core State Standards are a set of standards for Kindergarten through 12th grade that have been adopted by 45 states in an effort to ensure that all U S students are equally prepared for college and careers But no change in educational policy will ever meet with universal approval and this change is proving controversial for many reasons Parents are getting secondhand biased information in many cases and lack a clear understanding of what these standards are and how they will affect how and what their children learn Idiot s Guides The Common Core Standards will help parents students teachers student teachers and administrators understand the details of this far reaching initiative In it readers get A history of the development of the standards how they came to be where they have been implemented and how they compare with those of other countries An outline of what makes these standards different from previous statewide and standards Details and examples of how students classroom learning will change under the Common Core Ways parents can help students at home including how to help with homework that may be quite different than what they remember A breakdown of the standards for English math and literacy across other subject areas by grade level Answers to the most commonly asked questions about the Common Core Information on the assessments that students will take as part of the new curricula Rigorous Curriculum Design Larry Ainsworth, 2011-04-16 The need for a cohesive and comprehensive curriculum that intentionally connects standards instruction and assessment has never been more pressing For educators to meet the challenging learning needs of students they must have a clear road map to follow throughout the school year Rigorous Curriculum Design presents a carefully sequenced hands on model that curriculum designers and educators in every school system can follow to create a progression of units of study that keeps all areas tightly focused and connected Transforming Curriculum Through Teacher-Learner Partnerships Nair, Pradeep, Keppell, Michael James, Lim, Chee Leong, Mari, Tamil Salvi, Hassan, Nurhanim, 2020-12-11 Empowering learners for life requires a fundamental shift in higher education curriculum design New priorities pedagogies technologies spaces and assessment strategies are required to enable learners to take ownership of their learning Student centeredness concepts are still prescriptive in nature as most decisions on curriculum assessment teaching and learning approaches are still teacher centric Teachers are developing student centered learning environments without the involvement of the learners in the planning decision making and or design process In addition some lecturers are still practicing the traditional approaches of content delivery and conventional assessment methods rather than experimenting with innovative practices suited for student centered approaches Therefore there is an ongoing need for research focused on the importance and effectiveness of a paradigm shift in education that involves student teacher partnerships fueled by innovative teaching and learning designs where students take an active role and contribute as partners in learning Transforming Curriculum Through Teacher Learner Partnerships captures experiences and evidence among teachers in exploring the possibility of active student participation in curriculum design delivery and assessment through teacher learner partnership The chapters address issues of teacher learner partnerships in designing the learning environment and how student centered methods create resilient adaptable and future capable learners While highlighting topics within this scope such as learner autonomy learning performance self efficacy and teaching pedagogy this book is ideally intended for teachers administrators teacher educators practitioners stakeholders researchers academicians and students interested in issues related to the teacher learner partnership
