ADHD and Anxiety: Causality Sequences

Through a Biopsychosocial Model Hongbao Cao, Shaolei Teng, Sha Liu, 2025-08-18 ADHD Attention Deficit Hyperactivity Disorder and anxiety disorders are two of the most common psychiatric conditions often co existing in the same individuals The relationship between these disorders is complex and multifactorial in nature The biopsychosocial model postulates that biological psychological and social factors all play a significant role in human functioning in the context of disease or illness which includes these disorders Evidence suggests that ADHD can predispose individuals to anxiety and vice versa However the causality sequences as explored in the literature remains limited It is possible that ADHD symptomology causes anxiety or the genetics behind ADHD causes anxiety symptoms Current research has adopted a more complex nuanced understanding of both disorders acknowledging the unique interactions of biological psychological and social factors and large datasets e g Dunedin datasets may help with developing a stronger causality sequence It s also noteworthy that severe anxiety can look like ADHD but the treatment is totally different as ADHD meds Stimulants can make anxiety worse

The Role of Play in Child Assessment and Intervention Silvia Salcuni, Claudia Mazzeschi, Claudia Capella, 2017-09-06 Play is a ubiquitous and universal aspect of early childhood Although it may take different forms throughout development and across cultures decades of research have found play to be related to important positive outcomes Play provides children with valuable cognitive emotional and interpersonal learning opportunities It can act as a mode of communication for young children and allows them to practice ways of managing complex interpersonal interactions Specific aspects of play such as children s creativity in pretend play have been associated with resilience and coping The significance of play in childhood has led to its frequent use in the assessment of child development and in the implementation of child and parent child psychological and educational interventions Historically however the validity and efficacy of these interventions have not been rigorously evaluated Further few assessment and intervention models have included parents teachers and other key caregivers but have focused only on the child This Research Topic will bring together the most current literature on the use of play in child assessment and intervention

The Case of Tourism Enterprises Dawid Szutowski, 2017-03-18 In contemporary economics only one thing is constant constant change Gunday et al 2011 The notion of change relates directly to innovation The very nature of innovation constitutes combining existing factors in a new changed way Since the early stage of the scientific investigation of innovation research has focused mainly on the solutions actually implemented Schumpeter 1939 Yet it is only through implementation that the benefits of innovation may materialise The task is not simple The process of obtaining the gains is complex as innovation may pass through different stages Thus for almost half century the scientific community has considered innovation to be a complex process and not just a simple occurrence Myers and Marquis 1969 Innovation pushes progress forward Thus previous scientific investigation limited the concept of innovation to implementations which generate positive effects Nelson and Winter 1982 The above scientific considerations still hold today Moss Kanter 2006 Innovation is of crucial importance for tourism companies which cover accommodation for visitors food and beverage serving activities passenger transportation travel agencies and other reservation activities cultural activities sports and recreational activities and retail trade of country specific tourism characteristic goods UNWTO 2010 It provides them with competitive advantage and hence the firms with market power gain more from innovation Tirole 1995 A firm s innovation interacts with the environment It delivers diverse benefits to the consumers in the form of new products and lower prices which in turn impact positively on the company Shiller 2006 In the context of tourism the ongoing scientific discussion on innovation seems not to have achieved any definite conclusions yet The implementation of innovation in tourism enterprises leads to the achievement of diverse ends From this point of view the measurement of the effects of innovation is of vital importance There are a number of financial measures covering substantially different fields The most comprehensive amongst them is a company s value It covers all the aspects of a company s activity Bodie and Merton 2000 However due to its importance and complexity numerous approaches to company value were created The basic distinction covers book and market value based approaches The proponents of book value assume that the balance sheet yields a reliable estimate of the value of assets and equities However numerous shortcomings emerge the static character dealing with historical figures failing to include intangibles and treating all classes of accounts as having equal importance Nunes 2003 The market value based approach stands for the price that assets would fetch in the marketplace Fabrozi and Drake 2009 The main objective of the research is to measure the short and long term impact of innovation announcements on the market value of equity of tourism enterprises
